optics of a bovine masculine and this enigma being literally interpreted meant the bull's eye which Mr Waddie was expected to hit or at least to try to hit. Around it were several circles in black red yellow green and blue each indicating a certain distance from the objective point of the shooter. There were a few holes in the target within these circles but the central eye was not put out and still glared defiance at the ambitious marksman. Mr Waddie Wimpleton had everything he wanted and therefore never wanted anything he had. There was no end to the ponies sail boats row boats guns pistols fishing rods and other sporting gear which came into his possession and of which he soon became weary. His father was as rich as an East Indian prince and Mr Waddie being an only son though there were two daughters who partially put his nose out of joint his paternal parent had labored industriously to spoil the child from babyhood. I am forced to acknowledge that he succeeded even better than he intended. Mr Waddie was always waiting and watching for a new sensation. A magnificent kite of party colored silk had evidently occupied his attention during the earlier hours of the morning and it now lay neglected on the ground the line stretched off in the direction of the lake. The young gentleman had become tired of the plaything and when I approached him he was blazing away at the target with the revolver at the rate of six shots in three seconds. I halted at a respectful distance from the marksman. He was not shooting at me but I regarded this as the very reason why he would be likely to hit me. If he had been aiming at me I should have approached him with more confidence. Keeping well in the rear of the young gentleman I came within hailing distance of him. I did not belong to the upper ten of Centreport and I could not be said to be familiarly acquainted with him. My father was the engineer in his father's steam flouring mills and a person of my humble connections was of no account in his estimation. But I am forced to confess that I had not that awe and respect for Mr Waddie which wealth and a lofty social position demand of the humble classes. I had the audacity to approach the young scion of an influential house and it was audacious considered in reference to his pistol if not to his social position. Plymouth Pulpit ,1871
