It Takes A Village We Were Once Children:

The Plight of the African-American Male MDiv Larry McCullum, 2009-08 This book addresses the internal and external forces that work to prevent the African American male from fully engaging positively in society It addresses openly sensitive issues that are surely discussed privately within the confines of our African American Hispanic Caucasian etc homes The hope is that this book will help to create a space for dialogue as it is my belief that if we talk openly and honestly about these issues without fear of reprisal or retaliation we will begin to create pathways that lead to healing not just fixing socio cultural pathologies I attempt to present methods and life events that will help the reader to deconstruct destructive social constructs that pervade society with the hope that re construction toward positive social behaviors that work for the common good will begin to take place in the reader s life This book begins with a lay approach to addressing issues that work to divide and defeat and that work to the demise of the African American male his family and community It journeys much of my life in rural Mississippi as a means for illustrating the impact of these issues on the psychological behavioral and relational capacity of the African American male then transitions to an educational and academic approach to identifying analyzing addressing and overcoming these issues Subsequently it addresses first hand internal forces that work against the African American male in being positive contributors to family in particular and to his community at large such as our attitudes towards sexuality and gender identity based cultures Lastly it examines the role and effectiveness of the African American church as an instrument of healing as spirituality is central to the African American community This is a book for everyone Please approach it with an open mind and you will experience increasing liberation with each page that you read Humanizing

the Education Machine Rex Miller, Bill Latham, Brian Cahill, 2016-10-24 A clear roadmap for the new territory of education Education in the U S has been under fire for quite some time and for good reason The numbers alone tell a very disconcerting story according to various polls 70% of teachers are disengaged Add to that the fact that the United States ranks last among industrialized nations for college graduation levels and it s evident there s a huge problem that needs to be addressed Yet the current education system and its school buildings with teachers standing in front of classrooms and lecturing to students have gone largely unchanged since the 19th century Humanizing the Education Machine tackles this tough issue head on It describes how the education system has become ineffective by not adapting to fit students needs learning styles perspectives and lives at home This book explains how schools can evolve to engage students and involve parents It serves to spread hope for reform and equip parents educators administrators and communities to Analyze the pitfalls of the current U S education system Intelligently argue the need to reform the current landscape of education Work to make a difference in the public education system Be an informed advocate for your child or local school system If you re a concerned parent or professional looking for a trusted resource on the need for education reform look no further than Humanizing the Education Machine This illuminating resource provides the information you need to become a full partner in

Walker, 2015-04-30 The black struggle is not our enemy it is our strength We must each take ownership of and be accountable for our daily lives in order to stop the downward slide When blacks whites and others fight each other it only distracts us from enemies that do not discriminate in how they destroy human life The bigger picture involves us as Americans more so than what color we are D S Walker tells inspiring stories about personal triumphs conflicts and he also shares the concerns he has about whats holding back the black community Along the way he considers important questions such as Are we ready to commit ourselves to what we need to do to get out of our present situation Have we abandoned our moral mission and moved farther away from our moral center Can the black community give its suffering positive and lasting meaning by how it responds to it Our children are watching us What one generation accepts the next generation will embrace Our legacy is in question Without deep thought difficult conversations and a commitment to change well continue to be Consumed by One Another 10 Year-wise AILET Previous Year Solved Papers (2024 - 2015) 5th Edition | All

Bottom Set Citizen Paula Ambrossi,2024-03-19 While research evidence shows the negative impact of ability grouping on children this book suggests that the reason the practice is still embraced is the unspoken allegiance to the values of empire that governments schools and many parents still uphold promoting competition and hierarchies over and above ethical principles on the education of society s most vulnerable our children The practice which happens across social class humiliates children deemed less academically able by rounding them up in front and in opposition to their better intellectual peers Wielding knowledge as a weapon of humiliation warps children s relationship to organized forms of knowledge making them antagonistic or indifferent towards it This book responds to Michael Young s The Rise of the Meritocracy by focusing on the plight of those who are educationally placed in opposition to the intellectual elites the bottom set citizen rich or poor and ready to vote This book will appeal to anyone concerned with democracy and children s rights in education including the rich on whom I shine the light of deficit for a change Thus Donald Trump and Nigel Farage exemplify the bottom set citizen in all his facilitated glory Other more vulnerable BSCs are not as lucky

It Took A Broken Leg Dr. Hamid Charm, 2009-03-28 When Western education then called the white man's school first came to the town of Dubayabia in the land of Romron at the heels of the abolition of the transatlantic slave trade horribly frightening stories about that dreadful trade still lingered in the minds of some parents Those stories made some parents terrified of sending their children to a white man's school when they reached school going age hiding them instead or sending only strangers Also troubling for some residents of Dubayabia region in those days called the Traditionalists was the advent of foreign religions preaching against and indiscriminately branding their African tribal customs and cultural practices including their safest and most cherished music and dances as unreligious or worse as pagan practice For one child named Mawudor in particular his father Mordibor an ultraconservative Muslim of the Tukulor tribe decided to send him and his elder brother Baba to a faraway remote rural village called Futa in a neighboring foreign country to study the Qur'an and acquire aspects of their Tukulor culture instead of sending them to school When Mordibor shared his secret plan for his sons with his friend Pa Manika along with his other concerns about what he perceived as the un-Tukulor customs and practices of his sons' maternal relatives in Dubayabia his friend tried unsuccessfully to talk him out of it Mawudor's grandparents also tried and failed in their own way to stop Mordibor from sending their beloved grandson away While Mordibor wanted to send his sons away to acquire Islamic and Tukulor values instead of Western education his son Mawudor on the other hand liked and dreamed about attending the white man's school and he also admired the customs and practices of his maternal relatives Even fate it seemed was not on his father's side After just two years in that Koranic school in Futa Mawudor and his brother Baba had an accident a fall in which Mawudor broke his leg When Mawudor was sent home following the accident and his father saw his broken leg he was devastated Mawudor's life it seemed had been changed Even the region of Dubayabia's most famous herbalist Mawudor's grandmother couldn't fix his broken leg to its original form Mordibor realizing how handicapped his son Mawudor had become changed his original plan and finally decided to send him to a white man's school together with his younger brothers It Took a Broken Leg is a family story in which this author chronicles the eventful experiences of the main character Mawudor back in time through a maze of raw African tribal beliefs customs and practices characterizing his people practicing Muslims with keen interests and beliefs in secret societies spiritual devils and witchcraft
