

Guided Practice in the Classroom

What is Guided Practice?

Guided practice is an approach to educational instruction based on the sociocultural theory of learning and teaching. It involves the use of teacher guidance and facilitation that is gradually released as students develop competence with a task or skill.

The 'I do, We do, You do' method of Guided Practice

Steps	Pedagogical Strategies	Description
1. I Do	Teacher Modelling	Teacher models the task by breaking it down into clear, understandable steps. Students observe, take notes and ask questions.
2. We Do	Co-Construction	Teacher and students complete task in groups. Students are encouraged to ask questions, predict the next steps, plan ahead and debate the best ways to complete the task.
3. You Do	Facilitation	Students attempt to do the task alone or in pairs with the guidance of the teacher. Teacher provides prompts, open-ended questions, nudges and visual aids as a form of scaffolding.
4. You Do	Independent Practice	Students do the task independently without teacher facilitation in various different contexts to demonstrate competency.

Reading Strategies that Work Laura Robb, 1996 30 key strategies that teach your students to become better readers An essential resource for middle grade teachers

A Comparison of Teacher-guided Instruction and Self-guided Student Practice Strategies Spencer Prewitt, 2013 It is commonly understood that the foundation of private instrumental studies at the collegiate level is one hour long teacher guided private lesson per week followed by self guided student practice until the next lesson This model allows a teacher to tailor instruction to fit a student s particular needs however because the majority of a student s time with an instrument is during self guided practice there are unique challenges that must be addressed Students must recognize key concepts from a private lesson know how to produce desired results technically devise a strategy that will solidify key concepts in familiar and novel domains and demonstrate their success in the next week s lesson However the processes involved in skill acquisition transcend domain and have been studied both in musical and non musical contexts In this research I will observe and compare the behaviors of students during private lessons with students behaviors during subsequent self guided practice sessions The purpose of this study is to 1 Determine if there is a measureable difference in student behavior during a private lesson and during a self guided practice session 2 Identify factors that mediate differences if present 3 Determine if accumulated lessons affect self guided student practice 4 Provide insight as to why different behaviors occur by comparing the findings from each student A series of three private lessons and three subsequent student practice sessions from three students were video taped and analyzed and after all video data were collected an exit interview was conducted with each student participant Descriptive statistics from each private lesson were compared with descriptive statistics from each self guided practice session and responses from the student exit interview were used to add additional insight to this comparison It was found that there are measureable differences between student behavior during a private lesson and during a self guided practice session The results indicated that specific performance directives during a private lesson translate into self guided student practice behaviors that are more focused and productive Further research is needed to explore the effect of varying types of feedback during a private lesson on self guided student practice The results do not suggest that accumulated lessons affect self guided student practice however it is likely that observations over a longer period of time would affect that result The data show that further research is needed to provide insight as to why different behaviors occur among students but the data suggests that individual differences between students is the primary cause of differing behaviors
