Landmarks The Modern House In Denmark:

Landmarks Michael Sheridan, 2014 RESIDENTIAL BUILDINGS DOMESTIC BUILDINGS The human being was at the center of Danish modernism Traditional craftsmanship and a high degree of quality influenced both its design and its architecture Alongside the construction of numerous groundbreaking public buildings the 1950s and 60s saw the design of many single family homes based on an aesthetic that focused on truth to materials honesty in construction and the reduction of form Built of wood and brick and with practical informal floor plans and large glass surfaces that opened up the interior of the house to nature the best of these homes still fulfill their tasks to this day The Modern House in Denmark is a compendium of selected buildings examined in detail including icons such as Utzon House by Jorn Utzon Arne Jacobsen s Siesby House and the Bogh Andersen House by Jorgen Bo and Vilhelm Wohlert *MoMoWo · 100 projects in 100 years. Capitals of the Northlands Ian C. Hannah,2020-08-03 Reproduction of the original Capitals of the Northlands by Ian C Hannah

Introduction to Denmark Gilad James, PhD, Denmark officially known as the Kingdom of Denmark is a northern European country with a population of approximately 5.8 million people. It is a constitutional monarchy with a parliamentary system of government and a welfare state. The country is located on the Jutland Peninsula and consists of over 400 islands with the largest being Zealand and Funen. Denmark has a highly developed economy which is characterized by a high level of technological development and low levels of corruption. It is a member of the European Union, NATO, and the United Nations and is often ranked highly in global indices of happiness, social welfare, and human development. The country is known for its cultural contributions including design, architecture, and cinema, and has a rich history and heritage that can be traced back to the Vikings. Denmark is also known for its social safety net which provides universal healthcare, education, and unemployment benefits, and has a reputation as a progressive and tolerant society.

Sound Heritage Jeanice Brooks, Matthew Stephens, Wiebke Thormählen, 2021-12-30. Sound Heritage is the first study of music in the historic house museum featuring contributions from both music and heritage scholars and professionals in a richly interdisciplinary approach to central issues. It examines how music materials can be used to create narratives about past inhabitants and their surroundings including aspects of social and cultural life beyond the activity of music making itself and explores how music as sound material and practice can be more consistently and engagingly integrated into the curation and interpretation of historic houses. The volume is structured around a selection of thematic chapters and a series of shorter case studies each focusing on a specific house object or project. Key themes include: Different types of historic house including the case of the composer or musician house; what can be learned from museums and galleries about the use of sound and music and what may not transfer to the historic house setting; Musical instruments as part of a wider collection; questions of restoration and public use and the demands of particular collection types such as sheet music; Musical objects and pieces of music as storytelling components and the use of music to affectively colour narratives or experiences. This is a pioneering study that will appeal to all those interested in the intersection between Music and Museum and Heritage Studies. It will also be of interest to scholars and researchers of Music History, Popular Music, Performance Studies, and Material Culture.

Exploring Manhattan's Murray Hill Alfred Pommer, Joyce Pommer, 2013-11-05. Since this Manhattan neighborhood was named for the Murray family and their contributions to the American Revolution, many of New York's most illustrious residents have made Murray Hill their home. The mansions of J.P. Morgan Jr. and William Waldorf Astor stood along its streets. Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt lived here as newlyweds, as did Admiral Farragut, Commodore Perry, and Sinclair Lewis, along with Andy Warhol's famous Factory. Not only homes but also many quintessential New York landmarks are located in this historic district: visit the original Tiffany Company building, the Civic Club, the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, and a once famous B. Altman Department Store that is now New York's Science, Industry, and Business Library. Experience the striking architecture and discover the stories of Manhattan's Murray Hill.
