have influenced the region's history from the rise of plantations to slavery and its abolition to migrations racial conflict and war Taking readers from the voyages of Columbus to the devastation of Hurricane Katrina Schwartz looks at the ethical political and economic challenges that hurricanes posed to the Caribbean's indigenous populations and the different European peoples who ventured to the New World to exploit its riches He describes how the United States provided the model for responding to environmental threats when it emerged as a major power and began to exert its influence over the Caribbean in the nineteenth century and how the region's governments came to assume greater responsibilities for prevention and relief efforts that by the end of the twentieth century were being questioned by free market neoliberals Schwartz sheds light on catastrophes like Katrina by framing them within a long and contentious history of human interaction with the natural world Spanning more than five centuries and drawing on extensive archival research in Europe and the Americas Sea of Storms emphasizes the continuing role of race social inequality and economic ideology in the shaping of our responses to natural disaster

Storm of the Century Willie Drye, 2019-08-01 In 1934 hundreds of jobless World War I veterans were sent to the remote Florida Keys to build a highway from Miami to Key West The Roosevelt Administration was making a genuine effort to help these down and out vets many of whom suffered from what is known today as post traumatic stress disorder But the attempt to help them turned into a tragedy The supervisors in charge of the veterans misunderstood the danger posed by hurricanes in the low lying Florida Keys In late August 1935 a small stealthy tropical storm crossed the Bahamas causing little damage When it entered the Straits of Florida however it exploded into one of the most powerful hurricanes on record But US Weather Bureau forecasters could only guess at its exact position and their calculations were well off the mark The hurricane that struck the Upper Florida Keys on the evening of September 2 1935 is still the most powerful hurricane to make landfall in the US Supervisors waited too long to call for an evacuation train from Miami to move the vets out of harm's way The train was slammed by the storm surge soon after it reached Islamorada Only the 160 ton locomotive was left upright on the tracks About 400 veterans were left unprotected in flimsy work camps Around 260 of them were killed This is their story with newly discovered photos and stories of some of the heroes of the Labor Day 1935 calamity
