Jacqueline Humphries:

Jacqueline Humphries Jacqueline Humphries, Angus Cook, David Joselit, Suzanne Hudson, 2014 Over the course of her three decade career American painter Jacqueline Humphries born 1960 has committed to abstraction at its extreme In the mid 2000s Humphries began experimenting with reflective silver paint on canvas a feature that has since become a signature of her work Humphries iridescent surfaces create an unsettling relationship between the viewer and the painting constantly shifting according to movement and time Registering the colors and tones of the environments around them the paintings engage in a mysterious play of shadows and light suggestion and intimation This distinctive monograph the first to collect Humphries silver paintings in one volume illustrates over 70 works reproducing their luminous surfaces using a technique that lays conventional ink over an Iridodin silkscreened varnish With essays by David Joselit Suzanne Hudson and Angus Cooke the book situates Humphries within a generational discourse as well as a broader art historical context medical problem requiring a fix In nineteenth century Britain the shift from viewing deafness as auditory difference to framing it as a condition in need of medical intervention came at the insistence of an emerging group of professionals aurists Echoes of Care describes how British ear specialists sought to reshape deafness as a curable affliction that they were uniquely able to treat Navigating a medical landscape fraught with professional rivalries and public distrust about the likelihood of a cure aurists extended their authority towards key sites of intervention the census school medical testing public health deaf schools to argue for the necessity of specialist care Beneath the surface of these claims lay deeper questions about access to healthcare cultural perceptions of disability and the rise of eugenics Jaipreet Virdi explores the complex legacy of the medicalization of deafness and its profound implications for deaf history culture and lived experience

Orthodoxies for Inclusive Theologies Robert E. Shore-Goss, Joseph N. Goh, 2019-11-28 This book enters a new liminal space between the LGBTQ and denominational Christian communities It simultaneously explores how those who identify as queer can find a home in church and how those leading welcoming or indeed unwelcoming congregations can better serve both communities The primary argument is that queer inclusion must not merely mean an assimilation into existing heteronormative respectability and approval Chapters are written by a diverse collection of Asian Latin American and U S theologians religious studies scholars and activists Each of them writes from their own social context to address the notion of LGBTQ alternative orthodoxies and praxes pertaining to God the saints failure of the church queer eschatologies and erotic economies Engaging with issues that are not only faced by those in the theological academy but also by clergy and congregants the book addresses those impacted by a history of Christian hostility and violence who have become suspicious of attempts at acceptance It also sets out an encouragement for queer theologians and clergy think deeply about how they form communities where queer perspectives are proactively included This is a forward looking and positive vision of a more inclusive theology and ecclesiology It will therefore appeal to scholars of Queer Theology and Religious Studies as well as practitioners seeking a fresh perspective on church and the LGBTQ community
