Björnstorps-utställningen 1 - 2 juni 1957, 1957 Information Age Science Museum (Great Britain), 2014 Explores the development of information and communications networks from the nineteenth century to the present day The Oxford Handbook of American Documentary Joshua Glick, Visiting Associate Professor of Film & Electronic Arts Joshua Glick, Patricia Aufderheide, University Professor in the School of Communication Patricia Aufderheide, 2025 Joshua Glick and Patricia Aufderheide Over the past twenty years documentaries have taken on an increasingly central place in American public life One measure of their importance is their commercial value Major media companies have moved aggressively to monetize documentary exploiting the form's relatively low budgets compared to fiction Museums and the History of Computing Simone Natale, Petrina Foti, Ross Parry, 2024-07-26 Museums and the History of Computing examines the critical role that cultural organizations such as museums and galleries play in shaping digital heritage the cultural heritage surrounding computer technology Focusing on digital technologies as objects and practices that museums collect exhibit and preserve for the future this book highlights how and why museums play a crucial role in preserving the rich heritage of the digital world constructing powerful narratives that help make it relevant to the public It demonstrates that the museum can be a powerful means of safeguarding and interpreting ephemeral and continually changing digital technology offering new pathways for rethinking the very meaning of digital objects and practices in contemporary societies It provides practices and strategies for the preservation and exhibition of computing artifacts and ways to accommodate and respond to narratives about histories of computing that circulate in the public arena Bringing together leading museum and university researchers and practitioners and mobilizing cross cutting debates and approaches in areas such as museum studies cultural heritage history of technology anthropology and media studies this book challenges us to think critically about what digital is when examined not only as a tool but as a cultural object deserving of attention and a place within the museum Museums and the History of Computing is for museum studies students and researchers as well as museum practitioners especially those with an interest in digital technology and heritage It will be of interest to researchers and students interested in histories of computing and digital media and in digital media studies History in Practice Ludmilla Jordanova, 2019-08-22 Exploring the breadth and complexities of history as a field of study History in Practice demystifies what historians actually do and the tasks they take on This study written by one of the most acute practitioners in the field examines not only the academic discipline but also engages with the use of historical ideas in the wider world The new edition features A new chapter on history in the digital age covering the use of information technology in historical practice Extended coverage of the relationships between history and other disciplines Fresh material on current trends in the practice of history Over 35 new illustrations spread throughout the book drawn from around the world This book is essential reading for all students seeking an understanding of history as a discipline Digitisation Gertraud Koch, 2017-07-14 In recent years digital technologies have become pervasive in academic and everyday life This comprehensive volume covers a wide range of concepts for studying the new cultural dynamics that are evident as a result of digitisation It considers how the cultural changes triggered by digitisation processes can be approached empirically The chapters include carefully chosen examples and help readers from disciplines such as Anthropology Sociology Media Studies and Science Technology Studies to grasp digitisation theoretically as well as methodologically

Collecting and Exhibiting Computer-Based Technology Petrina

Foti,2018-11-05 Computer technology has transformed modern society yet curators wishing to reflect those changes face difficult challenges in terms of both collecting and exhibiting Collecting and Exhibiting Computer Based Technology examines how curators at the history and technology museums of the Smithsonian Institution have met these challenges Focusing on the curatorial process the book explores the ways in which curators at the institution have approached the accession and display of technological artifacts Such collections often have comparatively few precedents and can pose unique dilemmas In analysing the Smithsonian s approach Foti takes in diverse collection case studies ranging from DNA analyzers to Herbie Hancock s music synthesizers from iPods to born digital photographs from the laptop used during the filming of the television program Sex and the City to Stanley the self driving car Using her proposed model of expert curation she synthesizes her findings into a more universal framework for understanding the curatorial methods associated with computer technology and reflects on what it means to be a curator in a postdigital world Collecting and Exhibiting Computer Based Technology offers a detailed analysis of curatorial practice in a relatively new field that is set to grow exponentially It will be useful reading for curators scholars and students alike

Digitalization and the Field of African Studies Mirjam de

Bruijn,2019-02-25 Urbanization in Africa also means rapid technological change At the turn of the 21st century mobile telephony appeared in urban Africa Ten years later it covered large parts of rural Africa and thanks to the smartphone became the main access to the internet This development is part of technological transformations in digitalization that are supposed to bridge the urban and the rural and will make their borders blurred They do so through the creation of economic opportunities the flow of information and by influencing peoples definition of self belonging and citizenship These changes are met with huge optimism and the message of Information and Communications Technologies for Development ICT4D for Africa has been one of glory and revolution Practice however reveals other sides Increasingly academic publications show that we are facing a new form of digital divide in which Africa is again at the margins These technological transformations influence the relation between urban and rural Africa and between Africa and the World and hence the field of African Studies both in its objects as well as in its forms of knowledge production and in the formulation of the problems we should study In this lecture Mirjam de Bruijn reflects on two decades of research experience in West and Central Africa and discusses how for her the field has changed The author was forced to decolonize her thinking even further and to enter into co creation in knowledge production How can these lessons be translated into a form of critical knowledge production and

Global Geographies of the Internet Barney Warf, 2012-08-01 Today roughly 2 billion people use the internet and its applications have flourished in number and importance This volume will examine the growth and geography of the internet from a political economy perspective Its central motivation is to illustrate that cyberspace does not exist in some aspatial void but is deeply rooted in national and local political and cultural contexts Toward that end it will invoke a few major theorists of cyberspace but apply their perspectives in terms that are accessible to readers with no familiarity with them Beyond summaries of the infrastructure that makes the internet possible and global distributions of users it delves into issues such as the digital divide to emphasize the inequalities that accompany the growth of cyberspace It also addresses internet censorship e commerce and e government issues that have received remarkably little scholarly attention particularly from a spatial perspective Throughout it demonstrates that in cyberspace place matters so that no comprehensive understanding of the internet can be achieved without considering how it is embedded within and in turn changes local institutional and political contexts Thus the book rebuts simplistic death of distance views or those that assert there is or can be a one size fits all cookie cutter model of the internet applicable to all times and places Cyber Security Intelligence and Analytics Zheng Xu, Reza M. Parizi, Mohammad Hammoudeh, Octavio Loyola-González, 2020-03-19 This book presents the outcomes of the 2020 International Conference on Cyber Security Intelligence and Analytics CSIA 2020 which was dedicated to promoting novel theoretical and applied research advances in the interdisciplinary field of cyber security particularly those focusing on threat intelligence analytics and preventing cyber crime The conference provides a forum for presenting and discussing innovative ideas cutting edge research findings and novel techniques methods and applications concerning all aspects of cyber security intelligence and analytics CSIA 2020 which was held in Haikou China on February 28 29 2020 built on the previous conference in Wuhu China 2019 and marks the series second successful installment Assistive Technology: Principles and Applications for Communication Disorders and Special Education Oliver Wendt, 2012-11-02 This book provides readers with vast knowledge of practical applications theoretical models services and evidence based solutions in the areas of assistive technology AT and augmentative and alternative communication AAC It aims to equip practicing clinicians educators and students with the necessary background to use AT and AAC with their clients This book also sheds light on the many different roles and functions of AT and AAC for a large variety of clinical populations and suggests solutions the reader can implement immediately Although a particular focus is set on communication disorders described applications and resources also apply to individuals with developmental disabilities and sensory impairments In addition to outlining most recent low and high technology this book makes a particularly strong effort to teach general principles and guidelines for successful AT and AAC interventions regardless of what particular technology is used This resource is a crucial addition to the bookshelf of any professional dealing with AT and or AAC including speech language pathologists special educators occupational therapists physical therapists early intervention specialists students in professional programs users of AT or

AAC their families and applied researchers This is a must read for novices and seasoned professional alike Global Environmental Governance in the Information Age Jérôme Duberry, 2019-04-05 This book examines the impact of current and emerging digital technologies on global environmental governance and in particular on environmental civil society organizations Technological innovations are constantly emerging internet and social media platforms blockchains big data and artificial intelligence are some of the most common or promising digital technologies of our times Through case studies and the analysis of concrete applications of digital technologies this book shows how these digital technologies can be deployed to support global environmental governance and in particular a multi stakeholder approach to the protection of the environment It provides an overview of the diverse uses of these digital technologies by civil society organizations CSOs in global environmental governance In this fast changing context the capacity of environmental CSOs to manage and benefit from digital technologies and to produce and distribute information can strengthen their participation in global environmental governance Their key roles including advocacy monitoring knowledge production fundraising nudging individual behaviors and project implementation greatly benefit from the use of these technologies By examining some of the most utilized current digital technologies and presenting some of the most prominent emerging ones this book aims to illustrate how active civil society organizations operate and how ICTs support some of their roles and therefore their participation in global environmental governance This book will appeal to scholars and students of environmental studies and politics global governance political sociology geography and communication studies along with policy makers and communication specialists from the environmental community

Mapping the Transnational World Emanuel Deutschmann, 2022-01-25 A study of the structure growth and future of transnational human travel and communication Increasingly people travel and communicate across borders Yet we still know little about the overall structure of this transnational world Is it really a fully globalized world in which everything is linked as popular catchphrases like global village suggest Through a sweeping comparative analysis of eight types of mobility and communication among countries worldwide from migration and tourism to Facebook friendships and phone calls Mapping the Transnational World demonstrates that our behavior is actually regionalized not globalized Emanuel Deutschmann shows that transnational activity within world regions is not so much the outcome of political cultural or economic factors but is driven primarily by geographic distance He explains that the spatial structure of transnational human activity follows a simple mathematical function the power law a pattern that also fits the movements of many other animal species on the planet Moreover this pattern remained extremely stable during the five decades studied 1960 to 2010 Unveiling proximity induced regionalism as a major feature of planet scale networks of transnational human activity Deutschmann provides a crucial corrective to several fields of research Revealing why a truly global society is unlikely to emerge Mapping the Transnational World highlights the essential role of interaction beyond borders on a planet that remains spatially fragmented Europe and

World Society Chris Rumford, Didem Buhari-Gulmez, 2017-10-02 Europe and World Society offers a distinctive critical approach to understanding European transformations exploring both the progress and limitations of integration on various key policy areas such as agricultural policy education reform migration and external relations as well as the relationship between European regionalism and globalization Due to its innovative theoretical framework based on macro perspectives including World Polity Theory developed by Stanford sociologist John W Meyer this collection contributes to both the recent sociological turn in European studies and to the constructivist critiques of rational choice accounts of modern Europe At a time when the European integration project has been severely challenged by multiple economic political and social crises this book offers a timely global perspective that sheds light on the dynamism and multiplicity of the actors discourses and processes which underlie contemporary Europe The book's distinctive global approach allows it to move the debate beyond state and EU centrism and establish the missing link between Europe and its global context This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary European Studies

Human Resource Management David G. Collings, Geoffrey Wood, Leslie T. Szamosi, 2018-08-15 Despite over three decades of debate around the nature of human resource management HRM its intellectual boundaries and its application in practice the field continues to be dogged by a number of theoretical and practical limitations Written by an international team of respected scholars this updated textbook adopts a critical perspective to examine the core management function of HRM in all its complexity including its darker sides Human Resource Management A Critical Approach opens with a critique of the very concept of HRM tracing its development over time and then systematically analyses the context of HRM practice of HRM and international perspectives on HRM New chapters commissioned for this second edition look at HRM and the issues of diversity migration global supply chains and economic crisis This textbook is essential reading for advanced and inquisitive students of HRM and for HRM professionals looking to deepen their understanding of the complexities of their field

Teaching in a Networked Classroom Jonathan Savage, Clive McGoun, 2015-06-05 The pace of technological change has made the immediate and long term future difficult if not impossible to predict Teachers are forced to imagine the world they are preparing their students to live in In this situation creativity becomes a vital resource for enabling uncertain futures to be embraced and an important attribute for students to have both for their learning and their employability in the future In this book the authors argue that creativity is a social and collaborative process that can be enhanced through online and digital technologies Filled with case studies and practical tasks it shows teachers how they can develop an approach to teaching and learning with digital technologies that is inherently social collaborative and creative Including case studies and practical examples of projects and lessons throughout the chapters cover Learning in a networked society An examination of sharing practices and how knowledge can be shared more effectively Potential pitfalls of virtual learning environments and public social networking sites Using digital media to plan schemes of work and lessons How to facilitate meaningful collaboration and discussion through digital media Creating online environments to enable students to share their understandings and learning Bringing together key ideas about creativity collaborative learning and ICT in the classroom this timely book will be an invaluable resource for all teachers
