Holocaust Cinema Complete Rich Brownstein, 2021-10-01 Holocaust movies have become an important segment of world cinema and the de facto Holocaust education for many. One quarter of all American produced Holocaust related feature films have won or been nominated for at least one Oscar. In fact from 1945 through 1991 half of all American Holocaust features were nominated. Yet most Holocaust movies have fallen through the cracks and few have been commercially successful. This book explores these trends and many others with a comprehensive guide to hundreds of films and made for television movies. From Anne Frank to Schindler's List to Jojo Rabbit more than 400 films are examined from a range of perspectives: historical, chronological, thematic, sociological, geographical, and individual. The filmmakers are contextualized including Charlie Chaplin, Sidney Lumet, Steven Spielberg, Quentin Tarantino, and Roman Polanski. Recommendations and reviews of the 50 best Holocaust films are included along with an educational guide, a detailed listing of all films covered, and a four part index/glossary.

Performing Difference Jonathan C. Friedman, 2008-12-24 Performing Difference is a compilation of seventeen essays from some of the leading scholars in history, criticism, film, and theater studies. Each author examines the portrayal of groups and individuals that have been traditionally marginalized or excluded from dominant historical narratives. As a meeting point of several fields of study, this book is organized around three meta themes: race, gender, and genocide. Included are analyses of films and theatrical productions from the United States as well as essays on cinema from Southern and Central America, Europe, and the Middle East. Typically the contributing authors write about the depiction of race, ethnicities, gender, and sexual orientation and genocides. This volume assesses how the performing arts have aided in the social construction of the other in differing contexts. Its fundamental premise is that performance is powerful and its unifying thesis is that the arts remain a major forum for advancing a more nuanced and humane vision of social outcasts, not only in the realm of national imaginations but in social relations as well.

Cinematic Social Studies William B. Russell, Stewart Waters, 2017-01-01 Action film is a common and powerful element in the social studies classroom and Cinematic Social Studies explores teaching and learning social studies with film. Teaching with film is a prominent teaching strategy utilized by many teachers on a regular basis. Cinematic Social Studies moves readers beyond the traditional perceptions of teaching film and explores the vast array of ideas and strategies related to teaching social studies with film. The contributing authors of this volume seek to explain through an array of ideas and visions what cinematic social studies can and should look like while providing research and rationales for why teaching social studies with film is valuable and important. This volume includes twenty-four scholarly chapters discussing relevant topics of importance to cinematic social studies. The twenty-four chapters are divided into three sections. This stellar collection of writings includes contributions from noteworthy scholars like Keith Barton, Wayne Journell, James Damico, Cynthia Tyson, and many more.

Teaching Criminology at the Intersection Rebecca M. Hayes, Kate Luther, Susan Caringella, 2014-08-21 Teaching about gender, race, social class, and sexuality in criminal justice and criminology classrooms can be challenging. Professors may face resistance when they ask students to examine how gender impacts victimization how race affects interactions with the police how socioeconomic status shapes experiences in court or how sexuality influences treatment in the criminal justice system Teaching Criminology at the Intersection is an instructional guide to support faculty as they navigate teaching these topics Bringing together the experience and knowledge of expert scholars this book provides time strapped academics with an accessible how to guide for the classroom where the dynamics and discrimination of gender race class and sexuality demographics intersect and permeate criminal justice concerns In the book the authors of each chapter discuss how they teach a particular contemporary criminal justice issue and provide their suggestions for best practice while grounding their ideas in pedagogical theory Chapters end with a toolkit of recommended activities assignments films readings or websites As a teaching handbook Teaching Criminology at the Intersection is appropriate reading for graduate level criminology criminal justice and women s and gender studies teaching instruction courses and as background reading and reference for instructors in these disciplines
