Interactive Collaborative Learning Michael E. Auer, David Guralnick, James Uhomoibhi, 2017-01-07 This book presents the proceedings of the 19th International Conference on Interactive Collaborative Learning held 21-23 September 2016 at Clayton Hotel in Belfast UK. We are currently witnessing a significant transformation in the development of education. The impact of globalisation on all areas of human life, the exponential acceleration of developments in both technology and the global markets, and the growing need for flexibility and agility are essential and challenging elements of this process that have to be addressed in general but especially in the context of engineering education. To face these topical and very real challenges, higher education is called upon to find innovative responses. Since being founded in 1998, this conference has consistently been devoted to finding new approaches to learning with a focus on collaborative learning. Today, the ICL conferences have established themselves as a vital forum for the exchange of information on key trends and findings and of practical lessons learned while developing and testing elements of new technologies and pedagogies in learning. Use of Dredged Material Islands by Colonial Seabirds and Wading Birds in New Jersey Francine G. Buckley, Cheryl A. McCaffrey, 1978 The use of dredged material islands by colonial nesting seabirds and wading birds in New Jersey was examined in five major phases. The first located dredged material islands from Manasquan to Cape May Inlets, NJ; the second recorded the past history of all colonial nesting seabirds and wading birds in New Jersey; the third recorded the vegetation patterns and succession on 21 dredged material islands selected for intensive study; the fourth recorded the distribution in 1977 of colonial seabirds and wading birds in the study area and their utilization of dredged material islands; and the fifth documented those factors influencing the use and selection of dredged material islands by birds in 1977. Nineteen management recommendations for dredged material islands are stated, including annual wildlife surveys, careful monitoring of contractor performance, attention to record keeping, preservation of alternative colony sites, rotational use, and management of dredged material islands, proportional habitat creation and management, and protection of all islands with bird colonies. JEBPS Vol 14-N1 Journal of Evidence-Based Practices for Schools, 2014-03-04 The Journal of Evidence-Based Practices for Schools is a leader in publishing research to practice articles for educators and school psychologists. The mission of this journal is to positively influence the daily practice of school-based professionals through studies demonstrating successful research-based practices in educational settings. As a result, the editors are committed to publishing articles with an eye toward improving student performance and outcomes by advancing psychological and educational practices in the schools. They seek articles using non-technical language that 1) outline an evidence-based practice, 2) describe the literature supporting the effectiveness and theoretical underpinnings of the practice, 3) describe the findings of a study in which the practice was implemented in an educational setting, and 4) provide readers with information they need to implement the practice in their own schools in a section entitled Implementation Guidelines. The Journal of Evidence-Based

Practices for Schools differs from other scholarly journals in that it features articles that demonstrate empirically based procedures for readers to apply the practice in their setting

Supporting Inclusion Faith Edmonds Andreasen, 2014-04-02 Supporting Inclusion School Administrators Perspectives and Practices provides significant insights that arm the reader with a variety of ideas and easy to implement applicable strategies gleaned from knowledgeable contemporaries This book details various approaches taken by administrators as they transitioned their schools from a segregated resource environment to an inclusive framework From elementary to high school administrators in both large and small school districts describe approaches that best suited their populations needs While transitioning to inclusion administrators created structures that maximized staff talent and encouraged faculty buy in Challenges included calendaring collaboration time providing inclusion and co teaching training properly mentoring first year teachers securing expert ancillary staff retraining paraprofessionals from resource to inclusive supporting roles procuring appropriate technology and supplemental resources and presenting strategies to accommodate behaviorally challenged students Programing often required shifting populations and leveling classes Ultimately administrators established and sustained inclusive classrooms with a good deal of success

New Teachers in Urban Schools: Journeys Toward Social Equity Teaching Althier M. Lazar, Leslie M. Reich, 2016-03-07 This volume informs the reader about new teachers in urban underserved schools and their development as teachers for social equity The accounts of five novice teachers who grew up outside the communities in which they teach lead to chapters that contain advice for teacher educators future and current teachers and school leaders These early career teachers learned much about bridging the cultural divide between themselves and their students confronted and resolved big challenges that may immobilize some who set out to teach in these communities They brought to their classrooms strong social justice orientations including a moral imperative to make a difference in the world an awareness of social and educational inequalities and a strong sense of responsibility to positively influence the life trajectories of students in their charge Their narratives offer insights on the dispositions and contexts that will help early career teachers survive and thrive and make a difference in their students lives
