Computational Intelligence for Agent-based Systems Raymond S.T. Lee, 2007-07-24 The scope of this volume is to give to the reader a wide scenario of recent works characterized by a synergistic combination of Soft Computing area with recent trends of Distributed Artificial Intelligence and Ambient Intelligence We edited this book for two basic motivations the emergence of computational intelligence as a mature and integrated science and the power of the agent paradigm in realizing complex and distributed environments Computational Intelligence has nowadays a mature formal theory and robust implementation experiences Intelligent agents have shown their inner ability in acquiring data and knowledge from and performing appropriate decisions through a functional relation that maps percepts to actions Computational Intelligence inside Agents are extremely helpful to support the designer of agent based systems in treating with unknown or ill defined environments so to better handle knowledge representation and reasoning under these assumptions The formulation of cooperative strategies the linguistic aspects of the communication the local decision versus the global knowledge the actions and plans as distributed viewpoints could be characterized by an incomplete knowledge and by a fragmentation of logical interactions faced often by a non monotonic reasoning While building smart environments many challenges arise The system needs to interact with its users in order to obtain feedback in a non intrusive way Explicit implicit feedback is needed to take decisions in near real time

Chinese Daigou: An Ethnography of Brokerage Practices and Mobility Politics in Globalized China Zhuoxiao Xie, 2024-12-02 This book is an ethnography of Chinese daigou cross border shopping on the behalf of mainland Chinese customers and their mobilities practices Daigou practitioners predominantly women engage in selling purchasing and delivering goods between mainland China and overseas regions With the rise of the platform economy and mobile technologies daigou has evolved into a niche market contributing to the her economy and consumerism in China This ethnography provides a comprehensive exploration of the gendered technological practices of mobile communication and mobility politics between mainland China and Hong Kong depicting micro entrepreneurship place making and border crossing activities in three intersecting scenes Theoretically this book synthesizes the literature on mobilities science and technological studies service labor and mobile communication It offers a fresh perspective by focusing on the mobile communication that both produces and is produced by mobilities of people data objects and technologies The study expands theories of mobility politics by developing a heuristic model of brokerage theorizing the communication processes through which daigou as brokers influence manage or facilitate multiple forms and meanings of mobilities in globalized China From a feminist science and technology perspective the book examines how daigou scenarios embed gender specific concepts into technological practices reinforcing entrenched unequal gender relations in service labor and family contexts It interrogates the mechanisms of unequal mobilities associated with the logic of brokerage which strengthens the differentiation of gender technology and labor among different parties These brokerage processes multiply the discrepancies in mobilities exacerbating gaps in structural relationships and becoming significant mechanisms of inequality
