Infrastructure And Poverty In Sub Saharan Africa:

Infrastructure and Poverty in Sub-Saharan Africa A. Estache, Q. Wodon, 2014-11-19 Infrastructure and Poverty in Sub Saharan Africa analyzes the extent to which how and how fast the infrastructure needs of the poor have been met in Sub Saharan Africa Estache and Wodon explore the extent to which some key policies have hurt or helped progress in trying to speed the expansions of coverage so clearly needed in the region They focus on electricity water sanitation and other services at the core of the day to day needs of the population examining the extent to which reforms of the last 15 20 years have managed to reduce the infrastructure gap They anchor their analysis on the evidence available about the macroeconomic importance of infrastructure for the region the policies that have been adopted to accelerate coverage and a detailed assessment of the poverty dimensions of infrastructure

Infrastructure for Economic Development and Poverty Reduction in Africa Afeikhen Jerome, 2011 Evaluates the role of infrastructure in promoting economic growth and poverty reduction in Africa Examines complementary physical infrastructure telecommunications power transport roads railways ports and airports and water supply Explores Africa s infrastructure endowment and financing options

Infrastructure and Poverty in Sub-Saharan Africa - A Review Jörg Peters, 2016 Africa's Infrastructure World Bank, 2009-12-01 Sustainable infrastructure development is vital for Africa s prosperity And now is the time to begin the transformation This volume is the culmination of an unprecedented effort to document analyze and interpret the full extent of the challenge in developing Sub Saharan Africa s infrastructure sectors As a result it represents the most comprehensive reference currently available on infrastructure in the region The book covers the five main economic infrastructure sectors information and communication technology irrigation power transport and water and sanitation Africa s Infrastructure A Time for Transformation reflects the collaboration of a wide array of African regional institutions and development partners under the auspices of the Infrastructure Consortium for Africa It presents the findings of the Africa Infrastructure Country Diagnostic AICD a project launched following a commitment in 2005 by the international community after the G8 summit at Gleneagles Scotland to scale up financial support for infrastructure development in Africa The lack of reliable information in this area made it difficult to evaluate the success of past interventions prioritize current allocations and provide benchmarks for measuring future progress hence the need for the AICD Africa s infrastructure sectors lag well behind those of the rest of the world and the gap is widening Some of the main policy relevant findings highlighted in the book include the following infrastructure in the region is exceptionally expensive with tariffs being many times higher than those found elsewhere Inadequate and expensive infrastructure is retarding growth by 2 percentage points each year Solving the problem will cost over US 90 billion per year which is more than twice what is being spent in Africa today However money alone is not the answer Prudent policies wise management and sound maintenance can improve efficiency thereby stretching the infrastructure dollar There is the potential to recover an additional US 17 billion a year from within the existing infrastructure resource envelope simply by improving efficiency For example improved revenue collection and utility management could generate US 3.3 billion per year Regional power trade could reduce annual costs by US 2 billion And deregulating the trucking industry could reduce freight costs by one half So raising more funds without also tackling inefficiencies would be like pouring water into a leaking bucket Finally the power sector and fragile states represent particular challenges Even if every efficiency in every infrastructure sector could be captured a substantial funding gap of 31 billion a year would remain Nevertheless the African people and economies cannot wait any longer Now is the time to begin the transformation to sustainable development

Sub-Saharan Africa: Effects of Infrastructure Conditions on Export Competitiveness, Third Annual Report, Inv. 332-477 , Does Infrastructure Development Contribute to Poverty Reduction in Sub-Saharan Africa?

Bruno Emmanuel Ongo Nkoa, Herve William Mougno, A Ekoula, Georges Ngnouwal Eloundou, 2023 This paper assesses the effects of the development of infrastructural on the reduction of poverty in 35 countries of Sub Saharan Africa during the period 2003-2020 After multiple regressions using fixed effects random effects generalized least squares and Drisc Kraay methods we obtained several results The main results show that the development of infrastructure significantly reduces extreme poverty in sub Saharan Africa Our result remains robust by applying the GMM estimator which takes into account the endogeneity phenomenon A specific policy based on infrastructure development should be put in place to improve the standard of living of the population and increase the income of the population This would certainly lead to the reduction of extreme poverty in sub Saharan Africa

Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure, 2011-01-01 Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure Access Affordability and Alternatives integrates a wealth of primary and secondary information to present a quantitative snapshot of the state of the WSS sectors in Africa It explains the sectoral institutional structures and utility performance and articulates the volume and quality of financing available over time The authors also evaluate the challenges to the WSS sectors and explore the factors that govern the expansion of coverage over time Finally the authors estimate spending needs for WSS arriving at a funding gap for meeting the MDGs The proposed directions for the future draw on lessons learned from best practices and present the menu of choices available to African countries bearing in mind that the challenges differ to a significant extent among countries and solutions must be tailored to national or regional conditions Book Jacket

Sustainable Public Procurement of Infrastructure and Human Rights Olga Martin-Ortega, Laura Treviño-Lozano, 2023-03-02 This innovative book addresses the links between sustainability and human rights in the context of infrastructure projects and uncovers the human rights gap in every stage of public procurement processes to deliver on infrastructure assets or services

Road Network Upgrading and Overland

Trade Expansion in Sub-Saharan Africa Piet Buys, Uwe Deichmann, David Wheeler, 2010 Recent research suggests that poor economic integration and isolation from regional and international markets have contributed significantly to poverty in Sub Saharan Africa Poor transport infrastructure and border restrictions are major deterrents to trade expansion which would stimulate economic growth and poverty reduction Using spatial network analysis techniques and gravity trade model estimations this paper quantifies the economics of upgrading a primary road network that connects the major urban areas in the region The results indicate that continental network upgrading is worth serious consideration from an economic perspective Our simulations suggest that overland trade among Sub Saharan African countries might expand by about 250 billion over 15 years with major direct and indirect benefits for the rural poor Financing the programme would require about 20 billion for initial upgrading and 1 billion annually for maintenance

Public-Private Partnerships in Sub-Saharan Africa James Leigland, 2020 Public private partnerships have been widely promoted in the international development community as solutions to severe infrastructure problems in low income countries since the 1990s This book summarizes the growing body of evidence on the actual performance of PPPs and develops a more realistic perspective on their practical value

Comparative Development Experiences of Sub-Saharan Africa and East Asia Ernest Aryeetey, 2017-11-01 Title first published in 2003 This comprehensive book focuses on the prevailing conditions in Asia and Africa under various macroeconomic and sectoral themes in order to provide in depth explanations for the divergent development experiences of the two regions Seeking to go further than the simple comparison of policies the book carefully examines the institutional context for policy implementation within which growth and development have proceeded in the regions

Resilience in Energy, Infrastructure, and Natural Resources Law Catherine Banet, Hanri Mostert, LeRoy Paddock, Milton Fernando Montoya, Milton Fernando Montoya Pardo, Iñigo del Guayo Castiella, Iñigo del Guayo, 2022 Through a mix of thematic chapters and case studies this book offers an analytical approach to developing legal responses which will ensure the needs of present and future generations can be met through energy systems infrastructure development and natural resources management in times of increasingly frequent and disruptive nature based events

Infrastructure and Economic Growth in Asia John Cockburn, Yazid Dissou, Jean-Yves Duclos, Luca Tiberti, 2013-12-05 Public spending on infrastructure plays an important role in promoting economic growth and poverty alleviation Empirical studies unequivocally show that under investment in infrastructure limit economic growth At the same time numerous other studies have shown that investment in infrastructure can be a highly effective tool in fighting poverty reduction¹ In that context the financing of infrastructure has been a critical element of most economic growth and poverty reduction strategies in developing countries since the start of this millennium This book provides a comparative analysis of the aggregate and sectoral implications of higher spending on infrastructure in three very different Asian countries China Pakistan and the Philippines Particular attention is paid to the role of alternative financing mechanisms for increasing public infrastructure investment namely distortionary and non distortionary means of financing The book will be of interest to scholars and policy makers concerned with economic growth in developing countries

Regional Economic Outlook, October 2005, Sub-Saharan Africa, Supplement International Monetary Fund. African Dept.,2005-11-10 This paper presents the economic outlook for Sub Saharan Africa for 2005 Against a background of an easing of demand for imports in advanced countries average real GDP growth is expected to decline slightly in 2005 from its strong performance in 2004 The slowdown in 2005 however is attributable primarily to lower growth in most of the oil producing countries following the exceptional increases in oil production capacity established during 2003 and 2004 especially in Nigeria Non oil producing countries are expecting average growth of about 4.5 percent similar to that observed in 2004

Infrastructure for Economic Development and Poverty Reduction in Africa ,2011 Evaluates the role of infrastructure in promoting economic growth and poverty reduction in Africa Examines complementary physical infrastructure telecommunications power transport roads railways ports and airports and water supply Explores Africa's infrastructure endowment and financing options

The State, Non-State Organizations and Livelihood Outcomes in Sub-Saharan Africa Roland Azibo Balgah,Emmanuel Yenshu Vubo,2024-02-06 The discussion on the role of the state and non state actors in the improvement of livelihoods in Sub Saharan Africa SSA where economic and social development is slowest has been characterized by a disjoint between theory and empirical research This volume sets out to revisit this question by examining the place of the two types of actors in the development process and the increasing influence of public private partnerships in livelihood outcomes The book combines theoretical reflections and empirical studies on a wide variety of initiatives in several domains that seek to improve wellbeing and livelihoods with a focus on the Sub Saharan country of Cameroon The book will provide insights on an area which has been both neglected with the rise of neo liberalism and also revived by the recent introduction of the global development goals

Africa's Energy Transition George Anachebe Nwangwu,2025-08-20 This book examines the critical challenges and opportunities surrounding climate change and the energy transition in Africa While many Africans prioritize pressing concerns such as food scarcity economic development and unemployment the book argues that the continent remains particularly vulnerable to climate related impacts Erratic weather patterns and extreme events exacerbate existing issues including declining agricultural productivity infrastructure damage and political instability Despite these challenges the transition from fossil fuels to renewable energy presents significant economic opportunities for Africa The book emphasizes that embracing this shift can help African countries transform their economies and strengthen resilience against climate change It contends that the current international framework where Africa has largely anchored its demands around climate justice has yielded little tangible benefit for Africans Instead the book advocates for a shift in perspective rather than focusing solely on historical emissions from the Global North African nations should recognize the potential advantages of actively participating in the global energy economy By seizing the opportunities inherent in this transition African countries can reshape their economies and capitalize on emerging energy
