Massively Parallel Evolutionary Computation On Gpgpus Natural Computing Series:

Massively Parallel Evolutionary Computation on GPGPUs Shigeyoshi Tsutsui, Pierre Collet, 2013-12-05 Evolutionary algorithms EAs are metaheuristics that learn from natural collective behavior and are applied to solve optimization problems in domains such as scheduling engineering bioinformatics and finance Such applications demand acceptable solutions with high speed execution using finite computational resources Therefore there have been many attempts to develop platforms for running parallel EAs using multicore machines massively parallel cluster machines or grid computing environments Recent advances in general purpose computing on graphics processing units GPGPU have opened up this possibility for parallel EAs and this is the first book dedicated to this exciting development The three chapters of Part I are tutorials representing a comprehensive introduction to the approach explaining the characteristics of the hardware used and presenting a representative project to develop a platform for automatic parallelization of evolutionary computing EC on GPGPUs The 10 chapters in Part II focus on how to consider key EC approaches in the light of this advanced computational technique in particular addressing generic local search tabu search genetic algorithms differential evolution swarm optimization ant colony optimization systolic genetic search genetic programming and multiobjective optimization The 6 chapters in Part III present successful results from real world problems in data mining bioinformatics drug discovery crystallography artificial chemistries and sudoku Although the parallelism of EAs is suited to the single instruction multiple data SIMD based GPU there are many issues to be resolved in design and implementation and a key feature of the contributions is the practical engineering advice offered This book will be of value to researchers practitioners and graduate students in the areas of evolutionary computation and scientific computing      Applications of Evolutionary Computation Giovanni

Artificial Chemistries Wolfgang Banzhaf, Lidia Yamamoto, 2024-03-19 An introduction to the fundamental concepts of the emerging field of Artificial Chemistries covering both theory and practical applications The field of Artificial Life ALife is now firmly established in the scientific world but it has yet to achieve one of its original goals an understanding of the emergence of life on Earth The new field of Artificial Chemistries draws from chemistry biology computer science mathematics and other disciplines to work toward that goal For if as it has been argued life emerged from primitive prebiotic forms of self organization then studying models of chemical reaction systems could bring ALife closer to understanding the origins of life In Artificial Chemistries ACs the emphasis is on creating new interactions rather than new materials The results can be found both in the virtual world in certain multiagent systems and in the physical world in new artificial reaction systems This book offers an introduction to the fundamental concepts of ACs covering both theory and practical applications After a general overview of the field and its methodology the book reviews important aspects of biology including basic mechanisms of evolution discusses examples of ACs drawn from the literature considers fundamental questions of how order can emerge emphasizing the concept of chemical organization a closed and self maintaining set of chemicals and surveys a range of applications which include computing systems modeling in biology and synthetic life An appendix provides a Python toolkit for implementing ACs
