as Indigenous Intellectual Tradition Deanna Reder,2022-05-03 Autobiography as Indigenous Intellectual Tradition critiques ways of approaching Indigenous texts that are informed by the Western academic tradition and offers instead a new way of theorizing Indigenous literature based on the Indigenous practice of life writing Since the 1970s non Indigenous scholars have perpetrated the notion that Indigenous people were disinclined to talk about their lives and underscored the assumption that autobiography is a European invention Deanna Reder challenges such long held assumptions by calling attention to longstanding autobiographical practices that are engrained in Cree and M t i s or n hiyawak culture and examining a series of examples of Indigenous life writing Blended with family stories and drawing on original historical research Reder examines censored and suppressed writing by n hiyawak intellectuals such as Maria Campbell Edward Ahenakew and James Brady Grounded in n hiyawak ontologies and epistemologies that consider life stories to be an intergenerational conduit to pass on knowledge about a shared world this study encourages a widespread re evaluation of past and present engagement with Indigenous storytelling forms across scholarly disciplines History Museums in the United States Warren Leon,Roy Rosenzweig,1989 Every year 100 million visitor s tour historic houses and re created villages examine museum artifacts and walk through battlefields But what do they learn What version of the past are history museums offering to the public And how well do these institutions reflect the latest historical scholarship Fifteen scholars and museum staff members here provide the first critical assessment of American history museums a vital arena for shaping popular historical consciousness

They consider the form and content of exhibits ranging from Gettysburg to Disney World They also examine the social and political contexts on which museums operate Handbook of Theory and Practice of Sustainable Development in Higher Education Walter Leal Filho, Ulisses M. Azeiteiro, Fátima Alves, Petra Molthan-Hill, 2017-02-24 This Handbook approaches sustainable development in higher education from an integrated perspective addressing the dearth of publications on the subject It offers a unique overview of what universities around the world are doing to implement sustainable development i e via curriculum innovation research activities or practical projects and how their efforts relate to education for sustainable development at the university level The Handbook gathers a wealth of information ideas best practices and lessons learned in the context of executing concrete projects and assesses methodological approaches to integrating the topic of sustainable development in university curricula Lastly it documents and disseminates the veritable treasure trove of practical experience currently available on sustainability in higher education The Public Service Monthly, 1913 Life Stages and Native Women Kim Anderson, 2012-08-20 A rare and inspiring guide to the health and well being of Aboriginal women and their communities The process of digging up medicines of rediscovering the stories of the past serves as a powerful healing force in the decolonization and recovery of Aboriginal communities In Life Stages and Native Women Kim Anderson shares the teachings of fourteen elders from the Canadian prairies and Ontario to illustrate how different life stages were experienced by Metis Cree and Anishinaabe girls and women during the mid twentieth century These elders relate stories about their own lives the experiences of girls and women of their childhood communities and customs related to pregnancy birth post natal care infant and child care puberty rites gender and age specific work roles the distinct roles of post menopausal women and women s roles in managing death Through these teachings we learn how evolving responsibilities from infancy to adulthood shaped women s identities and place within Indigenous society and were integral to the health and well being of their communities By understanding how healthy communities were created in the past Anderson explains how this traditional knowledge can be applied toward rebuilding healthy Indigenous communities today Photographers Peter E.
