Last Tango Toulouse Mary Moody:

Last Tango in Toulouse Mary Moody, 2003-01-01 Autobiographical account of events that challenged author's 30 years of stability monogamy and motherhood In the year of her 50th birthday gardening writer Mary Moody ran away from home family and work to live for six months in a remote French village She describes this experience in a previous title Au Revoir In the period that follows Mary finds herself grappling with the intense emotion of an affair and its consequences for her marriage and family She also rediscovers a sister not seen by the family for nearly fifty years Author was a gardening author and presenter on ABC television's Gardening Australia The Long Hot Summer Mary Moody, 2006 In Au Revoir she ran away In Last Tango her world turned upside down Now her relationships are about to reach boiling point In the European summer of 2003 a deadly heat wave strikes France To Mary Moody living in her rural village in the south west of France it seems that the weather is merely imitating the stifling heat of her marriage which is on the verge of collapse following the events recounted in Last Tango in Toulouse But despite relentlessly hot days and an uncertain future Mary's new found passion for life cannot be suppressed It is not long before she is once again torn between her two desires for the independence of her life in France and for the love and continuity of her marriage and family life in Australia While Mary immerses herself in the pleasures of her second home the food and wine the markets her colourful circle of friends a shattering turn of events comes when she least expects it Au Revoir and Last Tango in Toulouse have become national bestsellers and made Mary Moody one of the best loved and most successful non fiction writers in Australia With all the warmth and candour we've come to expect The Long Hot Summer explores the minefield of relationships and changing desires set against the beautiful backdrop of rural France Sweet Surrender Mary Moody, 2010-05-01 Pan Macmillan has been on a long and very successful journey with Mary Moody The trilogy of books describing her escape from mid life crises Au Revoir Last Tango in Toulouse and The Long Hot Summer has reached a generation of Australian women In her new book Sweet Surrender after all of her escapades and adventures Mary has come full circle and has embraced surrendering to the inevitable Surrendering to ageing to the pull of family to the happiness derived from a life that is centred on others as well as herself and to the undeniable influence of her parents and her family on the person she is It's been a journey that has taught her a lot but in the end the needs of her family her four children and her grandchildren turned out to be a lot more important than her French affairs At the heart of Sweet Surrender Mary challenges the illusion of eternal youth that's attributed to the baby boomer generation and the idea that she can obtain complete happiness by living life putting her own needs first Yet like in her other books she does so in a very personal way describing how she herself was drawn in by the notion of denying the ageing process and by living life without the burden of obligation to the needs of others That was until events in her life conspired to make her realise that you can't just run away from the essence of who you are and that the most deeply satisfying moment in life can be experienced when fulfilling the needs of those who you love What's France got to do
