mapped a programme for anthropological research in the nineteenth century which is still accepted in the international scholarly community today without the figure of its founder being known This is the first time that seminal pieces of the work of this much neglected scholar have been translated into English Bastian had an impact directly and indirectly on geography psychology comparative religious studies and ethnology in the twentieth century

Hawai'i and the German Speaking Peoples Niklaus Rudolf Schweizer,1982 In Humboldt's Shadow H. Glenn Penny,2025-04-29 A compelling history of the German ethnologists who were inspired by Prussian polymath and explorer Alexander von Humboldt The Berlin Ethnological Museum is one of the world s largest and most important anthropological museums housing more than a half million objects collected from around the globe In Humboldt s Shadow tells the story of the German scientists and adventurers who inspired by Alexander von Humboldt s inclusive vision of the world traveled the earth in pursuit of a total history of humanity It also details the fate of their museum which they hoped would be a scientists workshop a place where a unitary history of humanity might emerge H Glenn Penny shows how these early German ethnologists assembled vast ethnographic collections to facilitate their study of the multiplicity of humanity not to confirm emerging racist theories of human difference He traces how Adolf Bastian filled the Berlin museum in an effort to preserve the records of human diversity yet how he and his supporters were swept up by the imperialist currents of the day and struck a series of Faustian bargains to ensure the growth of their collections Penny describes how influential administrators such as Wilhelm von Bode demanded that the museum be transformed into a hall for public displays and how Humboldt s inspiring ideals were ultimately betrayed by politics and personal ambition In Humboldt s Shadow calls on museums to embrace anew Bastian s vision while deepening their engagement with indigenous peoples concerning the provenance and stewardship of these collections “The”

Vermeulen,2022-06-10 Focusing on some of the most important ethnographers in early anthropology this volume explores twelve defining works in the foundational period from 1870 to 1922 It challenges the assumption that intensive fieldwork and monographs based on it emerged only in the twentieth century What has been regarded as the age of armchair anthropologists was in reality an era of active ethnographic fieldworkers including women practitioners and Indigenous experts Their accounts have multiple layers of meaning style and content that deserve fresh reading This reference work is a vital source for rewriting the history of anthropology

Objects of Culture H. Glenn Penny, 2003-10-16 In the late nineteenth century Germans spearheaded a worldwide effort to preserve the material traces of humanity designing major ethnographic museums and building extensive networks of communication and exchange across the globe In this groundbreaking study Glenn Penny explores the appeal of ethnology in Imperial Germany and analyzes the motivations of the scientists who created the ethnographic museums Penny shows that German ethnologists were not driven by imperialist desires or an interest in legitimating putative biological or racial hierarchies Overwhelmingly antiracist they aspired to generate theories about the essential nature of human beings through their museums collections They gained support in their efforts from boosters who were enticed by participating in this international science and who used it to promote the cosmopolitan character of their cities and themselves But these cosmopolitan ideals were eventually overshadowed by the scientists more modern professional and materialist concerns which dramatically altered the science and its goals By clarifying German ethnologists aspirations and focusing on the market and conflicting interest groups Penny makes important contributions to German history the history of science and museum studies
