Interchanges of Insects between Agricultural and Surrounding Landscapes B.S. Ekbom, Michael E. Irwin, Y. Robert, 2013-04-17 The chapters in this book were developed from some of the lectures presented at a symposium at the XX International Congress of Entomology held in Florence Italy in August 1996 The purpose of the symposium was to discuss the impact of evolving modern agricultural landscapes on the insect species of both economic and ecological importance that utilize that habitat Agricultural policy to some extent influences the choices that farmers make and thereby the shape of the agricultural landscape In order to move toward more sustainable agro ecosystems future policy makers will have to consider the history of land use consumer demands for both environmentally sound and affordable products and the conservation of biological diversity I would hope the information contained in this book will help stimulate discussion about the consequences of policy decisions on our agricultural landscapes and their insect inhabitants I thank all the speakers from the symposium and in particular those that have been able to contribute chapters to this book There have been many delays most due to circumstances beyond anyone s control I would like to express my appreciation to Gloria Verhey and Patrick Dumont for taking care of the book in these final months

Terkenli, Anne-Marie d'Hauteserre, 2006-07-13 Making sense of new cultural economies it is argued needs consistent attention to the resonances of individual lives Otherwise a discussion of cultural economies remains suspended in a detached virtualism Miller 2000 The idea of the remaking of geographies and cultural economies remains necessarily a consistent search to make the subject dynamic in its resonance with the contemporary world In recent debates concerning the reframing of the cultural economies of geography there is an evidence of increasing acknowledgement of the overlooked importance of subjectivities within geographical explanation This has often been difficult when trying to attend to the large scale apparent dynamics of change The shift of geographies to focus upon cultural economies combines two profound threads that inform this chapter the acknowledgement of the breadth and inclusivity of what economies are and the refusal mutually to isolate the cultural and the economic Thus the economic becomes engaged and even framed in relation to the cultural and vice versa Such an appraisal makes more robust the limits of either or claims from these two grounding components of geographical thinking and its representation of the world These themes are sustained in different ways across the chapters of this book This chapter seeks to build a critical discourse concerning space embodied practice and lay knowledge It does this in order to address the mechanisms through which individuals are engaged in the processes of new cultural economies Chippewa and Superior National Forests (N.F.), Forest Plan Revision, 2003 Gender and Landscape Josephine Carubia, Lorraine Dowler, Bonj Szczygiel, 2013-04-15 This volume a feminist inquiry into the landscape provides a bridge between feminist discussions of space and place and landscape interpretations The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, 2013 As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries
