Key Concepts in Public Archaeology Gabriel Moshenska, 2017-09-28 This book provides a broad overview of the key concepts in public archaeology a research field that examines the relationship between archaeology and the public in both theoretical and practical terms While based on the long standing programme of undergraduate and graduate teaching in public archaeology at UCL's renowned Institute of Archaeology the book also takes into account the growth of scholarship from around the world and seeks to clarify what exactly public archaeology is by promoting an inclusive socially and politically engaged vision of the discipline. Written for students and practitioners, the individual chapters provide textbook level introductions to the themes, theories and controversies that connect archaeology to wider society, from the trade in illicit antiquities to the use of digital media in public engagement, and point readers to the most relevant case studies and learning resources to aid their further study. This book was produced as part of JISC's Institution as e Textbook Publisher project. Find out more at <https://www.jisc.ac.uk/projects/institution-as-e-textbook-publisher>. John K. Balor, 2019-07-10. What does Gerry Anderson's television series SPACE 1999 have in common with Carl Sagan's award-winning television documentary COSMOS? Not very much, one might expect, but this book documents an Online Alpha discussion where fans of the science fiction series discuss and debate differences and similarities from a wide range of perspectives, some of them arguing that the two series may be so closely connected that it might be natural to think of COSMOS as the third year of SPACE 1999. This book is written on an idealistic basis. It is sold at the lowest price the publisher was willing to accept. Beutell, Nureya Abarca, Nicolas Majluf, 2021-03-10. This book is part of the Human Centered Book Trilogy, the 2021 volumes of the Routledge Human Centered Management (HCM) Series. HCM books are pioneering transformation from the traditional 'humans as a resource' approach of the industrial past to the 'humans at the center' management and organizational paradigm of the 21st century. HCM is built on the talent and wellbeing of people in the workplace, driving work engagement, quality standards, high performance and productivity to attain long-term organizational sustainability in the global VUCA (volatile, uncertain, complex, ambiguous) environment. This book was carefully crafted by recognized international human-centered scholars from four continents. Models presented bridge persistent Soft Skills gaps in management and business, and particularly between education and the workforce, due to excessive testing and hard technical skills. In contrast with hard skills, Soft Skills are transferable across jobs, industries, and applicable to all dimensions of life. Soft Skills are the common language of empathy, collaboration, team building, resilience, and agility, transforming organizations. Human and social challenges cannot be solved only with hard skills. This is a must-read Soft Skills manual for survival and success based on attributes all human beings possess, but not everybody is optimizing to excel in life and work. This and its two complementary titles, Human Centered Organizational Culture, Global Dimensions, and Sensible Leadership, Human Centered, Insightful, and Prudent, are timely readings for leaders, managers, researchers, academics, practitioners, students, and the general public responsible for organizations across industries and sectors pursuing quality standards organizational transformation and sustainability

Learning to Teach English and the Language Arts Peter Smagorinsky, 2020-04-16 Drawing together Smagorinsky's extensive research over a 20 year period Learning to Teach English and the Language Arts explores how beginning teachers' pedagogical concepts are shaped by a variety of influences. Challenging popular thinking about the binary roles of teacher education programs and school based experiences in the process of learning to teach, Smagorinsky illustrates through case studies in the disciplines of English and the Language Arts that teacher education programs and classroom school contexts are not discrete contexts for learning about teaching nor are each of these contexts unified in the messages they offer about teaching. He explores the tensions not only between these contexts and others but within them to illustrate the social cultural contextual political and historical complexity of learning to teach. Smagorinsky revisits familiar theoretical understandings including Vygotsky's concept development and Lortie's apprenticeship of observation to consider their implications for teachers today and to examine what teacher candidates learn during their teacher education experiences and how that learning shapes their development as teachers.

The Sea and the Sacred in Japan Fabio Rambelli, 2018-07-12 The Sea and the Sacred in Japan is the first book to focus on the role of the sea in Japanese religions. While many leading Shinto deities tend to be understood today as unrelated to the sea and mountains are considered the privileged sites of sacredness, this book provides new ways to understand Japanese religious culture and history. Scholars from North America, Japan and Europe explore the sea and the sacred in relation to history, culture, politics, geography, worldviews and cosmology, space and borders and ritual practices and doctrines. Examples include Japanese indigenous conceptualizations of the sea from the Middle Ages to the 20th century, ancient sea myths and rituals, sea deities and sea cults, the role of the sea in Buddhist cosmology and the international dimension of Japanese Buddhism and its maritime imaginary.

Italian-Canadian Narratives of Return Michela Baldo, 2019-01-04 This book examines the concept of translation as a return to origins and as restitution of lost narratives and is based on the idea of diaspora as a term that depicts the longing to return home and the imaginary reconstructions and reconstitutions of home by migrants and translators. The author analyses a corpus made up of novels and a memoir by Italian-Canadian writers Mary Melfi, Nino Ricci and Frank Paci, examining the theme of return both within the writing itself and also in the discourse surrounding the translations of these works into Italian. These reconstructions are analysed through the lens of translation and more specifically through the notion of written code switching understood here as a fictional tool which symbolizes the translational movements between different points of view. This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of translation and interpreting, migration studies and Italian and diasporic writing.
