Simultaneous Identities Uma Pradhan, 2020-12-03 The recent socio political changes in Nepal have brought assimilationist notions of Nepali nationalism under a tight scrutiny and drawn attention to more plural inclusive and diverse notions of Nepalianness. However, both assimilationist and pluralist visions continue to remain normative in their approach and often posit ethnic and national identity in opposition to each other. Drawing on the everyday practices in the two schools, this book illustrates that social actors in minority language education did not necessarily select between minority identity and national identity but instead made simultaneous claims to more than one social identity by discursively positioning ethnic identity as national identity. It builds on the notion of simultaneity to illustrate that it is through the unresolved co-presences of apparently contradictory ways that people maintain their multi-layered identities. By arguing for an analytical necessity to adopt a relational approach, it aims to complicate the neat compartmentalisation of identities.

Language, Culture, Identity and Citizenship in College Classrooms and Communities Juan C. Guerra, 2015-10-05. Language, Culture, Identity and Citizenship in College Classrooms and Communities examines what takes place in writing classrooms beyond academic analytical and argumentative writing to include forms that engage students in navigating the civic, political, social and cultural spheres they inhabit. It presents a conceptual framework for imagining how writing instructors can institute campus-wide initiatives such as Writing Across Communities that attempt to connect the classroom and the campus to the students' various communities of belonging, especially students who have been historically underserved. This framework reflects an emerging perspective: writing across difference that challenges the argument that the best writing instructors can do is develop the skills and knowledge students need to make a successful transition from their home discourses to academic discourses. Instead, the value inherent in the full repertoire of linguistic, cultural and semiotic resources students use in their varied communities of belonging needs to be acknowledged and students need to be encouraged to call on these to the fullest extent possible in the course of learning what they are being taught in the writing classroom. Pedagogically, this book provides educators with the rhetorical, discursive and literacy tools needed to implement this approach.

Doing Research within Communities Kerry Taylor-Leach, Donna Starks, 2016-04-14. Doing Research within Communities provides real-life examples of field research projects in language and education, offering an overview of research processes and solutions to the common challenges faced by researchers in the field. This unique book contains personal research narratives from sixteen different and varied fieldwork projects, providing advice and guidance to the reader through example rather than instruction and enabling the reader to discover connections with the storyteller and gain insights into their own research journey. This book provides advice, practical guidance and support for engaging with a community as a research site, covers the real-life theoretical, ethical and practical issues faced by researchers such as language choice in multilingual communities and the insider-outsider status of the researcher, discusses challenges posed by a variety of mono and multilingual settings from remote island communities to large urban areas, includes research from across the Asia-Pacific area including Australia, New Zealand and East Timor, and also the US. Doing Research within Communities is essential reading for early-career researchers and graduate students undertaking fieldwork within communities.

Burke, Maria K. McKenna, 2016-02-26 This collection of original research explores ways that educators can create participatory spaces that foster civic engagement critical thinking and authentic literacy practices for adolescent youth in urban contexts Casting youth as vital social actors contributors shed light on the ways in which urban youth develop a clearer sense of agency within the structural forces of racial segregation and economic development that would otherwise marginalize and silence their voices and begin to see familiar spaces with reimaged possibilities for socially just educational practices Critical Ethnography, Language, Race/ism and Education Stephen May, Blanca Caldas, 2022-11-22 This book provides a contemporary overview of work in critical ethnography that focuses on language and race/ism in education as well as cutting edge examples of recent critical ethnographic studies addressing these issues The studies in this book while centred primarily on the North American context have wide international significance and interdisciplinary reach and address a range of educational contexts across K 12 education and less formal educational settings They explore the racialized construction positioning and experiences of bi multilingual students and the implications of this for educational policy pedagogy and practice The chapters draw on a range of critical theoretical perspectives including CRT LatCrit Indigenous epistemologies and bilingual education they also address significant methodological questions that arise when undertaking critical ethnographic work including the key issues of positionality and critical reflexivity

Advocating for Sociolinguistic Justice in the United States Michelle F. Ramos Pellicia, Patricia MacGregor-Mendoza, Mercedes Niño-Murcia, 2024-10-01 This collection focuses on social awareness and critical language awareness with the goal of enlightening and empowering multilingual and multicultural communities across the U S Each chapter brings to light the trauma gaps in services and misguided societal perceptions that adversely impact communities whose linguistic and cultural background and or status as migrants place them in vulnerable situations In doing so the authors and editors demonstrate how an increased awareness of diverse communities linguistic and cultural wealth can be leveraged to build strength and resilience in order to overcome physical verbal or symbolic violence and provide remedies for inequities in educational medical and legal contexts Showcasing discussions of the intersectionality and contexts in which language power migration and the cultural funds of knowledge of minoritized communities interact this volume will be of interest to students scholars and educators in sociolinguistics applied linguistics and language education

Culturally Sustaining Pedagogies Django Paris, H. Samy Alim, 2017-05-05 Prominent educators and researchers propose that schooling should be a site for sustaining cultural practices rather than eradicating them Chapters present theoretically grounded examples of how schools can support Black Indigenous Latinx Asian Pacific Islander South African and immigrant students as part of a collective movement towards educational justice in a changing world

Plurilingual Pedagogies Sunny Man Chu Lau, Saskia Van Viegen, 2020-04-10 This book critically engages with theoretical shifts marked by the multilingual turn in applied linguistics and articulates the complexities associated with naming and engaging with the everyday language practices of bi multilingual communities It discusses methodological approaches that enable researchers and educators to observe and interact with these communities and to understand their teaching and learning needs It also highlights pedagogical approaches and instructional strategies involved with learning and teaching language and or content curriculum to students across various learning and educational contexts The book addresses recent debates on the multi plural turn in applied linguistics and articulates the limitations of these debates particularly the absence of discussion of social power relations and contexts in applying different theoretical lenses It features empirical research from primarily North American classrooms to highlight how plurilingual pedagogies take shape in unique educational contexts resisting monolingual approaches to language in education Furthermore it includes commentary response pieces from established scholars in dialogue with recent plurilingual research in the field to put the work in critical perspective within extant theories and literature

Language and Cultural Practices in Communities and Schools Inmaculada M. García-Sánchez, Marjorie Faulstich Orellana, 2019-09-09 Drawing on sociocultural theories of learning this book examines how the everyday language practices and cultural funds of knowledge of youth from non dominant or minoritized groups can be used as centerpoints for classroom learning in ways that help all students both to sustain and expand their cultural and linguistic repertoires while developing skills that are valued in formal schooling Bringing together a group of ethnographically grounded scholars working in diverse local contexts this volume identifies how these language practices and cultural funds of knowledge can be used as generative points of continuity and productively expanded on in schools for successful and inclusive learning Ideal for students and researchers in teaching learning language education literacy and multicultural education as well as teachers at all stages of their career this book contributes to research on culturally and linguistically sustaining practices by offering original teaching methods and a range of ways of connecting cultural competencies to learning across subject matters and disciplines

Educating African Immigrant Youth Vaughn W. M. Watson, Michelle G. Knight-Manuel, Patriann Smith, 2024 Black African immigrant youth and young adults from countries south of the Sahara among the most rapidly growing immigrant groups in the US given immigration resettlement and asylum programs have long demonstrated varied racial ethnic gendered cultural linguistic religious and transnational identities in their diverse schooling and education practices Moreover African immigrant youth enacting complex embodied practices within and across varied schooling and educational contexts and at the interplay of language literacy and civic learning and action taking complicate urgent questions of which students may engage civically in schools and communities and how they may do so Thus transformative education research to support diverse schooling education and civic engagement experiences for African immigrant and refugee students will increasingly depend on enacting generative research frameworks teaching approaches and innovative methodologies Such research and teaching hold possibilities for assisting and preparing researchers teacher educators teachers and community based educators to identify key schooling education and civic engagement practices associated with student s varied identities and or taking up research approaches and learning contexts that affirm and extend the identified practices
