Mazower Mark Dark Continent P 138 326:

Dark Continent Mark Mazower, 2009-05-20 An unflinching and intelligent alternative history of the twentieth century that provides a provocative vision of Europe's past, present and future. A splendid book. The New York Times Book Review. Dark Continent provides an alternative history of the twentieth century, one in which the triumph of democracy was anything but a forgone conclusion and fascism and communism provided rival political solutions that battled and sometimes triumphed in an effort to determine the course the continent would take. Mark Mazower strips away myths that have comforted us since World War II, revealing Europe as an entity constantly engaged in a bloody project of self-invention. Here is a history not of inevitable victories and forward marches but of narrow squeaks and unexpected twists where townships boast a bronze of Mussolini on horseback, one moment only to melt it down and recast it as a pair of noble partisans. The next Remaking the Modern World 1900 - 2015 C. A. Bayly, 2018-10-22 The sequel and companion volume to C. A. Bayly's ground-breaking The Birth of the Modern World 1780-1914, this wide-ranging and sophisticated study explores global history since the First World War, offering a coherent comparative overview of developments in politics, economics and society at large. Written by one of the leading historians of his generation, an early intellectual leader in the study of World History, it weaves a clear narrative history that explores the themes of politics, economics, social, cultural and intellectual life throughout the long twentieth century. It identifies the themes of state, capital and communication as key drivers of change on a global scale in the last century and explores the impact of those ideas. It interrogates whether warfare was really the pre-eminent driving force of twentieth-century history and what other ideas shaped the course of history in this period. It explores the causes behind the resurgence of local conflict rather than global-scale conflict in the years since the turn of the millennium. It delves into the narrative of inequality, a story that has shaped and been shaped by the events of the last hundred years. Part of The Blackwell History of the World Series. The goal of this ambitious series is to provide an accessible source of knowledge about the entire human past for every curious person in every part of the world. It will comprise some two dozen volumes, of which some provide synoptic views of the history of particular regions while others consider the world as a whole during a particular period of time. The volumes are narrative in form, giving balanced attention to social and cultural history in the broadest sense as well as to institutional development and political change. Each provides a systematic account of a very large subject but they are also both imaginative and interpretative. The Series is intended to be accessible to the widest possible readership and the accessibility of its volumes is matched by the style of presentation and production. Final Solutions

Benjamin A. Valentino, 2013-01-14 Benjamin A. Valentino finds that ethnic hatreds or discriminatory systems of government and dysfunctions in society play a much smaller role in mass killing and genocide than is commonly assumed. He shows that the impetus for mass killing usually originates from a relatively small group of powerful leaders and is often carried out without the active support of broader society. Mass killing, in his view, is a brutal political or military strategy.

designed to accomplish leaders most important objectives counter threats to their power and solve their most difficult problems In order to capture the full scope of mass killing during the twentieth century Valentino does not limit his analysis to violence directed against ethnic groups or to the attempt to destroy victim groups as such as do most previous studies of genocide Rather he defines mass killing broadly as the intentional killing of a massive number of noncombatants using the criteria of 50 000 or more deaths within five years as a quantitative standard Final Solutions focuses on three types of mass killing communist mass killings like the ones carried out in the Soviet Union China and Cambodia ethnic genocides as in Armenia Nazi Germany and Rwanda and counter guerrilla campaigns including the brutal civil war in Guatemala and the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan Valentino closes the book by arguing that attempts to prevent mass killing should focus on disarming and removing from power the leaders and small groups responsible for instigating and organizing the killing
