Jesus in a Fairy Tale Mary Peterson, 2014-10-07 In every part of anything we do Jesus is present This book piques the imagination of children who want to learn more about Jesus It will guide the teacher to a new approach through lessons participation playacting and games If you ever wondered how to teach children in a way that would hold their attention and give them better understanding then these are the lessons for you Each section is planned separately according to what is being taught and can be used for any age group The idea of a fairy tale is used to teach about leadership love and building a strong foundation Use the current events lesson to teach about trust in God There is even a section on sports One lesson is named Hit a Home Run for God All lessons are informative and creative and they all allow the children to use their imagination The holidays are taught in an unusual way The Christmas lesson is titled The Thinker and it brings a message that is clear to all The games and music sections are included to challenge children's minds and incite curiosity as well as fun My book is for teachers who want to do more than read or talk to the class about Jesus it is meant to be used to captivate their minds and encourage learning the question that has been the subject of debate for millennia oftentimes leading to violence as we have seen in the countless religious wars throughout the course of history including the Islamic and Christian wars of today The Greatest Story Ever Forged discusses this question and outlines the fabrications giving birth to these monotheistic religions their early developments and how they have tyrannized the West and Middle East for these many centuries Though there have been many defenders of the faith David Hernandez shows how these religions have infinitely caused more damage to man than any good they have ever been credited for having done This is what he calls the Curse of the Christ Myth which derives from the big lie as propounded by the inventors of the Christ Myth who battled as fiercely among themselves as they did against their detractors or non believers These include everyone from the Jews to the Pagans to the Gnostics to the heretics and any form of infidels in an effort to establish their true religions
