Making Development Sustainable Ismail Serageldin, Andrew D. Steer, Banco Mundial, 1995 Making Development Work Nagy Hanna, Robert Picciotto, Worldwide the number of poor people increased during the past decade despite technological improvements more open trade and improved policy frameworks in developing countries Regional conflicts adverse shifts in terms of trade and marginalization of poor countries in the new global economy explain this outcome This highlights the need to reform development assistance and improve its effectiveness Making Development Work examines the four key principles of the Comprehensive Development Framework a World Bank initiative currently being piloted in twelve developing countries The initiative promotes a holistic long term vision of development domestic ownership of development programs and focus on results and stronger partnership between government the private sector and the civil society The first section of the volume describes the evolution in development thinking that culminated in this new consensus The second focuses on country ownership of development policies and programs Based on empirical evidence it proposes a new view of the aid relationship as a mutual learning process The third section focuses on results and on the ways aid agencies might enhance development impact of their operations It concludes with a preliminary assessment of strategies for scaling up from specific projects to sector and programmatic approaches and suggests ways to adapt them to counter conditions The experience of a bilateral aid agency U S Agency for International Development USAID is examined in this context The fourth section focuses on partnership emphasizing that aid agencies must be explicit about the kinds of partnerships they seek with countries and the kinds of strategic selectivity they will exercise The final chapter pulls together the lessons of development experience at various levels of operation It outlines key tensions between comprehensiveness and selectivity ownership and conditionality speed and broad based ownership focus on results and poor local evaluation capacity and enhanced country focus and globalization Promising approaches to manage these tensions are put forward to replace one size fits all prescriptions with client empowerment and social learning Making Development Work offers rich lessons on improving the effectiveness of aid It will be of particular interest to development practitioners students and professors of development economics studies Nagy Hanna is a lead corporate strategist and evaluation officer at the World Bank He has published extensively on development management and knowledge Robert Picciotto is director general of Operations Evaluation at the World Bank Making Development Sustainable Ismail Serageldin, Andrew D. Steer, Banco Mundial, 1995 Developing Future-ready Learners for a Global Age Suzanne S. Choo, Woon Chia Liu, Bee Leng Chua, 2024-12-02 Suzanne S Choo Woon Chia Liu and Bee Leng Chua offer a dynamic look into the tripartite relationship between education research policy and practice that characterizes Singapore's changing education landscape. Over the years, Singapore has garnered increasing attention internationally for its world-class education system. Pushing back against the stereotypical notions of exam and teacher-centric education in Asia, the contributors to this volume discuss opportunities as well as challenges in Singapore's innovation towards constructivist, critical, culturally responsive, and cosmopolitan forms of learning. Highlighting the pedagogical innovation and its context in Singapore's teacher education and schools, the authors bridge theory and practice by providing an understanding of innovative practices informed by key shifts in Singapore's education policies and the key conceptual principles informing these practices. More importantly, it provides on-the-ground empirical insights into the ways these innovative pedagogical practices are enacted in the classroom and in teacher education programmes. Each chapter provides an in-depth understanding of how these pedagogies are applied across various subject disciplines, including guided problem-solving in Mathematics, games-based pedagogy in Science, multimodal literacies in language, ethical criticism in Literature, Nonlinear Pedagogy in Physical Education, multicultural approaches in music, and dialogic pedagogy in drama, among others. Balancing theoretical and empirical focus, this resourceful text will be of interest to students, researchers, and practitioners in educational development, pedagogy, and teacher education, as well as policymakers across international fields in education.

Timber Sale Planning and Analysis System Ervin G. Schuster, 1995

Social justice and public policy Gary Craig, Tania Burchardt, David Gordon, 2008-06-18

Social justice is a contested term incorporated into the language of widely differing political positions. Those on the left argue that it requires intervention from the state to ensure equality of opportunity; those on the right believe that it can be underpinned by the economics of the marketplace with little or no state intervention. To date, political philosophers have made relatively few serious attempts to explain how a theory of social justice translates into public policy. This important book, drawing on international experience and a distinguished panel of political philosophers and social scientists, addresses what the meaning of social justice is and how it translates into the everyday concerns of public and social policy in the context of both multiculturalism and globalisation.

Marine Tourism and Climate Change Impacts Prashant Raturi, 2025-02-20

Marine Tourism and Climate Change Impacts explores the intricate relationship between marine tourism and climate change. We cover a wide range of topics, including different types of coastal and marine tourism, the importance of coastal ecosystems, threats to marine tourism from climate change, and planning for its impacts. Marine tourism is a growing industry that benefits many coastal communities. However, climate change poses a major threat to this sector. We discuss various strategies to mitigate these impacts and safeguard the future of marine tourism. Our book provides a comprehensive understanding of how climate change affects marine tourism and what can be done to address these challenges. It is a valuable resource for anyone interested in learning more about this critical issue.
