How Animals Grieve By Barbara J King Mar 21 2013:

U.S. Organic Dairy Politics B. Scholten,2014-11-19 Based on a decade of study this book provides a scholarly overview of organic dairy politics showing how politics policy and protest both inside and outside of agriculture can determine a future of pastoral landscapes resembling an earlier time in the western world or alternatively one made of dystopian ruralities

How Animals Grieve Barbara J. King, 2013-03-21 Examines the nature of grief in animals providing examples of how animals as diverse as ants and elephants mourn their dead and advocates for increased attention to animal emotions The Animal's Companion Jacky Colliss Harvey, 2019-04-02 A unique and compelling exploration of why humans need animal companions from dogs and cats to horses birds and reptiles through the eyes of a New York Times bestselling historical detective author In The Animal's Companion the acclaimed social anthropologist and author of Red A History of the Redhead turns her keen eye for cultural investigation toward uncovering why humans have such a strong desire to share everyday life with pets It's a history that can be traced back to a cave in France where anthropologists discovered evidence of a boy and his dog taking a walk together 26 000 years ago From those preserved foot and paw prints Jacky Colliss Harvey draws on literary artistic and archaeological evidence to sweep readers through centuries and across continents to examine how our relationships with our pets have developed but also stayed very much the same Through delightful stories of the most famous endearing and sometimes eccentric pet owners throughout history Colliss Harvey examines the when the how and the why of our connection to the animals we take into our lives and suggests fascinating new insights into one of the most long standing of all human love affairs Dealing with Death Kathlyn Gay, 2017-10-06 Death is a sensitive subject for most people Whether due to fear or superstition many individuals avoid the topic of mortality For teens the subject is taboo as well Most young adults believe that death won t affect them so they d rather not talk about it But death is a natural course of life and everyone including teens will encounter it at some time in their lives some sooner than later and some unexpectedly In Dealing with Death The Ultimate Teen Guide Kathlyn Gay addresses this difficult subject providing matter of fact discussions on a number of issues that help teens better understand the nature of mortality This book looks at the personal legal and moral questions related to death including How do you deal with the deal of a loved one What s it like to live with a terminal illness What happens after you die Featuring real stories and quotes from teens about their experiences this book shows young adults a variety of views on dying and grieving This book will help readers deal with death not only the reality that death is inevitable for all of us but also the many ways people face death and bereavement Dealing with Death serves as a valuable resource for all teens whether they are dealing with tragedy or just looking for more information on a tough subject

Evolving God Barbara J. King,2017-04-21 The author of How Animals Grieve contends that religion is a consequence of primate evolution in this brilliant book Booklist starred review Religion has been a central part of human experience since at least the dawn of recorded history The gods change as do the rituals but the underlying desire remains a desire to belong to something larger greater most lasting than our mortal finite selves But where did that desire come from Can we explain its emergence through evolution Yes says biological anthropologist Barbara J King and doing so not only helps us to understand the religious imagination but also reveals fascinating links to the lives and minds of our primate cousins Evolving God draws on King's own fieldwork among primates in Africa and paleoanthropology of our extinct ancestors to offer a new way of thinking about the origins of religion one that situates it in a deep need for emotional connection with others a need we share with apes and monkeys Though her thesis is provocative and she s not above thoughtful speculation King s argument is strongly rooted in close observation and analysis She traces an evolutionary path that connects us to other primates who like us display empathy make meanings through interaction create social rules and display imagination the basic building blocks of the religious imagination With fresh insights she responds to recent suggestions that chimpanzees are spiritual or even religious beings and that our ancient humanlike cousins carefully disposed of their dead well before the time of Neandertals Her interpretations result in a provocative hypothesis about the evolution of spirituality The Dallas Morning News Animals' Agenda Marc Bekoff, Jessica Pierce, 2017-04-18 A compelling argument that the time has come to use what we know about the fascinating and diverse inner lives of other animals on their behalf Every day we are learning new and surprising facts about just how intelligent and emotional animals are did you know rats like to play and laugh and also display empathy and the ears and noses of cows tell us how they re feeling At times we humans translate that knowledge into compassion for other animals think of the public outcry against the fates of Cecil the lion or the captive gorilla Harambe But on the whole our growing understanding of what animals feel is not resulting in more respectful treatment of them Renowned animal behavior expert Marc Bekoff and leading bioethicist Jessica Pierce explore the real world experiences of five categories of animals beginning with those who suffer the greatest deprivations of freedoms and choice chickens pigs and cows in industrial food systems as well as animals used in testing and research including mice rats cats dogs and chimpanzees Next Bekoff and Pierce consider animals for whom losses of freedoms are more ambiguous and controversial namely individuals held in zoos and aquaria and those kept as companions Finally they reveal the unexpected ways in which the freedoms of animals in the wild are constrained by human activities and argue for a more compassionate approach to conservation In each case scientific studies combine with stories of individual animals to bring readers face to face with the wonder of our fellow beings as well as the suffering they endure and the major paradigm shift that is needed to truly ensure their well being The Animals Agenda will educate and inspire people to rethink how we affect other animals and how we can evolve toward more peaceful and less violent ways of interacting with our animal kin in an increasingly human dominated world

Ecological Feelings Joshua Trey Barnett,2025-03-01 These days earthly coexistence often feels bad As environmental crises amass they cast a shadow over an imagined future and the promises of better or at least predictable days to come In times of climate chaos mass extinction and rampant environmental injustice it is easy to despair But here and there a glimmer of joy or optimism shines forth and reminds us that it is possible even necessary to love and to hope amid the ruins The contributors to this volume grapple with a plurality of interrelated ecological feelings care concern contempt empathy fear grief hope joy numbness optimism possessiveness regret and saudades Informed by a rhetorical perspective the essays collected here reveal what sets our ecological feelings into motion Crucially they also uncover some of the rhetorical practices through which we might collectively feel our way into a more harmonious earthly coexistence Gavin Van Horn, Dave Aftandilian, 2015-11-03 This anthology explores Chicago's surprisingly diverse wildlife through essays poetry paintings and photographs We usually think of cities as the domain of humans but we are just one of thousands of species that call the urban landscape home While Chicago residents are likely familiar with squirrels pigeons and dogs many would be surprised to learn about the leafhoppers and water bears black crowned night herons and bison beavers and massasauga rattlesnakes that are living alongside them City Creatures introduces readers these and other creatures through a variety of creative contributions Contributors bring a story based approach to this urban safari taking readers on birding expeditions to the Magic Hedge at Montrose Harbor on the North Side canoe trips down the South Fork of the Chicago River better known as Bubbly Creek and insect collecting forays or restoration work days in the suburban forest preserves The book is organized into six sections each highlighting one type of place in which people might encounter animals in the city and suburbs For example schoolyard chickens and warrior wasps populate Backyard Diversity and a chorus of deep freeze frogs awaits in Water Worlds Its powerful combination of insightful narratives numinous poetry and full color art will help readers see the city and the creatures who share it with us in an entirely new light How Animals Grieve Barbara I. King, 2014-04-17 An anthropologist proves that animals really do experience emotions describing through a number of specific cases how elephants housecats and baboons exhibited signs of grieving upon experiencing a loss of a mate sibling or child The Times Index ,2013-04 Indexes the Times Sunday times and magazine Times literary supplement Times educational supplement Time educational supplement Scotland and the Times higher education supplement We All Feel Barbara J. King, 2013-12-13 From the time of our earliest childhood encounters with animals we casually ascribe familiar emotions to them though scientists have long cautioned against such anthropomorphizing Recently however things have begun to shift in the other direction and anthropologist Barbara J King is at the forefront of that movement arguing strenuously that we can and should attend to animal emotions In the stories she tells here King relays how some farm animals horses goats chickens and ducks bond with others and engage in mourning when their friends die Here too dolphins and whales exhibit striking signs of suffering over the loss of babies and companions a mother dolphin will not give up her dead baby and whales risk stranding themselves in small groups rather than abandon kin As part of a larger web of life death love and loss King calls our attention to emotions both our own and those of our companion species Animal Grief - How animals mourn David Alderton, Science is now providing some remarkable insights into animal behaviour with crocodiles

for example emerging as devoted parents and elephants like whales able to communicate with each other across long distances by ultrasound which is inaudible to our ears There seems little doubt that animals experience a range of emotions just as we do but can they grieve too Evidence exists that indeed they can in addition David Alderton award winning multi million specialist animal author contends that emotions including grief can potentially have a survival value for a species The authoritative rational text is superbly supported by interesting sensitive photographs carefully chosen to be reflective of the subject matter
