Lost In Transformation South Africa's Search For A New Future Since 1986:

Lost in Transformation Sampie Terreblanche, Solomon Johannes Terreblanche, 2012 At the centre of the analysis is the unmasking of manoeuvres and backroom strategies of manipulation devised by American and British companies with a presence in South Africa in collaboration with the Mineral Energy Complex MEC to circumscribe the ANC's future policies. He recounts some of his personal experiences and also exposes secret negotiations and deal making which occurred behind the scenes issues which ordinary South Africans would otherwise never come to know. Terreblanche also evaluates the performance of the ANC led government since 1994 focusing on South Africa's affirmative action policies. P 4 of cover Privileged Precariat Danelle van Zyl-Hermann, 2021-04-15 White workers occupied a unique social position in apartheid era South Africa. Shielded from black labour competition in exchange for support for the white minority regime, their race based status effectively concealed their class based vulnerability. Centred on this entanglement of race and class, Privileged Precariat examines how South Africa's white workers experienced the dismantling of the racial state and the establishment of black majority rule. Starting from the 1970s, it shows how apartheid reforms constituted the withdrawal of state support for working class whiteness, sending workers in search of new ways to safeguard their interests in a rapidly changing world. Danelle van Zyl Hermann tracks the shifting strategies of the blue collar Mineworkers Union, culminating in its reinvention by the 2010s as the Solidarity Movement, a social movement appealing to cultural nationalism. Integrating unique historical and ethnographic evidence with global debates, Privileged Precariat offers a chronological and interpretative rethinking of South Africa's recent past and contributes new insights from the Global South to debates on race and class in the era of neoliberalism.

Ownership and Governance of Companies Jonathan Michie, Vishnu Padayachee, 2021-06-29 Apartheid South Africa was often thought to run in the interests of the business elite. Yet 27 years after apartheid, those business interests remain largely entrenched. Why? Did the South African business community play a role in engineering this outcome, perhaps recognising the apartheid era was over and jumping ship in time? Conversely, the mission of the ANC was widely perceived to be to shift wealth and power into the hands of the whole community. Yet despite black empowerment measures, corporate ownership remains largely in white hands and certainly in the hands of an elite few, even though no longer restricted to whites. This picture is replicated across the global south where corporate ownership tends to be concentrated in the hands of an elite rather than being more democratically spread. Why have alternative corporate forms not been pursued more vigorously, with ownership in the hands of customers, employees and local communities? In the case of South Africa, where the majority of customers and employees are black, this could have delivered on the ANC's mission to replace the apartheid era with a democratic one in terms of wealth, incomes and power, as well as in terms of voting and civic rights. This edited volume explores all these questions and looks at ways to align corporate forms with economic and social goals. The chapters in this book were originally published as special issues of International Review of Applied Economics. No Last

Place to Rest Dineo Skosana, 2025-02 No Last Place to Rest Coal Mining and Dispossession in South Africa is an exploration of the ongoing struggles faced by families whose lives have been upended by the relentless expansion of coal mining operations in the Mpumalanga and KwaZulu Natal provinces. These regions, burdened with the task of fulfilling the nation's energy needs and boosting the country's economy, witness daily the harsh realities of land dispossession that extend far beyond the mere loss of property. Dineo Skosana presents a compelling argument that dispossession remains a present-day reality and crisis, contradicting the notion that it is merely a relic of the past in the post-apartheid landscape. She challenges the narrow perspective that measures land loss in material and economic terms only. By considering the impact of grave relocations, a common occurrence in these mining-dominated locales, she demonstrates the profound spiritual anguish and dehumanisation communities endure as their lands are excavated and families lose their sacred connections with their ancestors. Skosana argues that the act of dispossession of both the living and the dead from their land wounds the collective soul of a people, eroding their cultural heritage, collective identity, and sense of belonging. This book offers a rich ethnographic account of the experiences, struggles, and resistance of the affected communities, as well as a critical analysis of the legal and policy frameworks that enable their exploitation. In relation to the land question in South Africa, No Last Place to Rest presents deep insights for communities, activists, and government sectors acting in support of social justice and redress. Selfless

Revolutionaries Allan Boesak, 2022-01-28 At this historic moment of global revolutions for social justice, inspired by the Black Lives Matter movement, the philosophy of Black Consciousness has reemerged and gripped the imagination of a new generation. And of the merciless exposure by COVID-19 of the devastating long-existent fault lines in our societies. Frantz Fanon, James Baldwin, and Steve Biko have been rediscovered and reclaimed. In this powerful book, Black liberation theologian and activist Allan Boesak explores the deep connections between Black Consciousness, Black theology, and the struggles against racism, domination, and imperial brutality across the world today. In a careful, meticulous, and sometimes surprising rereading of Steve Biko's classic I Write What I Like, Boesak reflects on the astounding relevance of Black Consciousness for the current academic debates on decolonization and coloniality, Africanity, and imperialism, as well as for the struggles for freedom, justice, and human dignity in the streets. With passion, forthrightness, and inspiring eloquence, Boesak brings his considerable political experience and deep theological insight to bear in his argument for a global ethic of solidarity and resistance in the ongoing struggles against empire. Beginning with Biko's Where do we go from here, progressing to Baldwin's The Fire Next Time, and ending with Martin Luther King Jr's Where is no stopping short of victory, this is a sobering, hopeful, and inspiring book. The Routledge Handbook of Postcolonial Social Work Tanja Kleibl, Ronald Lutz, Ndangwa Noyoo, Benjamin Bunk, Annika Dittmann, Boitumelo Seepamore, 2019-07-30 The Routledge Handbook of Postcolonial Social Work reflects on and dissects the challenging issues confronting social work practice and education globally in the post-colonial era. By analysing how countries in the so-called developing and developed world have navigated some of the inherited systems from the colonial era it shows how they have used them to provide relevant social work methods which are also responsive to the needs of a postcolonial setting This is an analytical and reflexive handbook that brings together different scholars from various parts of the world both North and South so as to distill ideas from scholars relating to ways that can advance social work of the South and critique social work of the North in so far as it is used as a template for social work approaches in postcolonial settings It determines whether and how approaches knowledge bases and methods of social work have been indigenised and localised in the Global South in the postcolonial era This handbook provides the reader with multiple new theoretical approaches and empirical experiences and creates a space of action for the most marginalised communities worldwide It will be of interest to researchers and practitioners as well as those in social work education Church and Civil Society Michael Walker, 2017-07-31 Germany and South Africa experienced drastic social transitions with the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1986 and the end of Apartheid in 1994 This book consists of a collection of essays from German and South African theologians who analyse the role that religious communities had and are still playing within the respective civil societies The concept and texture of civil society are analysed case studies are presented theological perspectives are given on the relation between church state and civil society and guidelines are provided for the healing role that Christian religious communities can play in Germany and South Africa This book is mainly directed at theologians and scholars in religious studies however sociologists and political philosophers may also find the essays informative Besides the wide variety of theological approaches sociological and empirical data and practical theological perspective the book also yields interesting comparative analysis on two societies in transition Handbook of Research on Sub-National Governance and Development Schoburgh, Eris, Ryan, Roberta, 2016-11-30 Effective governance is a crucial aspect of all modern nations Through various collaborative efforts and processes nations can enhance their current governance systems The Handbook of Research on Sub National Governance and Development is a pivotal reference source for the latest scholarly material on the intersection between local and national politics analyzing how this relationship affects nations economy and administration Highlighting theoretical foundations and real world applications this book is ideally designed for professionals academics students and practitioners actively involved in the fields of public policy and governance The Political Economy of Divergent Welfare States in the Global South Elias Phaahla, 2024-02-20 This study traces the welfare regimes of Mauritius and South Africa from the early 20th century focusing on the historical circumstances that gave rise to the dominance of state funded old age pensions within their respective welfare frameworks It highlights intersections between powerful business interests the state and social forces that sowed the seeds of social entitlements Due to different mobilisation efforts of these social actors both countries have spawned welfare regimes of different persuasions Mauritius has maintained its long standing traditions as a social democracy stretching back to the late 1950s while South Africa continues relentlessly in pursuit of a liberal welfare state a journey it has treaded since 1928 when the old age pension laws first came into effect

While unravelling the innermost workings of welfare state development in Mauritius and South Africa it also probes the present political and economic circumstances that have kept these two welfare regimes resolutely unchanged Against this backdrop it draws parallels between current welfare outcomes and those of old as they continue to chart their way into the future

Racism After Apartheid Vishwas Satgar, 2019-03-01 Racism after Apartheid volume four of the Democratic Marxism series brings together leading scholars and activists from around the world studying and challenging racism In eleven thematically rich and conceptually informed chapters the contributors interrogate the complex nexus of questions surrounding race and relations of oppression as they are played out in the global South and global North Their work challenges Marxism and anti racism to take these lived realities seriously and consistently struggle to build human solidarities

Building a Capable State Ian Palmer, Nishendra Moodley, Susan Parnell, 2017-11-15 The sustainable development goals signed in 2016 marked a new phase in global development thinking one which is focused on ecologically and fiscally sustainable human settlements Few countries offer a better testing ground for their attainment than post apartheid South Africa Since the coming to power of the African National Congress the country has undergone a policy making revolution driven by an urgent need to improve access to services for the country's black majority A quarter century on from the fall of apartheid Building a Capable State asks what lessons can be learned from the South African experience The book assesses whether the South African government has succeeded in improving service delivery focusing on the vital sectors of water and sanitation energy roads public transport and housing Emphasizing the often overlooked role of local government institutions and finance the book demonstrates that effective service delivery can have a profound impact on the social structure of emerging economies and must form an integral part of any future development strategy A comprehensive examination of urban service delivery in the global South Building a Capable State is essential reading for students and practitioners across the social sciences public finance and engineering sectors

Christian ethics and political economy Morten Bøsterud, Jan C.M. Venter, 2020-12-31 The value free and relativistic human and scientific discourses have led to an era of ideology From fascism at the dawn of the century through liberalism and the associated phenomenon of unfettered statism to the current disillusionment of postmodernism and relativism with endeavours towards new mercantilism All have maintained poverty inequality and created scepticism amongst both lay persons and academics Above all else a renewed yearning for moral and ethical direction in political and economic conduct has been created This book provides a Christian ethical reflection on political economic conduct in South Africa as an alternative to current modernistic ideas This book aims to produce new Christian ethical insight into the value of new liberal perspectives on the enhancement of the South African political economy New Christian ethical insight will be gained through new perspectives on the South African political economy

Conquest, Constitutionalism and Democratic Contestations Joel M. Modiri, 2020-05-21 Two decades since the enactment of South Africa's present constitution the durability and endurance of past inequalities and injustices illustrate that the new South Africa lauded as a miracle nation with the best constitution in the world can no longer be regarded as an unqualified success The legal and constitutional foundations of post 1994 South Africa are in a process of renegotiation that invites new and alternative perspectives and approaches This comprehensive volume explores this process of renegotiation by engaging political and intellectual contestations circulating in South African academic and public discourse relating to continuities and discontinuities between the colonial apartheid past and the post 1994 constitutional present The authors analyse the moral intellectual and political unravelling of post 1994 South African constitutionalism as legal text and political culture and enquire whether it has been able to respond adequately to the fundamental contradictions generated by colonisation and apartheid They also consider how centring the historical problem of European domination and conquest in Africa and South Africa in particular might provide an alternative frame or lens to theorise and understand contemporary South African realities This book marks out a complex field of contestation involving competing histories locations visions and perspectives that raises multifaceted questions regarding law history and politics It is the outcome of a South African Journal of Human Rights colloquium and was originally published as a special issue of the journal Socio-Economic

Speak of Hope? Allan Aubrey Boesak, 2014-02-21 The phrase hopeful politics has dominated our public discourse in connection with the inspiring rise of Nelson Mandela in South Africa and the remarkable election of Barack Obama as president of the United States But what happens when that hope disappoints Can it be salvaged What is the relationship between faith hope and politics In this book Allan Boesak meditates on what it really means to hope in light of present political realities and growing human pain He argues that hope comes to life only when we truly face reality in the struggle for justice dignity and the life of the earth Dare We Speak of Hope is a critical provocative prophetic and above all hopeful book Thabo Mbeki Adekeye Adebajo, 2017-05-15 Former South African president Thabo Mbeki is a complex figure He was a committed young Marxist who while in power embraced conservative economic policies and protected white corporate interests a rational and dispassionate thinker who was particularly sensitive to criticism and dissent and a champion of African self reliance who relied excessively on foreign capital As a key liberation leader in exile he was instrumental in the

ANC's anti-apartheid struggle. Later he helped build one of the world's most respected constitutional democracies. As president though he was unable to overcome inherited socioeconomic challenges and his disastrous AIDS policies will remain a major blotch on his legacy. Mbeki is the most important African political figure of his generation. He will be remembered as a foreign policy president for his peacemaking efforts and his role in building continental institutions not least of which was the African Union. In this concise biography ideally suited for the classroom Adekeye Adebajo seeks to illuminate Mbeki's contradictions and situate him in a pan-African pantheon. Inclusive Development In Africa Vusi Gumede, 2018-05-22. This book addresses a fundamental developmental challenge for Africa given all that we know about pertinent issues what should be done to ensure effective development in Africa. The changing imperatives of international development the reform of international finance institutions and the growth development nexus debates as well as varied implications for Africa emanating from global economic crises are critical if Africa's development is to be better understood. Undoubtedly revisiting the origins contexts complexities and contradictions of the lopsided global order and their effects on development and implications for Africa's development is necessary. Contributions emphasise the need to radically transform global relations and to accelerate the pursuit of our quest for inclusive development in Africa acknowledging that we must further problematise Africa's development in the context of the obtaining global power dynamics and systematically examine the implications of the global economic crises for women as well as for land and agrarian reforms. The book is a timely contribution to our understanding of the global realities confronting Africa with specific suggestions on how to improve development. Land Matters Tembeka Ngcukaitobi, 2021-04-01. Why has land reform been such a failure in South Africa? Will expropriation without compensation solve the problem? What can be done to get the land programme back on track? In Land Matters Tembeka Ngcukaitobi tackles the past present and future of the land question in South Africa. Going back in history he shows how Africans' communal systems of landownership were used by colonial rulers to deny that Africans owned the land at all. He explores the effects of the Land Acts Bantustans and forced removals. And he evaluates the ANC's policies on land throughout the struggle years during the negotiations of the 1990s and in government. Land Matters unpacks the government's achievements and failures in land redistribution restitution and tenure reform and makes suggestions for what needs to be done in future. The book also explores the power of chiefs the tension between communal landownership and the desire for private title the failure of the willing seller willing buyer approach women and land reform the role of banks and the debates around amending the Constitution. Steering clear of the simplistic and polarising terms of the land debate Ngcukaitobi argues for a return to the nuanced constitutional requirements of justice and equity in South Africa's land policy. Thoughtful and provocative Land Matters sheds light on one of the most topical complex and urgent issues in South Africa today. National Accountability for International Crimes in Africa Emma Charlene Lubaale, Ntombizozo Dyani-Mhango, 2022-02-07. This book critically examines the issues pertaining to the Rome Statute's complementarity principle The focus lies on the primacy of African states to prosecute alleged perpetrators of international crimes in their respective jurisdictions The chapters explore states international and domestic obligations to hold perpetrators of international crimes to account before the national courts and demonstrate the complexity of enforcing national accountability of alleged perpetrators of international crimes while also ensuring that post conflict African states achieve national healing reconciliation and sustainable peace The contributions reject impunity for international crimes whilst also considering these complexities Emphasis further lies on the meaning of accountability in the context of the politics of selective international criminal justice for crimes committed before the establishment of the International Criminal Court
