The Invention of China Bill Hayton, 2020-10-02 A smart take on modern Chinese nationalism Foreign Policy this provocative account shows that China and its 5 000 years of unified history is a national myth created only a century ago with a political agenda that persists to this day China s current leadership lays claim to a 5 000 year old civilization but China as a unified country and people Bill Hayton argues was created far more recently by a small group of intellectuals In this compelling account Hayton shows how China s present day geopolitical problems the fates of Hong Kong Taiwan Tibet Xinjiang and the South China Sea were born in the struggle to create a modern nation state In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries reformers and revolutionaries adopted foreign ideas to invent a new vision of China By asserting a particular politicized version of the past the government bolstered its claim to a vast territory stretching from the Pacific to Central Asia Ranging across history nationhood language and territory Hayton shows how the Republic s reworking of its past not only helped it to justify its right to rule a century ago but continues to motivate and direct policy today

Brand China in the Media Qing Cao, Doreen Wu, Keyan G. Tomaselli, 2020-06-29 This book examines China s identity transformations with a focus on self perceptions and their representations and communication in the mass media By considering the internal dynamics of change it explores the emerging multifaceted China brand With its growing economic clout China has taken a proactive stance in shaping global economic and strategic order through ambitious programmes such as the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank and the Belt and Road initiative However as a developing country China is at pains to manage its own transformations while trying to carve out an international identity Arguably China s unique sense of history and identities may lead to a contested modernity or multiple modernities radically different from the prevalent classical theories of modernisation and convergence of industrial societies To understand China s trajectory of future development has been a major issue in international affairs This book is concerned with how China s hybridised identities are articulated and intertwined with situational institutional and societal dynamics and how they are interwoven with China s international outlook which converges with or diverges from China s historical assumptions and beliefs This book will be of interest to those studying China s identity in the media situated at the juncture of past present and future and between China and the wider world The chapters in this book were originally published in Critical Arts

Ideas of 'Race' in the History of the Humanities Amos Morris-Reich, Dirk Rupnow, 2017-04-24 This volume is concerned with the hitherto neglected role of the humanities in the histories of the idea of race Its aim is to begin to fill in this significant lacuna If in the decades following World War II and the Holocaust years that witnessed European decolonization and the African American civil rights movement the concept of race slowly but surely lost its legitimacy as a cultural political and scientific category for much of the nineteenth and the first half of the twentieth century concepts of race enjoyed widespread currency in numerous fields of knowledge such as the history of art history musicology or philosophy Bringing together some of the most distinguished scholars in their respective fields this is the first collective attempt to address the history of notions of race in the humanities as a whole

Silencing Shanghai Fang Xu, 2021-06-24 Silencing Shanghai investigates the paradoxical and counterintuitive contrast between Shanghai's emergence as a global city and the marginalization of its native population captured through the rapid decline of the distinctive Shanghai dialect From this unique vantage point Fang Xu tells a story of power relations in a cosmopolitan metropolis closely monitored and shaped by an authoritarian state through policies affecting urban redevelopment internal migration and language These state policies favor the rich the resourceful and the highly educated while alienate the poorer and less educated Shanghainese geographically and linguistically When the state vigorously promotes Mandarin Chinese through legal and administrative means Shanghainese made the conscious yet reluctant choice of shifting from the dialect to the national language At the same time millions of migrants have little incentive to adopt the vernacular given that their relation to the state has already firmly established their legal financial and social standing in the city The recent shift in the urban linguistic scene that silences the Shanghai dialect is ultimately part of the state led global city building process Through the association of the use of national language with realizing the China Dream the state further eliminates the unique vernacular characters of Shanghai Portuguese as an Additional Language Ana C. Neves, 2019-12-16

This book focuses on Portuguese as an additional language and its young learners in three case studies within the Portuguese speaking world: Portuguese as a second language in Cape Verde, Portuguese as a heritage language in Switzerland, and Portuguese as a foreign language in Macao SAR. The term additional language is used as an umbrella term for all three contexts. An analysis of these three case studies is presented with a focus on the organization of explicit and implicit language policies with regards to population mobility and also motivational issues, language attitudes, and language use by the sample population.
