Macon Holt, 2019-12-12 In Pop Music and Hip Ennui A Sonic Fiction of Capitalist Realism Macon Holt provides the imaginative and analytical resources to think with contemporary pop music to investigate the ambivalences of contemporary culture and the potentials in it for change Drawing on Kodwo Eshun's practice of Sonic Fiction and Mark Fisher's analytical framework of capitalist realism Holt explores the multiplicities contained in contemporary pop from sensation to abstraction and from the personal to the political Pop Music and Hip Ennui unravels the assumptions embedded in the cultural and critical analysis of popular music In doing so it provides new ways to understand the experience of listening to pop music and living in the sonic atmosphere it produces This book neither excuses pop's oppressive tendencies nor dismisses the pleasures of its sensations The Political Space of Art Benoît Dillet, Tara Puri, 2016-05-18 This book studies the tension between arts and politics in four contemporary artists from different countries working with different media The film directors Luc and Jean Pierre Dardenne film parts of their natal city to refer to specific political problems in interpersonal relations The novelist Arundhati Roy uses her poetic language to make room for people's desires her fiction is utterly political and her political essays make place for the role of narratives and poetic language Ai Weiwei uses references to Chinese history to give consistency to its economic miracle Finally Burial's electronic music is firmly rooted in a living breathing London built to create a sound that is entirely new and yet hauntingly familiar These artists create in their own way a space for politics in their works and their oeuvre but their singularity comes together as a desire to reconstruct the political space within art from its ruins These ruins were brought by the disenchantment of 1970s the end of art postmodernism and the rise of design marketing and communication Each artwork bears the mark of the resistance against the depoliticisation of society and the arts at once rejecting cynicism and idealism referring to themes and political concepts that are larger than their own domain This book focuses on these productive tensions Sound Actions Alexander Refsum Jensenius, 2022-12-13 A techno cognitive look at how new technologies are shaping the future of musicking Musicking encapsulates both the making of and perception of music so it includes both active and passive forms of musical engagement But at its core it is a relationship between actions and sounds between human bodies and musical instruments Viewing musicking through this lens and drawing on music cognition and music technology Sound Actions proposes a model for understanding differences between traditional acoustic sound makers and new electro acoustic music makers What is a musical instrument How do new technologies change how we perform and perceive music What happens when composers build instruments performers write code perceivers become producers and instruments play themselves The answers to these pivotal questions entail a meeting point between interactive music technology and embodied music cognition what author Alexander Refsum Jensenius calls embodied music technology Moving between objective description and subjective narrative of his own musical experiences Jensenius explores why music makes people move how the human body can be used in musical interaction and how new technologies allow for active musical experiences The development of new music technologies he demonstrates has fundamentally changed how music is performed and perceived

Sonic Thinking Bernd Herzogenrath, 2017-02-23 Sonic Thinking attempts to extend the burgeoning field of media philosophy which so far is defined by a strong focus on cinema to the field of sound The contributors urge readers to re adjust their ideas of Sound Studies by attempting to think not only about sound by external criteria such as cultural meaning but to think with and through sound Series editor Bernd Herzogenrath s collection serves two interconnected purposes in developing an alternative philosophy of music that takes music serious as a form of thinking and in bringing this approach into a fertile symbiosis with the concepts and practices of artistic research art philosophy and science as heterogeneous yet coequal forms of thinking and researching Including contributions by both established figures and younger scholars working on cutting edge material and weaving artistic responses and interventions in between the more theoretical texts Herzogenrath s collection provides a lively introduction to a fresh debate
