Wireless Hacking: Projects for Wi-Fi Enthusiasts Lee Barken, 2004-10-29 Sales of wireless LANs to home users and small businesses will soar this year with products using IEEE 802.11 Wi-Fi technology leading the way according to a report by Cahners research Worldwide consumers will buy 7.3 million wireless LAN nodes which include client and network hub devices up from about 4 million last year This third book in the HACKING series from Syngress is written by the SoCalFreeNet Wireless Users Group and will cover 802.11a/b/g Wi-Fi projects teaching these millions of Wi-Fi users how to mod and hack Wi-Fi access points network cards and antennas to run various Linux distributions and create robust Wi-Fi networks Cahners predicts that wireless LANs next year will gain on Ethernet as the most popular home network technology Consumers will hook up 10.9 million Ethernet nodes and 7.3 million wireless out of a total of 14.4 million home LAN nodes shipped This book will show Wi-Fi enthusiasts and consumers of Wi-Fi LANs who want to modify their Wi-Fi hardware how to build and deploy homebrew Wi-Fi networks both large and small Wireless LANs next year will gain on Ethernet as the most popular home network technology Consumers will hook up 10.9 million Ethernet nodes and 7.3 million wireless clients out of a total of 14.4 million home LAN nodes shipped This book will use a series of detailed inter related projects to teach readers how to modify their Wi-Fi hardware to increase power and performance to match that of far more expensive enterprise networking products Also features hacks to allow mobile laptop users to actively seek wireless connections everywhere they go The authors are all members of the San Diego Wireless Users Group which is famous for building some of the most innovative and powerful home brew Wi-Fi networks in the world

Wireless Internet and Mobile Computing Yu-Kwong Ricky Kwok, Vincent K.N. Lau, 2007-09-10 This book describes the technologies involved in all aspects of a large networking system and how the various devices can interact and communicate with each other Using a bottom up approach the authors demonstrate how it is feasible for instance for a cellular device user to communicate via the all purpose TCP/IP protocols with a wireless notebook computer user traversing all the way through a base station in a cellular wireless network e.g. GSM CDMA a public switched network PSTN the Internet an intranet a local area network LAN and a wireless LAN access point The information bits in travelling through this long path are processed by numerous disparate communication technologies The authors also describe the technologies involved in infrastructure less wireless networks      Critical Information Infrastructures Maitland Hyslop, 2007-09-05 Resilience is an increasingly important concept and quality in today's world. It is particularly important in the area of Critical Infrastructures. It is crucial in the area of Critical Information Infrastructure. This is because since the year 2000 man has been dependent on information and telecommunications systems for survival, particularly in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) countries, and because all other Critical Infrastructures depend upon to a greater or lesser extent Critical Information Infrastructure. Until probably the late 1980s it would be fair to say that the defense of individual nation states depended upon a mixture of political will and armed might. The fall of the Berlin Wall may have effectively ended the Cold War and with it a bipolar world, but it brought globalization and a multipolar digital world in its wake. Simply put, a number of power vacuums were created and these have yet to be fully filled and settled. In this New World, many changes were afoot. These changes include the increasing irrelevance of nation states in federated structures and the export of democracy on the back of globalization. One of the biggest changes though is the use of digital technology by the OECD countries. This is on such a scale that these countries have become both dependent upon information technology and as individual states largely irrelevant to the new global electronic economy. This adaptation of Maslow's hierarchy of needs is attributed to KPMG.

IP for 4G David Wisely, 2009-01-21 Excellent reference with expert insight into the future evolution of mobile communications. 4G IP for 4G examines the concept of 4G, providing an in-depth background to the key technologies and developments shaping the new generation of mobile services, including Wireless Local Area Networks (WLANs), Worldwide Interoperability for Microwave Access (WiMAX), IP developments, SIP and Media Independent Handover (Internet Multimedia Subsystem (IMS) and 3G HSDPA and LTE. The book addresses these key technological drivers in light of commercial propositions such as generating extra revenue and reducing costs, and offers an up-to-date briefing on the future of mobile communications in the coming years. Key features: Presents and analyses the key technological drivers of 4G, including WLANs, WiMAX convergence and IMS. Examines the rationale for IP for 4G by bringing together technologies, global developments and economic arguments in one single volume. Describes and puts in context the developments in the IEEE 802.21 Media Independent Handover group, in particular the options for network terminal controlled handover and the likely mechanisms for seamless handover, including application adaptation. Written for readability as well as depth, with access to detailed descriptions of technologies but also quick overviews. Contains scenario descriptions to motivate the need for seamless handover and benefits for the user: single sign-on, access to networks, single billing. Contains hundreds of original diagrams, carefully drawn to illustrate the complex technology and quickly provide a summary of the main issues. Accompanying website supports the book with additional diagrams, figures and references for further reading. IP for 4G is an invaluable reference for professionals in mobile fixed telecoms and ICT industries, practicing telecommunications and network engineers, system designers and developers.
