Nothing Has to Make Sense Sherene H. Razack, 2022-04-19 How Western nations have consolidated their whiteness through the figure of the Muslim in the post 9 11 world While much has been written about post 9 11 anti Muslim racism often termed Islamophobia insufficient attention has been given to how anti Muslim racism operates through law and is a vital part of law s protection of whiteness This book fills this gap while also providing a unique new global perspective on white supremacy Sherene H Razack a leading critical race and feminist scholar takes an innovative approach by situating law within media discourses and historical and contemporary realities We may think of law as logical but argues Razack its logic breaks down when the subject is Muslim Tracing how white subjects and majority white nations in the post 9 11 era have consolidated their whiteness through the figure of the Muslim Razack examines four sites of anti Muslim racism efforts by American evangelical Christians to ban Islam in the school curriculum Canadian and European bans on Muslim women s clothing racial science and the sentencing of Muslims as terrorists and American national memory of the torture of Muslims during wars and occupations Arguing that nothing has to make sense when the subject is Muslim she maintains that these legal and cultural sites reveal the dread phobia hysteria and desire that mark the encounter between Muslims and the West Through the prism of racism Nothing Has to Make Sense argues that the figure of the Muslim reveals a world divided between the deserving and the disposable where people of European origin are the former and all others are confined in various ways to regimes of disposability Emerging from critical race theory and bridging with Islamophobia critical religious studies it demonstrates that anti Muslim racism is a revelatory window into the operation of white supremacy as a global force

Just Trying to Have School Natalie G. Adams, James H. Adams, 2018-10-09 After the 1954 Brown v Board of Education ruling no state fought longer or harder to preserve segregated schools than Mississippi This massive resistance came to a crashing halt in October 1969 when the Supreme Court ruled in Alexander v Holmes Board of Education that the obligation of every school district is to terminate dual school systems at once and to operate now and hereafter only unitary schools Thirty of the thirty three Mississippi districts named in the case were ordered to open as desegregated schools after Christmas break With little guidance from state officials and no formal training or experience in effective school desegregation processes ordinary people were thrown into extraordinary circumstances However their stories have been largely ignored in desegregation literature Based on meticulous archival research and oral history interviews with over one hundred parents teachers students principals superintendents community leaders and school board members Natalie G Adams and James H Adams explore the arduous and complex task of implementing school desegregation How were bus routes determined Who lost their position as principal Who was assigned to what classes Without losing sight of the important macro forces in precipitating social change the authors shift attention to how the daily work of just trying to have school helped shape the contours of school desegregation in communities still living with the decisions made fifty years ago
