Handbook Of Holocene Palaeoecology And Palaeohydrology:

Handbook of Holocene Palaeoecology and Palaeohydrology B. E. Berglund, Magdalena Ralska-Jasiewiczowa, 1986-03-26

This handbook reviews the key palaeoecological methods applied to primarily organic lake and mire deposits Particular attention is paid to Holocene environmental changes in the temperate zone but most methods can be applied to older Quaternary deposits and to areas outside the temperate zone The need for uniform methods of correlating stratigraphical data on a continental scale is emphasized Proceedings of the Estonian Academy of Sciences, Geology ,2005-03

Proceedings of the Estonian Academy of Sciences, Geology ,1994 Handbook of Sea-Level Research Ian

Shennan, Antony J. Long, Benjamin P. Horton, 2015-05-04 Measuring sea level change be that rise or fall is one of the most pressing scientific goals of our time and requires robust scientific approaches and techniques This Handbook aims to provide a practical guide to readers interested in this challenge from the initial design of research approaches through to the practical issues of data collection and interpretation from a diverse range of coastal environments Building on thirty years of international research the Handbook comprises 38 chapters that are authored by leading experts from around the world The Handbook will be an important resource to scientists interested and involved in understanding sea level changes across a broad range of disciplines policy makers wanting to appreciate our current state of knowledge of sea level change over different timescales and many teachers at the university level as well as advanced level undergraduates and postgraduate research students wanting to learn more about sea level change Additional resources for this book can be found at www.wiley.com/go/shennan/sealevel The Lakes Handbook Patrick O'Sullivan, C. Continuing concern about water supply and quality ecosystem sustainability and restoration demands that the modern approach to the management of lakes and reservoirs should be based on a sound understanding of the application of the scientific and ecological principles that underlie freshwater processes The Lakes Handbook provides an up to date overview of the application of ecologically sound approaches methods and tools using experience gained around the world for an understanding of lakes and their management Volume one of the Handbook addresses the physical and biological aspects of lakes pertinent to lake management emphasising those aspects particularly relevant to large still bodies of water Volume two then considers lake management with particular emphasis on sustainability restoration and rehabilitation This handbook will be invaluable to ecologists environmental scientists physical geographers and hydrologists involved in limnological research as well as advanced undergraduate and graduate students looking for authoritative reviews of the key areas of limnological study Brings together basic science and management issues International coverage and international authors Reviews management issues at a level suitable for the non expert The Lost Woodlands of Ancient Nasca David

Beresford-Jones, 2011-06-30 The vanished civilization of the Nasca is famous for its enigmatic giant ritual pathways through the desert pampa of Peru But how and why did the civilization collapse This new and detailed archaeological study argues that deforestation of river valleys in particular the loss of the huarango tree may have been to blame

Vegetation history B. Huntley, T. Webb III, 2012-12-06 The analysis of vegetation history is one of the prime objectives for vegetation scientists In order to understand the recent composition of local floras and plant communities a second knowledge of species composition during recent millenia is essential With the present concern over climate changes due to human activities an understanding of past vegetation distribution becomes even more important since the correlation between climate and vegetation can often be used to predict possible impacts to crops and forests I was very fortunate to receive the help of Drs Webb and Huntley to compile this volume on vegetation history They have collated an impressive set of papers which together give an account of the vegetation history of most of the continents during the late Tertiary and Quaternary periods There are however gaps in the coverage achieved most notably Africa and Asia apart from Japan The information in this book will nonetheless certainly be used widely by vegetation scientists for the regions covered in the book and much of it has relevance to the areas not explicitly described The authors of the individual chapters have done their best to cover recent topics of interest as well as established facts It is intended that a separate volume will be produced in the near future covering the vegetation history of Africa and Asia I thank the editors of It fits well into the this volume for their commendable achievement

Paleoclimatology and Paleometeorology: Modern and Past Patterns of Global Atmospheric Transport Margaret Leinen, Michael

Sarnthein,2012-12-06 The NATO Advanced Research Workshop on Paleoclimatology and Paleometeorology Modern and Past Patterns of Global Atmospheric Transport held at Oracle Arizona USA from November 17 19 1987 brought together atmospheric chemists physicists and meteorologists who study the origin and transport of modern day mineral and biological aerosols with geologists and paleobotanists who study the sedimentary record of eolian and hydrologic processes along with modelers who study and conceptualize the processes influencing atmospheric transport at present and in the past Presentations at the workshop provided a guide to our present knowledge of the entire spectrum of processes and phenomena important to the generation transport and deposition of eolian terrigenous material that ultimately becomes part of the geologic record and the modeling techniques that used to represent these processes The presentations on the geologic record of eolian deposition documented our present understanding of the nature and causes of climate change on time scales of the last glacial ages tens of thousands of years to time scales over which the arrangement of continents mountains and oceans has changed substantially tens of millions of years There has been a growing recognition of the importance of global climatic changes to the future well being of humanity In particular the climatic response to human alterations to the earth's surface and chemical composition has led to concern over the agricultural ecological and societal impacts of such potential global changes

Excavating Çatalhöyük Ian Hodder, 2017-10-01 Ian Hodder's campaigns of excavation at the world famous Neolithic settlement of atal h y k are one of the largest most complex and most exciting archaeological field projects in the world and recognized as agenda setting not only in terms of our understanding of early farming communities in the Near East particularly the central role religion played in their daily lives but also in terms of the interaction between theory and practice in the trenches and on site laboratories This volume presents the results of excavation in three areas of the site known as South North and KOPAL excavated between 1995 and 1999 The book describes aspects of the excavation recording and sampling methodologies that are necessary for an understanding of the results presented plus it incorporates interpretive discussion It brings in data from the study of animal bones lithics ceramics micromorphology and the full suite of analyses conducted on the material These accounts are interspersed with individual specialists commentaries and conclusions that mimic the process of collaborative interpretation that takes place during excavation and post excavation The objective descriptions of the archaeology are thus exposed as interpretations involving a balancing of a variety of different types of data and scholarly input Another thought provoking volume in the atalhyk excavation series which will be read with profit by any archaeologist engaged in working at theory in practice in the field
