Alvarez has sought to create a cartography of identity in exile Alvarez inscribes a geography of identity in her work that joins theory and narrative across multiple genres to create a new map of identity and culture By asserting that she is mapping a country that is not on the map Alvarez places creativity and multiplicity at the center of this emerging cartography of identity Rather than elaborating a hybrid identity that surreptitiously erases distinctions and difference Alvarez embraces the mestizaje or mixture and accumulation of identities experience and diversity To Alvarez linguistic and cultural multiplicity represents the reality of what it means to be American and she offers a compelling vision of both self and community in which the homeland Alvarez seeks is the narrative space of her own writings As Johnson shows Alvarez will continue to shape American literature by stretching the literary cartography of identity and of the Americas

The "White Other" in American Intermarriage Stories, 1945-2008 L. Cardon, 2012-12-23 Fictional depictions of intermarriage can illuminate perceptions of both ethnicity and whiteness at any given historical moment Popular examples such as Lucy and

Ricky in I Love Lucy 1951 1957 Joanna and John in Guess Who's Coming to Dinner 1967 Toula and Ian in My Big Fat Greek Wedding 2002 helped raise questions about national identity does American mean white or a blending of ethnicities Building on previous studies by scholars of intermarriage and identity this study is an ambitious endeavor to discern the ways in which literature and films from the 1960s through 2000s rework nineteenth and early twentieth century intermarriage tropes Unlike earlier stories these narratives position the white partner as the other and serve as useful frameworks for assessing ethnic and American identity Lauren S Cardon sheds new light on ethno racial solidarity and the assimilation of different ethnicities into American dominant culture Home Matters R. Rubenstein, 2001-02-23 Despite its typically regressive associations with homesickness the longing associated with nostalgia may also function progressively as a vehicle for imaginatively fixing the past in two senses securing and mending or repairing Considering fiction by two British and six American women writers of different generations and ethnicities this study explores tensions between home and exile insider and outsider longing and belonging loss and recovery Rubenstein argues that nostalgia functions narratively as a strategy for interrogating not only notions of home homesickness and homeland but also cultural historical dislocation aging and moral responsibility These narratives re frame a significant locus of concern in contemporary female experience personal and or cultural displacement and longing for home are ultimately transmuted imaginatively at least by a restorative vision that enables healing and emotional repair Teen Life in Latin America and the Caribbean Cynthia Tompkins, Kristen Sternberg, 2004-04-30 Teens in Latin America and the Caribbean generally face a difficult path to adulthood Poverty and unemployment violence political instability and emigration are frequently the norm in their native countries Those from poorer families must often work as well as attend school and opportunities for higher education and good jobs are limited Wealthier teens on the other hand are sheltered from harshness and enjoy private schools vacations abroad and access to American consumer products Yet family is important no matter what the class and most of these teens share a love of parties music and current fashions Latin America and the Caribbean are important regions to the United States since large numbers of Americans can trace their roots there Teen Life in Latin America and the Caribbean allows U S teens to understand the unique challenges and opportunities of teens in 15 Latin American or Caribbean countries Photos complement the text
