Historical Dictionary Of Taiwan Cinema:

Historical Dictionary of Taiwan Cinema Daw-Ming Lee, 2012-11-08 Taiwan was able to solidly build and sustain a film industry only after locally produced Mandarin films secured markets in Hong Kong and Southeast Asia during the 1960s and 1970s. Though only a small island with a limited population in its heyday, Taiwan was among the top 10 film producing countries/areas in the world, turning out hundreds of martial arts kung fu films and romantic melodramas annually that were screened in theaters across Southeast Asia and other areas internationally. However, except for one acclaimed film by director King Hu, Taiwan cinema was nearly invisible on the art cinema map until the 1980s, when the films of Hou Hsiao-hsien, Edward Yang, and other Taiwan New Cinema directors gained recognition at international film festivals first in Europe and later throughout the world. Since then, many other Taiwan directors have also become an important part of cinema history, such as Ang Lee and Tsai Ming-liang. The Historical Dictionary of Taiwan Cinema covers the history of cinema in Taiwan during both the Japanese colonial period (1895-1945) and the Chinese Nationalist period (1945-present). This is accomplished through a chronology highlighting the main events during the long period and an introduction which carefully analyses the progression. The bulk of the information, however, appears in a dictionary section including over a hundred very extensive entries on directors, producers, performers, films, film studios, and genres. Photos are also included in the dictionary section. More information can be found through the bibliography. Taiwan cinema is truly unique, and this book is a good place to find out more about it, whether you are a student or teacher or just a fan.

Poetics of Slow Cinema Emre Çağlayan, 2018-10-12 This book discusses slow cinema a contemporary global production trend that has recently gained momentum in film theory and criticism Slow films dispense with narrative progression in favour of a contemplative mood which is stretched out to the extreme in order to impel viewers to confront cinematic temporality in all its undivided glory Despite its critical reputation as an oblique mode of film practice slow cinema continues to attract challenge and provoke audiences Focusing on filmmakers B. La Tarr Tsai Ming-liang and Nuri Bilge Ceylan this book identifies nostalgia absurd humour and boredom as intrinsic dimensions of slow cinema and explores the ways in which these directors negotiate local filmmaking conventions with the demands of a global cinephile niche As the first study to treat slow cinema both as an aesthetic style and as an institutional discourse Poetics of Slow Cinema offers an illuminating perspective on the tradition's historical genealogy and envisions it with a Janus-faced disposition in the age of digital technologies lamenting at once the passing of difficult ambiguous modernist film and capitalizing on the yearning for its absence
