Handbook of Research on Creating Sustainable Value in the Global Economy Akkucuk, Ulas, 2019-11-15. During the first decade of the 21st century, the world has witnessed a plethora of corporate scandals, global economic crises and rising environmental concerns. As a result of these developments, pressure has been mounting on businesses to pay more attention to the environmental and resource consequences of the products they produce and services they deliver. The Handbook of Research on Creating Sustainable Value in the Global Economy contains a collection of pioneering research on the integration of issues of sustainability within the traditional areas of management. While highlighting topics including green marketing, circular economy and sustainable business, this book is ideally designed for managers, executives, environmentalists, economists, business professionals, researchers, academicians and students in disciplines including marketing, economics, finance, operations management, communication science and information technology.

The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Futures Robert C. Brears, 2023-01-13. While urban settlements are the drivers of the global economy and centres of learning, culture and innovation, and nations rely on competitive dynamic regions for their economic, social and environmental objectives, urban centres and regions face a myriad of challenges that impact the ways in which people live and work, create wealth and interact and connect with places. Rapid urbanisation is resulting in urban sprawl, rising emissions, urban poverty and high unemployment rates, housing affordability issues, lack of urban investment, low urban financial and governance capacities, rising inequality and urban crimes, environmental degradation, increasing vulnerability to natural disasters and so forth. At the regional level, low employment, low wage growth, scarce financial resources, climate change, waste and pollution and rising urban peri-urban competition etc. are impacting the ability of regions to meet socio-economic development goals while protecting biodiversity. The response to these challenges has typically been the application of inadequate or piecemeal solutions, often as a result of fragmented decision making and competing priorities with numerous economic, environmental and social consequences. In response, there is a growing movement towards viewing cities and regions as complex and sociotechnical in nature, with people and communities interacting with one another and with objects such as roads, buildings, transport links etc. within a range of urban and regional settings or contexts. This comprehensive MRW will provide readers with expert interdisciplinary knowledge on how urban centres and regions in locations of varying climates, lifestyles, income levels and stages of development are creating synergies and reducing trade offs in the development of resilient, resource efficient, environmentally friendly, liveable, socially equitable, integrated and technology enabled centres and regions. The
