From Jackie Robinson's autobiography, I am Jackie Robinson

His color didn't matter much for he trusted his color

He didn't care if people did he didn't think that it was right to change his color because he knew that

Being color was all right when you were white he didn't think that was right "Jackie Robinson" was known as the color man for he was not just a color man but a man personally that he was the first of the color man and a great man

He was known as the color man and he was a great man
He was known as the color man
and he was a great man
and he was a great man
