The Supermodel and the Brillo Box Don Thompson,2014-05-27 Acquiring contemporary art is about passion and lust but it is also about branding about the back story that comes with the art about the relationship of money and status and sometimes about celebrity The Supermodel and the Brillo Box follows Don Thompson's 2008 bestseller The 12 Million Stuffed Shark and offers a further journey of discovery into what the Crash of 2008 did to the art market and the changing methods that the major auction houses and dealerships have implemented since then. It describes what happened to that market after the economic implosion following the collapse of Lehman Brothers and offers insights and art world tales from dealers, auction houses and former executives of each from New York and London to Abu Dhabi and Beijing. It begins with the story of a wax trophy style nude upper body sculpture of supermodel Stephanie Seymour by Italian artist Maurizio Cattelan which sold for 2.4 million to New York based collector and private dealer Jose Mugrabi and recounts the story of a wooden Brillo box that sold for 722,500. The Supermodel and the Brillo Box looks at the increasing dominance of Christie's, Sotheby's and a few other dealers, the hundreds of millions of new museums coming up in cities like Dubai, Abu Dhabi and Beijing, the growing importance of the digital art world and the shrinking role of the mainstream gallery.

Jeff Koons Massimiliano Gioni, 2021. Edited by curator Massimiliano Gioni, this book focuses in particular on Koons' art as seen in relation to contemporary American culture. With his aesthetics of plenitude and his pop-up dreams of social mobility and acceptance throughout his career, Koons has composed a fantasy America, custom made from art and schmaltz and emotions to use Warhol's description of his own interpretation of American culture. Through the inclusion of source materials, personal recollections and biographical narratives, the book reads each of Koons' celebrated series through the prism of his biography and the ways in which his individual history intersects with that of his country and culture. Ranging from his upbringing in rural Pennsylvania to his fascination for popular culture and vernacular art, the publication composes an unconventional view of Jeff Koons and his work, retracing the personal influences and cultural histories that have shaped Koons' unique formal vocabulary. Published to accompany the major exhibition in Doha in March 2021, the catalogue features an interview with Jeff Koons by the curator and essays by the well-known art critic Dodie Kazanjian and the Qatari American writer and artist Sophia Al Maria.
