New Political Religions, Or an Analysis of Modern Terrorism Barry Cooper, 2005-08 While terrorism has been used throughout the ages as a weapon in political struggles there is an essential difference between groups who use these tactics for more or less rational political goals and those seeking more apocalyptic ends Cooper argues that today's terrorists have a spiritual perversity that causes them to place greater significance on killing than on exploiting political grievances He supports his assertion with an analysis of two groups that share the characteristics of a pneumopathological consciousness Anum Shinrikyo the terrorist organization that poisoned thousands of Tokyo subway riders in 1995 and Al Qaeda the group behind the infamous 9 11 killings convinced was just If Breivik did indeed act alone he wouldn't be the first Timothy McVeigh bombed a federal building in Oklahoma City based essentially on his own motivations Eric Robert Rudolph embarked on a campaign of terror over several years including the Centennial Park bombing at the 1996 Olympics Ted Kaczynski was revealed to be the Unabomber that same year And these are only the most notable examples As George Michael demonstrates in Lone Wolf Terror and the Rise of Leaderless Resistance they are not isolated cases Rather they represent the new way warfare will be conducted in the twenty first century Lone Wolf Terror investigates the motivations of numerous political and ideological elements such as right wing individuals ecoextremists foreign jihadists and even quasi governmental entities In all these cases those carrying out destructive acts operate as lone wolves and small cells with little or no connection to formal organizations Ultimately Michael suggests that leaderless resistance has become the most common tactical approach of political terrorists in the West and elsewhere
