ADVANCED MEDICAL TRAINING FOR FIRST RESPONDERS

The IHCD (Institute of Health Care Development - a division of Edexcel - the UK's largest qualification Awarding Body) is the 'Accreditation Body' of the National (NHS) Ambulance Service and is responsible for the issuing of all certification qualifications throughout the Ambulance Services.

The FPOS has been created between the IHCD and the Faculty of Pre-Hospital Care of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh.

This foundational and valuable course is designed for the immediate care and responses required in any emergency situation. The course is structured in subject delivery and practice, bringing constant development to each participant, but will also require some element of pre-learning and some further study outside of the course teaching hours in the evenings.

The FPOS(I) course is delivered over four days and you will receive qualification in both FPOS Basic and Intermediate levels of award. You do not need a previous qualification in First Aid to undertake this course.

The next course will run in Ashton Under Lyne between 3 - 6 December 2012 and costs just £490 (+VAT). Accommodation assistance can be provided.

This valuable 4 day qualification is ideal for those in first response occupations and is suitable for a combination qualification with the Level 3 BTEC Close Protection qualification leading to the SIA Close Protection License.
