Margaret Grogan Professor of Educational Leadership Policy Chapman University

The Time is Now A profound title that encapsulates so much regarding what we need in today's world Woven through the various narratives we accept the invitation to hear the stories of artists and explorers in their respective communities An authentic confrontation of the many tensions that exist in our quest to seek out equity in the areas of diversity inclusivity and lived experiences Voices that ring of radical change the reconceptualization of freedom and the agentive stance we are called to take to realize a higher state of being and a more noble existence The stories remind us that the dream of transformation is our most compelling force this book gives us a map of all that is possible if we work together Lillian McEnery Benavente Director and Professor University of Houston Christa Boske's edited book The Time is Now provides readers with a profound sense of what it means to live through injustice. The book though is not just a collection of heartbreaking stories but a chronicle of triumphs as the previously unheard are finally given a voice through artmaking. In chapter after deeply moving chapter I was struck by the simultaneous vulnerability and bravery of the artists who shared their stories. What was clear was that artmaking was a form of awakening for the artmakers awakening to social justice issues awakening to their ability to connect to the community through art and even awakening to their own value which for so many had been wholly unrecognized prior to this experience. This book comes at a time of deep reflection on equity diversity and inclusion in our nation and the stories remind us that our children are absorbing these conversations. They are living these experiences and their voices are an essential part of the dialogue. Habeebah R Grimes Chief Executive Officer
