masterfully weaves a rich narrative steeped in the Arabian desert's mystique and culture. The novel is a compelling blend of adventure, romance, and philosophical inquiry narrated through the lens of the protagonist Khaled, whose journey reflects themes of love, identity, and the quest for belonging against a backdrop of vibrant and evocative landscapes. Crawford's lush descriptions and intricate characterizations bring the semi-mythical world of Arabia to life while also engaging in contemporary issues such as colonialism and cultural dislocation, reflecting the era's growing fascination with the Orient and its complexities. Crawford, an American author of the late 19th century, spent significant time in Europe and the Middle East, which deeply influenced his writing. His experiences in these culturally rich environments informed his understanding of human nature and societal intricacies, fueling his desire to depict the clash between traditional values and modernity. This bi-cultural insight enables Crawford to craft a narrative that resonates on multiple levels, making the story both personal and universal. Khaled: A Tale of Arabia is an enthralling read that invites readers to traverse not only the landscapes of Arabia but also the intricate layers of the human experience. This novel is highly recommended for those interested in exploring themes of cultural identity and the enduring power of love amidst the trials of life.

Excerpt from Khaled: A Tale of Arabia: Khaled stood in the third heaven, which is the heaven of precious stones and of Asrael, the angel of Death. In the midst of the light shed by the fruit of the trees, Asrael himself is sitting and will sit until the day of the resurrection from the dead, writing in his book the names of those who are to be born and blotting out the names of those who have lived their years and must die. Each of the trees has seventy thousand branches; each branch bears seventy thousand fruits; each fruit is composed of seventy thousand diamonds, rubies, emeralds, carbuncles, jacinths, and other precious stones. The stature and proportions of Asrael are so great that his eyes are seventy thousand days' journey apart, the one from the other. Khaled stood motionless during ten months and thirteen days, waiting until Asrael should rest from his writing and look towards him.
