Mills, Francois Cooren, 2019-10-23 The field of organisational communication has been rapidly transforming in the wake of the linguistic and discursive turns that have been sweeping across the social sciences since the mid eighties These turns have prompted organisational communication scholars to look more closely at how they think about communication and its relationship to the organisation and the process of organizing What has emerged from these reflections is a perspective that proposes communication is not merely something that happens in organisations but is the heart of organizing and therefore actually constitutes the organisation This perspective which embraces several sub threads is now commonly referred to as the CCO Communication as Constitutive of Organisation perspective This is itself evolving as scholars come to realize that organizing does not just occur at the discursive level It is inextricably coupled to the material and relational aspects of work the discourse mutually constitutes relationships between human and non human bodies that combine to create what we encounter when we participate in organisational life This book examines the way these three dimensions combine to create organisational outcomes In doing so it advances CCO and sociomateriality scholarship and contributes to new ways of thinking about strategy and practice The series of empirical studies should interest the widely interdisciplinary audience that seeks to understand work organizing and management This book was originally published as a special issue of the Communication Research and Practice journal The SAGE Handbook of Process Organization Studies Ann Langley, Haridimos Tsoukas, 2016-12-14 The SAGE Handbook of Process Organization Studies provides a comprehensive and timely overview of the field This volume offers a compendium of perspectives on process thinking process organizational theory process research methodology and empirical applications The emphasis is on a combination of pedagogical contributions and in depth reviews of current thinking and research in each of the selected areas combined with the development of agendas for future research The Handbook is divided into five sections Part One Process Philosophy Part Two Process Theory Part Three Process Methodology Part Four Process Applications Part Five Process Perspectives The Routledge Companion to Qualitative Research in Organization Studies Raza Mir, Sanjay Jain, 2017-08-29 This comprehensive book collects contributions from leading international scholars to highlight the diverse qualitative approaches available to organizational researchers each grounded in its own philosophy The editors provide a cutting edge globally oriented resource on the state of qualitative research methodologies helping readers to grasp the theories practices and future of the field Beginning with an overview of qualitative methodologies the book examines ways in which research employing these

Material Practice and Materiality: Too Long Ignored in Science Education Catherine Milne,Kathryn Scantlebury,2019-04-11 In this book various scholars explore the material in science and science education and its role in scientific practice such as those practices that are key to the curriculum focuses of science education programs in a number of countries As a construct culture can be understood as material and social practice This definition is useful for informing researchers nuanced explorations of the nature of science and inclusive decisions about the practice of science education Sewell 1999 As fields of material social practice and worlds of meaning cultures are contradictory contested and weakly bounded The notion of culture as material social practices leads researchers to accept that material practice is as important as conceptual development social practice However in education and science education there is a tendency to ignore material practice and to focus on social practice with language as the arbiter of such social practice Often material practice such as those associated with scientific instruments and other apparatus is ignored with instruments understood as inscription devices conduits for language rather than sources of material culture in which scientists share material other than words Baird 2004 p 7 when they communicate new knowledge and realities While we do not ignore the role of language in science we agree with Barad 2003 that perhaps language has too much power and with that power there seems a concomitant loss of
