Environment and Planning ,1984 Urban Wildlife Management Clark E. Adams,2005-12-12 A CHOICE

Outstanding Academic Title While much has been written about the factors that either promote or prevent proliferation of wildlife in urban settings forward thinking professors instructing in this area have had to rely on their own ability to collect information from the published literature Even then it has been a challenge to find research that examines the entire picture of human wildlife interaction beyond those that focus on problems associated with nuisance urban wildlife Urban Wildlife Management is the first comprehensive text to examine the issues that have led to the need for human wildlife interface management strategies The book focuses not only on ecological matters but also incorporates the political economic and societal issues relevant to the development of proactive management planning Synthesizing hundreds of journal articles as well as countless other sources on urban wildlife management the book organizes a wealth of material under five subject areas urban landscapes urban ecosystems urban habitats and hazards sociopolitical issues and special management considerations Urban Wildlife Management educates students in the fundamental principles of ecology required to understand how human made environments lead to the need for urban wildlife management Exploring the changing landscape of wildlife management the authors offer students a historical perspective along with a look at current trends and future directions of wildlife management They include selected lessons in ecology relevant to understanding the presence or absence of wildlife species in urban communities These lessons look at the impacts of urbanization on ecosystem structure and function including waterways predation and population dynamics Urban habitats are discussed in terms of the unique features of green and gray spaces urban streams and urban soils The book also considers both endangered species and overabundant wildlife populations

Circular Migration in Zimbabwe & Contemporary Sub-Saharan Africa Deborah Helen Potts,2010 The World Bank insists that the urban share of sub Saharan Africa s population is rapidly increasing this study shows that in many countries this is no longer true as migration strategies have adapted in response to economic and political change Circular migration whereby rural migrants do not remain permanently in town has particular significance in the academic literature on development and urbanization in Africa often having negative connotations in southern Africanist studies due to its links with an iniquitous migrant labour system Literature on other African regions often views circular migration more positively This book reviews the current evidence about circular migration and urbanization in sub Saharan Africa The author challenges the dominant view that rural urban migration continues unabated and shows that circular migration has continued and has adapted with faster out migration in the face of declining urban economic opportunities The empirical core of the book illustrates these trends through a detailed examination of the case of Zimbabwe based on the author s longstanding research on Harare The political and economic changes in Zimbabwe since the 1980s transformed Harare from one of the best African cities to live in over this period to one of the worst Harare citizens livelihoods exemplify in microcosm the central theme of the book the re invention of circulation and rural urban links in response to economic change Deborah Potts is a Senior Lecturer in the Geography Department of King s College London She works in the broad research field of urbanization and migration in sub Saharan Africa particularly southern Africa and has conducted research on these themes in Harare in Zimbabwe since 1985 Southern Africa South Africa Botswana Lesotho Swaziland Namibia and Zimbabwe University of Cape Town Press PB

Technology, Design and Process Innovation in the Built Environment Peter Newton, Keith Hampson, Robin

Drogemuller, 2009-02-09 Buildings and infrastructure represent principal assets of any national economy as well as prime sources of environmental degradation. Making them more sustainable represents a key challenge for the construction planning and design industries and governments at all levels and the rapid urbanisation of the 21st century has turned this into a global challenge. This book embodies the results of a major research programme by members of the Australia Co-operative Research Centre for Construction Innovation and its global partners presented for an international audience of construction researchers, senior professionals and advanced students. It covers four themes applied to regeneration as well as to new build and within the overall theme of Innovation Sustainable Materials and Manufactures focusing on building material products, their manufacture and assembly and the reduction of their ecological fingerprints, the extension of their service lives and their re-use and recyclability. It also explores the prospects for applying the principles of the assembly line. Virtual Design Construction and Management viewed as increasing sustainable development through automation enhanced collaboration such as virtual design teams, real time BL performance assessment during design simulation of the construction process, life cycle management of project information, zero information loss, risk minimisation and increased potential for innovation and value adding. Integrating Design Construction and Facility Management over the Project Life Cycle by converging ICT, design science, engineering and sustainability science. Integration across spatial scales enabling building infrastructure synergies such as water and energy efficiency. Convergences between IT and design and operational processes are also viewed as a key platform for increased sustainability.

The Divided City Alan Mallach, 2018-06-12 In The Divided City urban practitioner and scholar Alan Mallach presents a detailed picture of what has happened over the past 15 to 20 years in industrial cities like Pittsburgh and Baltimore as they have undergone unprecedented unexpected revival. He spotlights these changes while placing them in their larger economic, social and political context. Most importantly, he explores the pervasive significance of race in American cities and looks closely at the successes and failures of city governments, nonprofit entities and citizens as they have tried to address the challenges of change. The Divided City concludes with strategies to foster greater equality and opportunity, firmly grounding them in the cities' economic and political realities. Back to the Future

Karl Besel, Viviana Andreescu, 2013-07-19 Back to the Future explores new urbanism and urban revitalization within the context of public policy trends such as regional governance and the role of nonprofits. The purpose of this book is to provide students and professionals alike with a context for examining the beginnings of new urbanism as well as to illustrate how this movement has become a nationwide trend in response to changing demographics and the real estate crisis. The book primarily utilizes comparative case studies within both inner city and suburban areas. While a growing number of articles have been written on both suburban and inner city new urbanist communities, few books have connected new urbanism to its roots in historical preservation communities. This book distinguishes itself from other works by assessing the commonalities between greenfield suburban new urbanist development and inner city redevelopment projects Transforming Urban Transport Nicholas Low, 2013 This work confronts head on the dilemma faced by a world wedded to mobility the danger of continuing along the fossil fuelled path and the real paucity of viable technological alternatives which can be deployed in time Contemporary Approaches to Geography Volume 2: Physical Geography Steve Suggitt, 1999 New Serial Titles , 1981 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949 Future Asian Space Erwin Viray, Davis Boontharm, Limin Hee, 2012-01-01 Rapid technological economic social and cultural changes are transforming the idea of Asian space With the shift to a global economy and an urban population explosion Asian cities have become a mainstay of progress national pride identity and positioning on the global stage The extraordinary pace and intensity of the changes have created a situation unique in the history of urban development Despite the immense diversity of Asian countries Asia ness is often treated as a distinctive quality that has emerged from unique recent circumstances affecting Asian urbanizations as a whole In Future Asian Space 15 authors explore broad concepts relating to the creation and re creation of Asian space and contemporary Asian identity and their examination of different sites and research approaches highlights the difficulty of pinpointing what Asia ness is or might become Appropriate design and planning of cities is a critical element in building a sustainable future and coping with environmental social and cultural problems Future Asian Space is designed to stimulate interests and engagement in discussions of the Asian city and its trajectories in architecture and urbanism but the authors conclusions will intrigue anyone interested in the future of cities and urban life in Asia Markets, Places, Cities Kirsten Seale, 2016-03-22 Using a transnational analytical framework this book provides a comprehensive overview of formal and informal markets and place in globalised cities It examines how urban markets are situated within social cultural and media discourses and within material and symbolic economies The book addresses four key narratives redevelopment and relocation privatization of public space urban renewal and urbanism and sustainability to investigate shared and individual attributes of markets and place in diverse international urban contexts With case studies in Sydney Hong Kong Beijing Rio de Janeiro London Antwerp Amsterdam Paris and San Francisco experiences of market place and city are explored through interdisciplinary and multimodal perspectives of visual culture spatial practice urban design and textual analysis Index Medicus , 2004 Vols for 1963 include as pt 2 of the Jan issue Medical subject headings Up in the Air Holly Smith, 2025-10-28 How the Rise Rise Tower Block came to symbolise the welfare state and what went wrong from an award winning debut historian Up in the Air tells the story of Britain s multi storey council housing from its beginnings to the present day Throughout its history high rise has been a symbol of the welfare state for better or worse Here Holly Smith tells a new story from the perspective of those who lived there exploring how residents grappled with this brave new world above the old skyline Through a series of historical moments based upon prize winning research we confront the human story of high rise Britain Interrogating the complex inheritance of mid century urban reconstruction Smith shows how these buildings became a crucible for the welfare state's reimagination over the decades. She traces the scattering of a local community during the construction of Park Hill in Sheffield in the 1950s. The resistance of residents after the Ronan Point collapse of 1968. The formation of a pioneering tenants cooperative to revive a crumbling estate during the closure of the Docklands. The rage of a National Tower Blocks Network advocating for high rise safety in the 1980s and 1990s. The excitement of early digital culture in a Liverpool pensioner's high rise internet television show in the 2000s. And the fierce battle to defend estates from demolition in the 2010s. Up in the Air is a rich history of political struggle within Britain's most misunderstood buildings offering essential lessons for a reformed social housing compact. Low-Carbon Smart Cities Kwi-Gon

Kim, 2017-07-10. This book aims to integrate climate mitigation and adaptation tools into conventional urban planning. It emphasizes the value and importance of ICT as connected technology. The author believes that ICT and IOT can facilitate controlling climate change attributes when deployed with appropriate ingredients and composition in cities in an integrated comprehensive manner. It was written with the author's firm belief that cities play an important role in mitigating climate change by reducing energy consumption, promoting the use of renewable energy sources, or by trading emission permits and selling Certified Emission Rights (CERs). This book looks at green growth based on the circular economy using green smart technology as a sustainable tool for green economic development. Also for climate change adaptation, cities have to take actions to reduce the adverse impacts of climate change on people, property, and ecosystems in the urban planning process. It has been written with the author's works for Urban Environment Accords (UEA) and International Urban Training Center (IUTC) in collaboration with UNEP, World Bank, UNFCCC, and UN HABITAT. It can be used as a training source book for city climate planners and urban practitioners of local governments. It will be utilized as a more practical guidebook for climate change policy makers as well as a futuristic research agenda for next generations. Science and Technologies for Smart Cities Henrique Santos, Gabriela Viale Pereira, Matthias Budde, Sérgio F. Lopes, Predrag Nikolic, 2020-07-27. This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 5th Annual Smart City 360 Summit held in Braga, Portugal, in December 2019. The volume combines selected papers of four conferences: namely IoT in Urban Space, UrbIoT 2019, Smart Governance for Sustainable Smart Cities, SmartGov 2019, Sensor Systems and Software, S-Cube 2019, and Intelligent Technologies for Interactive Entertainment, Intertain 2019. The 5 keynote and 32 conference papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 113 submissions and present results of multidisciplinary scientific and industry collaboration to solve complex societal, technological, and economic problems. Smart Cities, as such, the main goals are to promote quality of life, work conditions, mobility, and sustainability.
