Teaching Tourism Edelheim, Johan,Joppe, Marion,Flaherty, Joan,2022-02-22 Tourism as an activity is increasingly being criticised for its exploitative and extractive industrial approaches to business Yet it has the power to transform and to regenerate societies cultures and the environment The desire to explore the world around us is deeply embedded in many people s psyche but it comes at a cost to the environment and often to the residents of the visited communities Much of tourism education has been closely linked to preparing students for future professional practice but the challenges and opportunities linked to its consumption require that its future leaders must exhibit very different values and understandings to tackle ever more complex and wicked problems from which tourism cannot dissociate itself This compilation of values based learning experiences can be adapted to suit the needs and disposition of individual instructors and aims not only to engage students in the subject matter but also deepen their understanding of its complexity and interconnectivity and help them become global citizens that lead lives of consequence      Asian Qualitative Research in Tourism Paolo Mura,Catheryn

Jeuring,Inmaculada Diaz Soria,2018-10-18 Tourism research often tends to overlook both the mundane of the exotic and the exotic of the everyday However when acknowledging that exoticism is not necessarily linked to geographical distance it is similarly possible to attribute touristic otherness to and experience unfamiliarity in a geographically proximate environment This entails a need to rethink the intertwining relationships of meanings of the exotic and the mundane as well as the ways people make meaning of their everyday environment through processes of territorialization and identification in a tourism context The articles collected in this book cover a range of examples of tourism practices in a context of geographical proximity where home and away everyday life and tourism intersect While the settings methodologies and concepts vary considerably each contribution is an attempt to rethink the hegemonic linear framing of tourism in dichotomies such as familiar and unfamiliar nearby and far host and guest mundane and exotic The examples findings and conclusions of the various authors contribute to an understanding of tourism that is multiple and relative to an open minded and critical attitude towards the institutionalized anchors of our society in which tourism takes such a prominent place that it has almost become ordinary This book was originally published as a special issue of the Tourism Geographies journal      Issues in Cultural Tourism Studies Melanie K. Smith,2015-10-14 The third edition of Issues in Cultural Tourism Studies provides a vital framework for analysing the complexity of cultural tourism and its increasing globalization in existing as well as emergent destinations of the world It focuses in particular on the need for even more creative tourism strategies to differentiate destinations from each other using a blend of localized cultural products and innovative global attractions The book explores many of the most pertinent issues in heritage arts festivals indigenous ethnic and experiential cultural tourism in urban and rural environments alike Since the second edition of this book there have been many important developments in this field and this third edition has been completely revised and updated to include New content on demand and motivation for cultural tourism sustainable cultural tourism and ethnic cultural tourism New and updated case studies from an even wider global perspective A revised up to date framework for global cultural tourism studies in the light of recent research publications and industry developments New pedagogical features within the text to aid understanding and critical thinking including questions at the end of case studies and a further reading section At the interface between the global and the local a sustainable and people centred approach to cultural tourism planning and development is advocated to ensure that benefits are maximized for local areas a sense of place and identity are retained and the tourist experience is enhanced to the full The text is unique in that it provides a summary and a synthesis of all of the major issues in global cultural tourism which are presented in an accessible way using a diverse range of international case studies It is essential and valuable reading for all tourism students

A Research Agenda for Tourism and Development Richard Sharpley, David Harrison, 2019 Tourism is integral to local regional and national development policies as a major global economic sector it has the potential to underpin economic growth and wider development Yet transformations in both the nature of tourism and the dynamic environment within which it occurs give rise to new questions with regards to its developmental role This Research Agenda offers a state of the art review of the research into the tourism development nexus Exploring issues including governance policy philanthropy poverty reduction and tourism consumption it identifies significant gaps in the literature and proposes new and sometimes provocative avenues for future research
