Cumulated Index Medicus, 1977 Configural Frequency Analysis Alexander von Eye, Wolfgang Wiedermann, 2022-01-03 This unique book provides a comprehensive and detailed coverage of configural frequency analysis CFA the most useful method of analysis of categorical data in person oriented research It presents the foundations methods and models of CFA and features numerous empirical data examples from a range of disciplines that can be reproduced by the readers It also addresses computer applications including relevant R packages and modules Configural frequency analysis is a statistical method that allows the processing of important and interesting questions in categorical data The perspective of CFA differs from the usual perspective of relations among variables its focus is on patterns of variable categories that stand out with respect to specific hypotheses and as such CFA allows for testing numerous substantive hypotheses The book describes the origins of CFA and their relation to chi square analysis as well as the developments that are based on log linear modeling The models covered range from simple models of variable independence to complex models that are needed when causal hypotheses are tested Empirical data examples are provided for each model New models are introduced for person oriented mediation analysis and locally optimized time series analysis and new results concerning the characteristics of CFA methods are bolstered using Monte Carlo simulations Primarily intended for researchers and students in the social and behavioral sciences the book will also appeal to anyone who deals with categorical data from a person centered perspective

Index of NLM Serial Titles National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1984 A keyword listing of serial titles currently received by the National Library of Medicine      List of Serials and Monographs Indexed for Online Users ,1990      Developmental Psychopathology Cecilia Ahmoui Essau,Franz Petermann,1997 Presents a comprehensive summary of the most recent empirical findings on the prevalence nature and treatment of specific childhood and adolescent disorders The volume is divided into three sections Section One covers general issues in the scientific study of mental disorders The chapters in Section Two will cover definition and classification epidemiology risk factors course and outcome etiologic factors and treatment The third and final section contains a chapter on progress and unresolved issues in the field with some recommendations for future studies This book is written by experts in the field with a comprehensive range of the most recent research findings and provides an invaluable reference source for the understanding of the current status of specific developmental psychopathology      Clinical Psychiatry in Imperial Germany Eric J.

Engstrom,2018-07-05 The psychiatric profession in Germany changed radically from the mid nineteenth century to the beginning of World War I In a book that demonstrates his extensive archival knowledge and an impressive command of the primary literature Eric J Engstrom investigates the history of university psychiatric clinics in Imperial Germany from 1867 to 1914 emphasizing the clinical practices and professional debates surrounding the development of these institutions and their impact on the course of German psychiatry The rise of university psychiatric clinics reflects Engstrom tells us a shift not only in asylum culture but also in the ways in which social political and economic issues deeply influenced the practice of psychiatry Equally convincing is Engstrom s argument that psychiatrists were responding to and working to shape the rapidly changing perceptions of madness in Imperial Germany In a series of case studies the book focuses on a number of important clinical spaces such as the laboratory the ward the lecture hall and the polyclinic Engstrom argues that within these spaces clinics developed their own disciplinary economies and that their emergence was inseparably intertwined with jurisdictional contests between competing scientific administrative didactic and sociopolitical agendas      Psychology and

Law Friedrich Lösel,Doris Bender,Thomas Bliesener,2011-06-15 No detailed description available for Psychology and Law

Making Minds Petra Hauf,Friedrich Försterling,2007-03-22 Social stimuli are important proximate determinants of human thought action and behaviour But does the social environment also have deeper profounder and possibly more distal impact on more lasting psychological structures and forms generalizing across time and domains such as traits self consciousness abilities and talents This volume takes an interdisciplinary approach to the question of if how and how far the mind is socially fabricated Philosophical contributions address conceptual tools for analyses of how person perceivers shape the psychological structures of the person perceived Social psychologists consider some of the more local mechanisms of mind making including self fulfilling prophecies attributions and self verification Moreover they address the dramatic consequences of being ostracised From a clinical perspective it is investigated how patients immediate social environment e g the family impacts on schizophrenic relapse In addition developmental psychologists report on investigations of the role of social factors e.g. imitative learning for the development of the social self Finally an ethological perspective demonstrates the susceptibility of animals to social stimuli These papers were previously published as Interaction Studies 6 1 and 6 3 2005

Handbook of Cross-Cultural and Multicultural Personality Assessment Richard H. Dana, 2000-02 Throughout the world as in the United States psychologists are increasingly being called upon to evaluate clients whose backgrounds differ from their own It has long been recognized that standard personality and psychopathology assessment instruments carry cultural biases and in recent years efforts to correct these biases have accelerated The Handbook of Cross Cultural and Multicultural Personality Assessment brings together researchers and practitioners from 12 countries with diverse ethnic and racial identities and training to present state of the art knowledge about how best to minimize cultural biases in the assessment of personality and psychopathology They consider research methodology the design and construction of standard objective and projective tests the use of measures of acculturation racial identity and culture specific tests the social etiquette of service delivery and the interpretation of test data for clinical diagnosis Ranging widely through all the relevant issues they share a common collective vision of how culturally competent services should be delivered to clients The Handbook offers the first comprehensive view of a consistent approach to cultural competence in assessment a necessary precursor of effective intervention It will become an indispensable reference for all those whose practice or research involves individuals with different ethnic and racial identities

The Conversion of the Imagination Richard B. Hays, 2005-07-13 The Conversion of the Imagination contains some of the best work on Paul by first rate New Testament scholar Richard B Hays These essays probe Paul's approach to scriptural interpretation showing how Paul's reading of the Hebrew Scriptures reshaped the theological vision of his churches Hays's analysis of intertextual echoes in Paul's letters has touched off exciting debate among Pauline scholars and made more recognizable the contours of Paul's thought These studies contain some of the early work leading up to Hays's seminal Echoes of Scripture in the Letters of Paul and also show how Hays has responded to critics and further developed his thought in the years since Among the many subjects covered here are Paul's christological application of Psalms Paul's revisionary interpretation of the Law and the influence of the Old Testament on Paul's ethical teachings and ecclesiology

Psychological Therapy Klaus Grawe, 2004-06-01 The original edition of Klaus Grawe's book exploring the basis and need for a more generally valid concept of psychotherapy fueled a lively debate among psychotherapists and psychologists in German speaking areas Now available in English this book will help spread the concepts and the debate among a wider audience The book is written in dialog form A practicing therapist a research psychologist and a therapy researcher take part in three dialogs each of which builds on the results of the previous dialog The first dialog explores how therapeutic change takes place while the second looks at how the mechanisms of action of psychotherapy can be understood in terms of basic psychological concepts Finally in the third dialog a psychological theory of psychotherapy is developed The practical implications of this are clearly shown in the form of case examples as well as guidance on indications and treatment planning The dialog ends with suggestions as to how therapy training and provision of psychotherapy could be improved on the basis of the model of psychotherapy that has been developed

Striving for the Whole Rainer Diriwachter, Jaan Valsiner, 2011-12-31 This unusual collection explores the development of ideas in psychology's past and shapes them into a valuable resource for ideas in the discipline's future with particular emphasis on holistic traditions in psychology Diriwachter and Valsiner focus on developmental holistic psychology as advocated by the second school of Leipzig in Germany Although largely neglected this school of thought has provided some of the fundamental ideas necessary for a truly holistic approach in psychology This volume includes Leibniz's dynamic holism and Ehrenfels' discussion about Gestalt qualities which has generally been acknowledged as a major milestone in the formation of Gestalt psychology Each chapter looks at the possible future of holistic psychology Striving for the Whole contains several well thought out discussions on possible elaborations of holistic psychology by contrasting it with Ernst Boesch's cultural psychology Pierre Janet's theory on emotions and Jan Smuts' holistic approach to personality theory Discussions of holistic approaches in biology and evolutionary psychology as well as a renewed look at Lloyd Morgan's comparative methodology complete the volume Striving for the Whole has been written by an international group of authors and will be of interest to students of the social sciences and intellectual history and anyone who wants to dive deeper into holistic approaches that maintain their ties with empirical methodology It is ideal for graduate and upper level undergraduate courses in psychology

The Oxford Handbook of Human Motivation Richard M. Ryan, 2012-02-16 Motivation is that which moves us to action Human motivation is thus a complex issue as people are moved to action by both their evolved natures and by myriad familial social and cultural influences The Oxford Handbook of Human Motivation collects the top theorists and researchers of human motivation into a single volume capturing the current state of the art in this fast developing field The book includes theoretical overviews from some of the best known thinkers in this area including chapters on Social Learning Theory Control Theory Self determination theory Terror Management theory and the Promotion and Prevention perspective Topical chapters appear on phenomena such as ego depletion flow curiosity implicit motives and personal interests A section specifically highlights goal research including chapters on goal regulation achievement goals the dynamics of choice unconscious goals and process versus outcome focus Still other chapters focus on evolutionary and biological underpinnings of motivation including chapters on cardiovascular dynamics mood and neuropsychology Finally chapters bring motivation down to earth in reviewing its impact within relationships and in applied areas such as psychotherapy work education sport and physical activity By providing reviews of the most advanced work by the very best scholars in this field The Oxford Handbook of Human Motivation represents an invaluable resource for both researchers and practitioners as well as any student of human nature

Couples Coping with Stress Mariana K. Falconier, Ashley K. Randall, Guy Bodenmann, 2016-05-12 This is the first book that reviews both empirical and clinical applications of how couples jointly cope with stress dyadic coping around the globe The Systemic Transactional Stress Model STM developed by co editor Guy Bodenmann is used as a consistent framework so readers can better appreciate the contrasts and similarities across the fourteen cultures represented in the book Written by scholars from the particular culture each chapter provides a conceptual review of the dyadic coping research conducted in their specific cultures and also provides empirical and clinical recommendations Additional contributions include how to measure dyadic coping so others can apply the STM model in other contexts The latest treatment approaches for therapy and prevention are also highlighted making this book ideal for professionals interested in expanding their cultural competence when working with couples from various backgrounds Highlights include How couples in different cultures deal with stress and how values and traditions affect dyadic stress and coping Global applications especially to couples in the regions highlighted in the book the U S including one chapter on Latino couples in the U S Australia China Greece Hungary Italy Japan Kenya Nigeria Pakistan Portugal Romania and Switzerland Factors encountered in examining dyadic coping using the STM Model including measurement and assessment issues Suggestions for making treatment prevention and intervention programs for couples more effective Ideal for relationship researchers psychologists mental health counselors social workers and advanced students who work with couples dealing with stress This book is also appropriate for advanced courses on interpersonal processes close relationships stress and coping multicultural issues in marriage and family therapy or counseling or family systems taught in a variety of social science disciplines

Client-centered and Experiential Psychotherapy in the Nineties Richard Balen, 1990 This voluminous book of 47 chapters offers a good cross section of what is burgeoning in the field of client centered and experiential psychotherapy on the threshold of the nineties it does not represent a single vision but gives the floor to the various suborientations classics Rogerians client centered therapists who favor some form of integration or even eclecticism experiential psychotherapists for whom Gendlin's focusing approach is a precious way of working client centered therapists who look at the therapy process in terms of information processing existentially oriented therapists Remarkable is that for the first time in the history of client centered experiential psychotherapy the European voice rings through forcefully more than half of the contributions were written by authors from Western Europe Several chapters contain reflections on the evolution past present and future of client centered experiential psychotherapy The intensive research into the process which had a central place in the initial phase of client centered therapy is given here ample attention with several creative studies and proposals for renewal In numerous contributions efforts are made to build and further develop a theory of psychopathology the client's process the basic attitudes and task oriented interventions of the therapist The chapters dealing with clinical practice typically aim at the description of therapy with specific client populations and particularly severely disturbed clients And finally a few fields are introduced which are new or barely explored within the client centered experiential approach working with dreams health psychology couple and family therapy
