WHO guideline on health workforce development, attraction, recruitment and retention in rural and remote areas World Health Organization, 2021-05-06 With nearly half of the world's population living in a rural or remote area meeting the health needs of rural populations where over 80% of the world's extremely poor live is imperative in achieving universal health coverage. Leaving no one behind means ensuring that health workers are available in rural and remote areas. Health, social and economic inequities remain cross-cutting challenges for rural populations. Rural populations tend to be poorer, have worse health outcomes and experience higher rates of unemployment, underemployment and informal employment. It is estimated that about 51-67% of rural populations are without adequate access to essential health services, translating to about 2 billion people being left behind. In some countries, rural populations have access to numbers of health workers that are 10 times less than the numbers available to urban populations. The deficiency in numbers and mix of trained, motivated health workers to provide the needed health services is a critical health system issue. This inequitable access to health workers and health services impacts health outcomes and increases socioeconomic disadvantages. Higher under-5 maternal and preventable mortality rates, increased morbidity, decreased life expectancy and more costs to access distant care are seen across rural areas.

Foundations for Community Health Workers Tim Berthold, Alma Avila, Jennifer Miller, 2009-08-13

Foundations for Community Health Workers is a training resource for client and community-centered public health practitioners with an emphasis on promoting health equality. Based on City College of San Francisco's CHW Certificate Program, it begins with an overview of the historic and political context informing the practice of community health workers. The second section of the book addresses core competencies for working with individual clients such as behavior change, counseling and case management, and practitioner development topics such as ethics, stress management and conflict resolution. The book's final section covers skills for practice at the group and community levels such as conducting health outreach and facilitating community organizing and advocacy.

Praise for Foundations for Community Health Workers: This book is the first of its kind, a manual of core competencies and curricula for training community health workers. Covering topics from health inequalities to patient-centered counseling, this book is a tremendous resource for both scholars and practitioners in the field of community-based medicine. It also marks a great step forward in any setting, rich or poor, in which it is imperative to reduce health disparities and promote genuine health and well-being.

Paul E. Farmer, MD, PhD, Maude and Lillian Presley Professor of Social Medicine in the Department of Global Health and Social Medicine at Harvard Medical School, founding director, Partners In Health.

This book is based on the contributions of experienced CHWs and advocates of the field. I am confident that it will serve as an inspiration for many CHW training programs.

Yvonne Lacey, CHW, former coordinator, Black Infant Health Program, City of Berkeley Health Department, former chair, CHW Special Interest Group for the APHA.

This book masterfully integrates the knowledge, skills and abilities required of a CHW through storytelling and real-life case examples. This simple and elegant approach brings to life the intricacies of the work and espouses the spirit of the role that is so critical to eliminating disparities a true model educational approach to emulate Gayle Tang MSN RN director National Linguistic and Cultural Programs National Diversity Kaiser Permanente Finally we have a competency based textbook for community health worker education well informed by seasoned CHWs themselves as well as expert contributors Donald E Proulx CHW National Education Collaborative University of Arizona
