History of the Colony and Ancient Dominion of Virginia (Classic Reprint) Charles Campbell, 2016-08-09 Excerpt from History of the Colony and Ancient Dominion of Virginia: As far as time would admit, some survey of the country was made, the principal object of which was the discovery of mines and minerals, and the admiral listened with credulity to the promises of silver. The company being dispersed abroad, some were taken sick and died, some hid themselves in the woods, and others cut one of the vessels out of the harbor and carried her off. At length the admiral, having collected as many of his men as could be found, ordered one of his vessels to remain and take off the sick, set sail with three vessels intending to visit Cape Breton and the Isle of Sable, but one of his vessels being lost on a sand bank he determined to return to England The Squirrel in which he had embarked for the survey of the coast was very small and heavily laden yet this intrepid navigator persisted in remaining on board of her notwithstanding the urgent entreaties of his friends in the other and larger vessel the Hind in reply to which he declared that he would not desert his little crew on the homeward voyage after having with them passed through SO many storms and perils And after proceeding three hundred leagues the little bark with the admiral and all her crew was lost in a storm When last seen by the company Of the Hind Sir Humphrey although surrounded by imminent perils was seated composedly on the deck with a book in his hand and as Often as they approached within hearing was heard to exclaim Be Of good cheer my friends it is as near to heaven by sea as by land At midnight the lights Of the little vessel suddenly disappeared and she was seen no more Sir Humphrey Gilbert was descended from an ancient family in Devonshire his father was Otho Gilbert Esq of Greenway and his mother Catharine daughter of Sir Philip Champenon of Modbury He was educated at Oxford and became distinguished for courage learning and enterprise Appointed colonel in Ireland he displayed singular energy and address In the year 1571 he was a member of the House of Commons from Compton his native place He strenuously defended the queen's prerogative against the charge Of monopoly About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
