Arowosegbe,2016-12-29 Claude E Ake radical African political philosopher of the first four decades of the postcolonial era stands out as a progressive social force whose writings continue to have appeal and relevance long after his untimely death in 1996 In examining Akes intellectual works Jeremiah O Arowosegbe sets out the framework of his theoretical orientations in the context of his life and reveals him as one of the most fertile and influential voices within the social sciences community in Africa In tracing the genesis and development of Akes political thought Arowosegbe draws attention to Akes compelling account of the material implications and political costs of European colonisation of Africa and his conception of a different future for the continent Approaching his subject from a Gramscian and Marxist perspective

Arowosegbe elucidates how Ake's philosophy demonstrates the intimate entanglement of class and social cultural and historical issues and how as a contributor to endogenous knowledge production and postcolonial studies on Africa Ake is firmly rooted in a South driven critique of Western historicism. It is Arowosegbe's conviction that engaged scholars are uniquely important in challenging existing hierarchies, oppressive institutions and truth regimes and the structures of power that produce and support them and much can be drawn from their contributions and failings alike. This work contributes to a hitherto neglected focus area: the impact across the continent of the ideas and lives of African and other global South academics, intellectuals and scholar activists. Among them Ake is representative of bold scholarly initiatives in asserting the identities of African and other non-Western cultures through a mindful rewriting of the intellectual and nationalist histories of these societies on their own terms. In foregrounding the contribution of Ake with respect to both autochthonous traditional insights and endogenous knowledge production on the continent, Arowosegbe aims at fostering the continuance of a living and potent tradition of critique and resistance. Engaging with the lingering impact of colonialism on previously colonised societies, this timely book will be of immense value to scholars and students of philosophy and political science as well as African intellectual history, African studies, postcolonial studies and subaltern studies. Time to Choose Dawn

Kazmierzak, 2014-03-24 Hilda Gutwein, the youngest of eight children, born to a German farmer, grew up in a war zone, the Balkan States. Her family lived under socialism, communism and Hitler's Third Reich. Eventually they were caught between two totalitarian forms of government and Hilda's father had to make a choice for his family: stay and defend their homeland or leave everything behind. Follow the story of Hilda's journey from a land controlled by fear and brutality to a land of freedom. Moreover, it's an account of unwavering faith in the One who is trustworthy and unchanging, no matter what comes. Through Hilda's accounts, you'll gain insights about a culture headed to the default of a dictator, monarch or centralized power. How propaganda instills fear and a need for government protection. The true role and abilities of government. How censorship, deceptive concepts and false ideologies can spread through media. Why freedom is prized by most of the world's citizenry but is rarely obtained. Beyond an inspiring account, each chapter ends with a 'Connecting the Dots' section in which you and your family can begin to think about it, transmit your values and formulate your own plans to mind the minds, souls and virtues of your children, your community and your nation. In light of the climate of your country today, where will you look for your family's future? The time is now. It's your turn to choose. History Adam Hart-Davis, 2010 Connecting the Dots in World History, A Teacher's Literacy Based Curriculum Chris Edwards, 2015-12-04 In his previously written articles and books, Chris Edwards has argued that Teaching should be considered a field that is separate from both the field of Education and from the content area fields. Teaching is a field which synthesizes content and method for classroom application. All of the other major intellectual fields have a canon of works which practitioners can learn from and add to, but Teaching does not. The 'Connecting the Dots in World History: A Teacher's Literacy Based Curriculum' series changes this by showing how effective a teacher generated curriculum can be These books can inspire other teachers to create their own curriculums and inspire a change in the way that the public views teachers and teaching

History Adam Hart-Davis,2010

A Concrete Bridge on Wooden Pillars John W. Nkhalamba,2023-01-06 A Concrete Bridge on Wooden Pillars is a collection of opinions and wishes presenting how the African rural masses who are the largest economic contributors think how their rural problems can be resolved politically socially and economically It is a culmination of the author s early experiences of rural living As a young boy he wonders why young men have to be hunted down by tax police in order to pay tax He is intrigued and troubled by issues surrounding tax and the many difficulties of rural living including poverty hunger and conflicts The author ascribes all these problems to the destruction of rural environment that has been enhanced by incompatible models of rural habitation with changed demographic and economic models He suggests neglect of the rural by successive governments whose erroneous policies have resulted in skewing of resources towards the cities and their exportation are to blame He also argues that this has been made worse by continued use of carbon copies of western governance systems that provoke adverse political and social issues that create the environment not conducive to investment The author suggests that African governments need to develop adaptive governance systems and tap the eager and willing human resource that is desperate to escape poverty in order to achieve credible development
