Language Contact Cornelius Hasselblatt, Bob de Jonge, Muriel Norde, 2010 The study of languages in contact is an ever relevant topic in linguistics especially at present times when increasing globalization leads to a number of new contact situations This volume features ten papers on various aspects of language contact by leading specialists in the field In these papers contact induced change in a wide variety of languages is approached from various perspectives reflecting the current state of affairs in language contact studies The first main theme in the volume is related to the linguistic effects of migration both in the present and in the past and both in the standard language spoken by ethnic minorities and in immigrant languages that are influenced by the standard The second theme concerns border areas a traditional treasure trove for the study of contact phenomena The third theme is about contact effects without physical contact as well as the role played by translators in this process Language Contact, Colonial Administration, and the Construction of Identity in Ancient Israel Samuel L. Boyd, 2021-02-15 In Language Contact Colonial Administration and the Construction of Identity in Ancient Israel Boyd addresses a long standing critical issue in biblical scholarship how does the production of the Bible relate to its larger historical linguistic and cultural settings in the ancient Near East Using theoretical advances in the study of language contact he examines in detail the sociolinguistic landscape during the Assyrian Babylonian and Achaemenid periods Boyd then places the language and literature of Ezekiel and Isaiah in this sociolinguistic landscape Language Contact Colonial Administration and the Construction of Identity in Ancient Israel offers the first book length incorporation of language contact theory with data from the Bible As a result it allows for a reexamination of the nature of contact between biblical authors and a series of

Mesopotamian empires beginning with Assyria The Harvard Semitic Monographs series publishes volumes from the Harvard Museum of the Ancient Near East Other series offered by Brill that publish volumes from the Museum include Harvard Semitic Studies and Studies in the Archaeology and History of the Levant <https://hmane.harvard.edu/publications>

Language Contact at the Romance-Germanic Language Border Jeanine Treffers-Daller, Roland Willemyns, 2002 The current volume brings together sociolinguistic analyses of language contact along the Romance Germanic Language Border shedding more light on the variable and the universal elements in language contact and shift It covers the whole range of the border from French Flanders through South Tirol Every part of it has been treated by outstanding experts They describe the current state of the art in their portion of the language border and include information on the legal and or practical status of the language border and the status and function of all languages concerned Attitudinal and language planning initiatives as well as the standardisation status of the regionally official and minority languages are discussed Language borrowing code switching and other language contact phenomena are analysed in detail

One Speaker, Two Languages Lesley Milroy, Pieter Muysken, 1995-08-17 Code switching the alternating use of several languages by bilingual speakers does not usually indicate lack of competence on the part of the speaker in any of the languages concerned but results from complex bilingual skills The reasons why people switch their codes are as varied as the directions from which linguists approach this issue and raise many sociological psychological and grammatical questions This volume of essays by leading scholars brings together the main strands of current research in four major areas the policy implications of code switching in specific institutional and community settings the perspective of social theory on code switching as a form of speech behaviour in particular social contexts the grammatical analysis of code switching including the factors that constrain switching even within a sentence and the implications of code switching in bilingual processing and development

Language Contact and Change in the Austronesian World Tom Dutton, Darrell T. Tryon, 2010-12-14 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing
