CONSTRUCTING BASES

In order to build a base, it is necessary to have a plan of the base. The plan is a drawing of the base as it would appear from above. It is a map of the base, showing its shape and size. The plan is used to build the base, and it is also used to check the work.

There are two ways to build a base. The first way is to build the base from the plan. The second way is to build the base from the ground. The first way is easier, but the second way is more accurate.
