Aprender y enseñar música Juan Ignacio Pozo, María Puy Pérez Echeverría, José Antonio Torrado del Puerto, Guadalupe López-Iñiguez, 2020-05-28 Muchos profesores y casi todos los alumnos comparten la experiencia cotidiana de no lograr enseñar o aprender música como les gustaba La educación musical está en una profunda crisis no siempre reconocida frente a la cual este libro defiende un cambio radical en las formas de enseñar y aprender que permita superar el tradicional modelo de conservatorio aún vigente en muchas aulas El libro está centrado sobre todo en la enseñanza de la música instrumental pero sus aportaciones serán útiles para cualquier persona ya sea profesor estudiante músico o investigador interesada en mejorar la educación musical en cualquiera de los contextos cada día más abiertos y diversos en los que esta tiene lugar El libro producto de un trabajo interdisciplinar de músicos profesores de música y psicólogos durante veinte años propone situar el foco de la educación musical en los propios alumnos en su actividad mental y corporal con el objetivo de ayudarles a gestionar sus propias metas y emociones Esa alternativa se sustenta en un nuevo marco teórico pero sobre todo en numerosos ejemplos reales concretos de cómo llevarlo a la práctica con alumnos de diferentes edades y en distintos contextos Este nuevo enfoque requiere cambiar también la forma en que conciben su tarea los alumnos y especialmente los profesores lo que exige a su vez repensar la formación de los propios profesores de música quienes además de dominar el instrumento deben ser capaces de guiar a sus alumnos en esa gestión metacognitiva de la comunicación emocional que constituye el fin último de la música
