Historic Alabama Hotels and Resorts James Frederick Sulzby, 1960 All the resorts early inns and historic hotels from Stevenson in the north to Point Clear on Mobile Bay and from Eufaula in the east to Carrollton in the west are included and most importantly every one is pictured The collection of illustrations alone makes this a book of prime importance in a state and regional history a unique record of social life of the past Jacket Tales of Old Blount County, Alabama Robin Sterling, 2013-08-19 Many of the people and events in Blount County history are well documented Others not so much This book of essays is an attempt to revisit some of the well known events of our county s past add a little more background and present our history from a Blount County point of view In addition to illuminating some familiar topics this book attempts to bring to light people and events who played significant roles in the development of Blount but were somehow overlooked or skimmed over by the primary reference books people and events which were the topic of conversation among our ancestors but over time have been forgotten These fun to read tales will promote a greater understanding of the history of Blount County Seeing Historic Alabama Virginia Van der Veer Hamilton, Jacqueline A. Matte, 1996-06-30 Revised and Updated 1996 Edition Respectable and Disreputable Jeffrey C. Benton, 2013-01-01 Respectable and Disreputable describes how Montgomerians spent their increasing leisure time during the four decades preceding the Civil War Everyday activities included gambling drinking sporting hunting and voluntary associations military literary self improvement fraternal and civic The book also includes seasonal activities religious and national holidays fairs balls horse racing and summering at mineral springs Commercial entertainment which became more prominent in the late antebellum period included theater opera circuses and minstrel shows Historian Jeffrey Benton describes not only those everyday seasonal and commercial activities but also shows how antebellum society debated the moral and philosophical questions of how leisure time should be spent Woven throughout the book are comparisons between Montgomery and other cities and towns in antebellum America Although the United States may have been increasingly divided economically on rural urban experiences and of course on the issue of slavery it seems that antebellum Americans at least those living in or with easy access to urban areas shared very similar leisure time activities Birmingham J. D. Weeks, 1999 At the start of the 20th century Birmingham was one of the fastest growing cities in the South sometimes referred to as the Magic City It began as a town located at the intersection of two railroads and then quickly expanded and took in neighboring communities Around this time photographers traveled around the United States taking photographs of towns and cities and turning the photographs into postcards The postcards collected here show historic Birmingham s downtown hospitals parks communities schools hotels and industries These images serve as a record of everyday life in this bustling Southern city Haunted Talladega County Kim Johnston, Shane Busby, 2015-09-28 Talladega County is known for its auto racing and rich southern history Stories of the strange and supernatural however are just as prevalent Like the story of Gloria s bridge where the spirit of a woman and her baby are said to appear when her name is called out Or the ghost of a man and his dog wandering the forests of Cemetery Mountain At Hill Elementary the specter of a principal still patrols the grounds watching over her students Paranormal writers Kim Johnston and Shane Busby chronicle the strange mysterious and ghastly past of Talladega County Eating, Drinking, and Visiting in the South Joe Gray Taylor, 2008-02-01 A lively informal history of over three centuries of southern hospitality and cuisine Eating Drinking and Visiting in the South traces regional gastronomy from the sparse diet of Jamestown settlers who learned from necessity to eat what the Indians ate to the lavish corporate cocktail parties of the New South Brimming with memorable detail this book by Joe Gray Taylor ranges from the groaning plates of the great plantations witnessed by Frederick Law Olmsted and a great many others to the less than appetizing extreme guests often confronted in the South s nineteenth century inns and taverns execrable coffee rancid butter and very dubious meat Taylor describes the diet of the early pioneers with its corn bread beaver tail soup and black bear meat and the creation of the South s regional cuisines including Kentucky s burgoo and south Louisiana s gumbo He tells of the rounds of visitation that were the social lifeblood of the Old South of the fatback and hoecake that fed plantation slaves and of the starvation diet of the Confederate soldier and civilian Taylor then looks at how technological advances and urbanization have in some cases enhanced but more often diluted the southern eating experience and he finds that despite the introduction of fast food abominations and factory made horrors such as quick grits and canned biscuits the region s sturdy eating drinking and social traditions still flourish in many byways and on some main avenues of the modern South In a new introduction noted food writer John Egerton looks at what motivated Joe Gray Taylor to undertake this fine study and discusses how southern food studies have progressed since the book was first released Birmingham in Vintage Postcards J.D. Weeks, 1999-12-01 At the start of the 20th century Birmingham was one of the fastest growing cities in the South sometimes referred to as the Magic City It began as a town located at the intersection of two railroads and then quickly expanded and took in neighboring communities Around this time photographers traveled around the United States taking photographs of towns and cities and turning the photographs into postcards The postcards collected here show historic Birmingham s downtown hospitals parks communities schools hotels and industries These images serve as a record of everyday life in this bustling Southern city Blue Springs Wayne McLaughlin, 2012-04-20 At an early age I recall hearing many stories told by my elders about the tiny town of Blue Springs and the remarkable people who lived in and around it I used many of these tales as bedtime stories for my children and grandchildren Many people urged me to record these stories in writing Additionally I noticed at an early age how highly esteemed and respected my father was in the community because of his total dedication to his medical practice and how he conducted it I have also wanted to leave some sort of written tribute for my children and grandchildren about what remarkable people their ancestors were especially my parents and grandparents Finally for a small boy the tiny little town of Blue Springs was a natural paradise in which to grow up Springs swamps a river fields and forests abounded I wanted to tell my children and grandchildren what it was like I also want them to know appreciate and attempt to add to their genealogy

These are the reasons for this book     A Bibliography on Historical Organization Practices Frederick L. Rath, Merrilyn Rogers O'Connell, 1984 V 2 Conservation of collections     Built to Last Stanley Turkel CMHS ISHC, 2013-09-05 Built to Last 100 Year Old Hotels East of the Mississippi is a sequel to my 2011 book Built To Last 100 Year Old Hotels in New York It has 86 chapters one for each century old hotel of 50 rooms or more east of the Mississippi River and each is illustrated by an antique postcard The Foreword was written by Joseph McInerney CHA President of the American Hotel Lodging Association The book has been accepted for promotion distribution and sale by the American Hotel Lodging Educational Institute My research into the histories of these hotels turned up fascinating stories about single minded developers brilliant and accidental architects dedicated owners famous and infamous guests and even the story of an underground bunker shelter the size of two football fields built under a hotel to house the U S Government in the event of a nuclear war     Government of Our Own William C. Davis, 1994-09-01 For four crucial months in 1861 delegates from all over the South met in Montgomery Alabama to establish a new nation Davis Jefferson Davis The Man and the Hour LJ 11 15 91 tells their story in this new work another example of Davis s fine storytelling skill and an indispensable guide to understanding the formation of the Confederate government Among the issues Davis examines are revising the Constitution to meet Southern needs banning the importation of slaves and determining whether the convention could be considered a congress Also revealed are the many participating personalities their ambitions and egos politicking and lobbying for the presidency of the new nation and the nature of the city of Montgomery itself     The Valley and the Hills Leah Rawls Atkins, 1981     Blount Springs Greg Burden, 2014-02-19 For close to a hundred years Blount Springs was the center of society for many of the elite of Alabama and the South It served as a watering place and social gathering spot serving the planter class and later the industrialists of the New South Patrons came to enjoy the health giving water dancing spirits and especially legal gambling Preserving history is an important aspect of our society that unfortunately is often overlooked in our fast paced I want it now world Slow down and take a look at a time when leisure and socializing were the preferred way to spend time Look back at a cure for life s ills and pains that were available at the Saratoga of the South     Lost Birmingham Beverly Crider, 2013-04-30 Some of Birmingham Alabama s history has been lost This book takes a look at this lost history and brings it back to life Birmingham has many notable historic landmarks today but so many more are all but forgotten The Bangor Cave Casino was once a world renowned speakeasy The Thomas Jefferson Hotel featured a zeppelin mooring station drawing lots of attention from tourists Other significant sites from the past such as Hillman Hospital and the buildings on the Heaviest Corner on Earth are unknown even to natives now Local author Beverly Crider presents an intriguing and educational tour through these and more hidden treasures     Bosom Friends Thomas J. Balcerski, 2019 A dual biography of bachelor politicians James Buchanan and William Rufus King that analyzes a much discussed intimate friendship in nineteenth century American politics
