Jesus A Contemporary Walk With Jesus:

Jesus 2000 Mark J. Link, 1997 The Way Under Our Feet GRAHAM B. USHER, 2020-04-16 Walking is one of the simplest things we do as humans It s how most of us experience life In The Way Under Our Feet Graham Usher conveys how exhilarating it is to walk into the depths of our humanity We become more ready to recognize the needs as well as the joys of others we sift our thoughts we seek to heal our battered world even as we glory in the beauty of nature we find ourselves companying with our three mile an hour God This is a lovely book full of light grace and meaning Usher celebrates his passion for walking by exploring religious texts and stories but this by no means confines his thoughts We are drawn by secular texts too Macfarlane sits alongside Kierkegaard Thoreau and Walden alongside T S Eliot Through them all we learn why walking is so unspeakably good for heart soul and body DAME FIONA REYNOLDS MASTER OF EMMANUEL COLLEGE CAMBRIDGE AUTHOR OF THE FIGHT FOR BEAUTY Wonderful Offers highly original and striking observations combined with apposite moving and often humorous personal anecdotes A classic catching a genuine and humble holiness BISHOP DAVID WILBOURNE Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress. Subject Cataloging Division, Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2013 Walking the Stations Donald Heinz, 2025-02-17 In a time when Catholic piety is often fixed on the Good Friday stations of the cross and evangelical piety is associated with an imaginary what would Jesus do and much of Protestant religion has slimmed Jesus down from the fully dimensioned Christology of the Gospels and contemporary Christianity misses a Christ who has moved into the neighborhood John 1 14 and fully engaged the world and its peoples and touring liberals tout how little a Christian actually needs to believe this book chooses fourteen episodes from Jesus entire life and makes them way stations on a pilgrimage on which we gather to meet Jesus in person share him in community and follow him to a fully realized discipleship Such way stations may recall the medieval imitation of Christ or the notion of a Christian pilgrimage during which we make the way by walking Historically pilgrimage is meant to evoke I want to be in that number Yet identifying these stations is fully congruent with contemporary New Testament scholarship whether liberal or historically orthodox The significance of this book is that it sets forth a process of adult Christian education today that is rich with all the dimensions of Jesus life from birth to death and resurrection with all the happenings in between And most important it turns adult Christian education into a compelling Bible study in community and one that attracts participation like walking a labyrinth Through such engagement it recovers for lively practice today the mostly forgotten medieval imitatio Christi and inserts this into the nearly forgotten but once vividly realized practice of pilgrimage overdue today as a way of imprinting the Christian walk onto the culture and onto individual believers and their communities Finally it follows contemporary Gospel scholarship back to the historical Jesus through visionary Holy Land tours or a modern walking the way stations that constitute Jesus own life and our immersion in it that would constitute true discipleship Jesus's Sermon on the Mount and His Confrontation with the World D. A.

Carson,2018-11-06 In his explanation of Jesus's teaching in Matthew 5:10 D A Carson clearly presents the call for every believer to live a pure life. He offers pastors and lay readers rich insights and practical life application from the Sermon on the Mount. Walking with Faith Walter J. Woods,2010-02-01

Walking with Faith addresses a long standing need to develop the faith related dimensions of Christian moral life and explore their implications. It responds to Vatican II's exhortation that theological studies be renewed through a lively contact with the mystery of Christ and the history of salvation. Accordingly this book examines the relationship between faith and moral life in the Scriptures and acknowledges the normative quality of the biblical texts. It reviews the long experience of the Church paying special attention to history, worship and intellectual currents. These dimensions of Christian life show the relationship between faith and moral life at any given time and allow the actions of one generation to have effects that extend far into the future. Walking with Faith promotes an understanding of contemporary pastoral and theological issues and encourages a deep and informed approach to Christian life.

The Expositor Samuel Cox, Sir William Robertson Nicoll, James Moffatt, 1904 The Expositor, 1904

Inventing Christic Jesuses, Volume 1 Charles A. Wilson,2017-11-09 Inventing Christic Jesuses is the first comprehensive proposal for how revisionist theology can deploy historical Jesus research in a methodologically sophisticated way. Rejecting positions that insulate theology from Jesus research, the proposal sets out warrants and rules for a quested Christology in dialogue with an analysis of the conduct of historians of Jesus from the period of the Third Quest c 1980-2010. The volume Method analyzes for theology the methods and values of historical research on Jesus. It argues that the methodic construction of historical images of Jesus in conversation with sources is simultaneously a retrojective activity of value production. First in defining the terms of the inquiry, Wilson locates a middle ground between hostility to questing and a too ready application of historical results to Christology. He then identifies rules and warrants for the deployment of Jesus research in theology and reconstructs the notion of the retrojection of value in the production of a historical Jesus. The volume ends with a case study of retrojective Jesus production, an analysis and assessment of the new notion that Jesus is a sage in the tradition of wisdom. John 1-6 Martinus C. de Boer,2024-12-12

In this ICC Martin de Boer provides an introduction and commentary on chapters 1-6 of John's Gospel. de Boer sets out to interpret the Gospel in the historical context in which it was written and first read and to explain it both historically and theologically. Taking his primary bearings from the seminal work of Raymond E Brown and J L Martyn, de Boer applies and advances their approach through each section of his commentary whilst also engaging with the latest scholarship, alternative viewpoints and critiques of the Brown Martyn approach. As such, de Boer takes very seriously the view that John's Gospel was written for a particular community and that the composition of the text as we know it took place over an extended period of time. Examination of the historical realities of this community is a hallmark of this commentary, including the notion that as members of the community, women may have played a role in the Gospel's composition. I See Men as Trees, Walking Bryan M. Christman,2024-10-17 He took the blind man by the hand and when he had spit on his eyes and laid his hands on him he asked him Do you see anything He said I see men but they look like trees walking Then Jesus laid his hands on his eyes again and he saw everything clearly Mark's account of a blind man needing two healing touches from Jesus graphically depicts the stubborn blindness of his disciples Peter epitomized this blindness when he was tempted by the popular view that Jesus was the Rome conquering savior of Israel rather than the suffering Servant of God Also the disciples didn't understand that Jesus miraculously fed the famished crowds with a few loaves and fish to meet immediate need and provide leftover fragments of food for future need Salvation was pictured for all time Essentially Mark's Gospel gathered leftovers historical fragments of Jesus' life to convey God's salvation across history to those Kierkegaard called the follower at second hand Like Peter disciples and even the crowds are tempted to false salvations where self is lost But ironically persons only become a self by taking up their own cross enabled by Jesus' second touch

Legitimizing New Religions James R. Lewis, 2003 James R. Lewis has written the first book to deal explicitly with the issue of how emerging religions legitimate themselves He contends that a new religion has at least four different though overlapping areas where legitimacy is a concern making converts maintaining followers shaping public opinion and appeasing government authorities The legitimacy that new religions seek in the public realm is primarily that of social acceptance Mainstream society's acknowledgement of a religion as legitimate means recognizing its status as a genuine religion and thus recognizing its right to exist Through a series of wide ranging case studies Lewis explores the diversification of legitimation strategies of new religions as well the tactics that their critics use to de-legitimize such groups Cases include the Movement for Spiritual Inner Awareness Native American prophet religions spiritualism the Church of Christ Scientist Scientology Church of Satan Heaven's Gate Unitarianism Hindu reform movements and Soka Gakkai a new Buddhist sect Since many of the issues raised with respect to newer religions can be extended to the legitimation strategies deployed by established religions this book sheds an intriguing
