Unfortunately, this methodology does not meet the research or writing needs of today's college and university students. Burns and MacBride were determined to make their first year composition courses more relevant to their students and sought a way to revolutionize their syllabus to do so. Building on the work of Tom Romono, Nancy Mack, Camille Allen, Sirpa Grierson, Melinda Putz, and others, Burns and MacBride set out to determine if a multigenre research project could better teach their students research writing and critical thinking skills than a traditional research-based essay. The findings of their semester-long study indicated that not only does a MGRP teach these skills, but it far surpasses a traditional essay in teaching engagement, intellectual creativity, and transferable writing skills. Burns and MacBride demonstrate two different ways to integrate a multigenre research project into the college composition classroom. President's Report University of Michigan, 1870 WAC and Second Language Writers Terry Myers Zawacki, Michelle Cox, 2014-05-14 Editors and contributors pursue the ambitious goal of including within WAC theory, research, and practice the differing perspectives, educational experiences, and voices of second language writers. The chapters within this collection not only report new research but also share a wealth of pedagogical, curricular, and programmatic practices relevant to second language writers. Representing a range of institutional perspectives including those of students and faculty at public universities, community colleges, liberal arts colleges, and English language schools, and a diverse set of geographical and cultural contexts, the editors and contributors report on work taking place in the United States, Asia, Europe, and the Middle East. Report of the President to the Board of Regents (later, "Annual Report") University of Michigan, 1881 The President's Report to the Board of Regents, 1873 The President's Report to the Board of Regents for the Academic Year ... University of Michigan, 1883 *The President's Report to the Board of Regents for the Academic Year ...
